MOST BRILLIANT WEDDING OF THE SEASON

Many Dinners, Suppers, Luncheons Tens, Dancing Parties, Kensingtons and Other Occasions that Go to Make Up an Enjoyable Week.

Society folk have had little time to rest on their oars during the past week. If the Dean-Dandy wedding, however, with its round of attendant festitvities, had happened at another time, the week would have held less than its proper allowance of sothe prettiest and most brilliant that ever took place in Omaha, and it was preceded occasion of this kind, in which the people the regard of army people and civilians nished with rugs, tapestries and the adornalike; and Miss Dandy, in the short time ments of pictures and bric-a-brac. alke; and Miss Dandy, in the short time she had lived in Omaha as a young woman since her family's return from the east, had renewed many childhood's friendships and contracted hosts of new ones of equal depth and permanency. No fairer maid ever plighted her troth to a gallant soldier lover; coster songs. no sweeter bride ever descended the altar steps supported by her husband's arm. Her friends had seemed to vie with each other in the week before the ceremony, in contriving pleasant and hospitable devices to help to make the inevitable parting less

The etiquette of church weddings is pe-culiar, though not especially bewildering when one becomes accustomed to it. In the first place, assuming that an invitation must be shown at the door, one's earliest duty is to secure the all-important card. It may be sent spontaneously; or if it is | ner and Wallace. not naturally forthcoming, a little discreet and entirely commendable manipulation of the strings at one's command may fetch it; or, failing all else, an invitation may be borrowed from a friend who is unable to use it. Anyway, get the card. You can appease your conscience afterward, if it you for going where you are not

You present your credentials at the door at you, as one who strives to reconcile your appearance with the name under which you are traveling and which he has formerly associated with others; but you don't care. You are inside. An usher offers you his arm, if you are a woman, or allows you to are male; and you are shown into a seat, near to the chancel in proportion to the wideness of the swath you cut. You are early, of course. Only those who arrive ahead of time at a church wedding can rise superior to the flerce competition for aisle seats which subsequently occurs. You take the end of the pew, if you are a woman; and you do not fall to allow your wife to do so, if (as before) you are male. She is more likely to hold that coign of vantage against all comers than you.

Others come, on ushers' arms or trotting meekly in the rear, according (as before) They pause at the seat which is by every human and divine right. yours by every human and divine right. They would take the end place from you forcibly if it were not in a church. You fear to pass into the alsle to let them enter lest they shall by that means evict you. You stand up, gathering your wraps about you and crowding the tendons of your knees against the seat from which you have arisen; in Omaha last night to pay their respects to and the intruders, who may be your dearest friends under other and less strenuous con-ditions, glare at you like lost souls as they squeeze past you to the inside places, where the view of the ceremony is far from being what it should be Sometimes similar things happen at bargain counters. Denn-Dandy.

Lieutenant James T. Dean, Fourteenth infantry, U. S. A., and Miss Mary Charlotte Dandy, daughter of General and Mrs. George R. Dandy, were married at 7:30 last Wednesday evening at Trinity cathedral, Right Rev. George Worthington, D. D., Episcopal bishop of Nebraska, officiating.

reception of equal brilliancy with the wedding itself followed the eeremony at the residence of General and Mrs. Dandy, the apartments of which were elaborated and tastefully decorated in red, white and blue by means of bunting and appropriately chosen flowers. The souvenir portions of wedding cake allotted to the guests were enclosed in boxes representing military drums, and were tied with narrow ribbons of the national colors. The wedding cake was cut by Lieutenant Dean with his sword, after a pretty military custom, and divided her own special cake, which was fashioned in the shape of a heart. The bridal bouquet was in five component parts, one for each of the bridesmaids. The presents were many and handsome, including among them a beautiful vase from ex President and Mrs. Harrison.

Nothing came of it. Sor were made-that it was impracticable, and all that sort of thing. But no excuses should be allowed. The street car company owes it to its patrons to keep its care neat, clean and wholesome instead of allowing them to become the breeding places of It can easily regulate this, it post up cards and issue to the conduct positive instructions to enforce them Very few men would have to be spoken to more than once on the subject. If these same street car magnates were compelled to try a ride or two occasionally for themselves instance, on the trailer of the Leaven worth street line, which is unspeakably nasty-they would soon change their minds But this reform should not end with the street cars. If there are any who doubt that it is needed, let them think of the spectacle afforded by our sidewalks in the central parof the city, but especially in front of the Life building or the Paxton or Millard, or any one of the Sixteenth and Douglas cor-ners—anywhere, in fact, where loafers congregate the most. Do the people who com-mit these offenses know that many a sensitive and delicate woman is obliged to traverses our sidewalks without daring to look down upon them? On the part of some, this habit is sheer thoughtlessness. Many a man who is otherwise well-bred and who is in the habit of treating women with the respectful deference that belongs to them, will expectorate deliberately in a street car without seeming to realize that he is making himself persona non grata—yes, worse than that, personally offensive-to every woman within sight. But while it is true that much may be done by the street car company and by ventilating this subject generally, it is also true that there are others who can only be reached by heroic measures.

Will not the Board of Health take hold of this? Very likely there is already an ordinance such as they are working under in Chicago. If not, there should be one, and then it should be enforced in all places by the police-including, of course, our sidewalks. Let us ask for this nowbefore summer comes on, when this evil will be at its worst-in the interests of decency and public health.

This resolution has been under discussion for some days, Senator the position that the government, under the Thurman act, had the right to foreclose. The senior senator from Nebraska will defend his resolution, and has a multitud of figures to show that the reorganization committee, by its own proffer, originally made to the senate and house committees on Pacific railroads, is in a position to pay 4 per cent upon $105,000,000 of assets, which the senator asserts in these troublous times is a conservative estimate as to the standing of the allled Union Pacific companies. He will take the position that the lien of the government extends from Council Bluffs to Ogden, including the fivemile spur, all terminals, all forms of prop erty of whatever nature, corporeal as well as incorporeal, and including all heredita ments. He will also take the position that there can be no intervening mortgages be-tween the first and second, as now understood in the acts incorporating the Union Pacific railroad.

THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE In view of the low condition of the school fund it has been suggested to members of shortened. It has been the custom here to have fen months of school, or nearly so, until last year, when the board thought it advisable, in view of the limited supply of money, to shorten the term to nine m Superintendent Munro is opposed to the shortening of the term, and r vs that if it is cut any more the schools will not have the benefit of the state apportionment. According to the state law, schools with over 100 pupils must be open 180 days in the year. Counting twenty school days in one month, it takes exactly nine months of school to comply with the law. The state apportionment amounts to about $4,000 a year for the South Omaha schools, and the members of the board consider that a sum worth looking after.

There is a feeling in some sections that he salaries of the teachers might be cut $5 or $10 a month and not injure the standard. It is argued that times are hard and that teachers have no right to expect high salaries when cuts have been made nearly every business house during the last are reduced it will result in the employment of a number of inexperienced teachers, and that the high standard now maintained by the schools will be reduced. tendent of schools is paid $150 a month, and the supervisor of music $65 a month. HOW YOU MAY OBTAIN A LASTING CURE FOR PILES.

No Surgical Operation. No Pain, Trifling Expense-A Simple, Harmless

Remedy, But it Does the Work. There are some people who have piles as requently and regularly as other people have colds. Any little bowel trouble will bring them on, any extra exertion, as in lifting, will produce them, and in fact will often appear without any apparent provocation. Piles, however, are much more serious than a cold, as the tendency is always to grow worse until the trouble becomes deep-seated and chronic, or developes into some fatal rectal disease. While there are many pile remedies which give relief, yet there is but one which not only gives instant relief, but at the same time makes a permanent cure, and that is the well known Pyramid Pile Cure. This remedy is composed of simple, harmless vegetable ingredients, but combined so effectively and act so promptly and thoroughly that it cures every form of piles whether itching, blind, bleeding or protrud-In long standing cases the Pyramid Pile Cure has proven to be the only certain cure except a surgical operation, and its advantages over an operation are many, as it is painless, causes no delay, or interference with daily occupation, and last, but not least, it is cheaper than any surgical operation could possibly be, costing but a dollar a package at any drug store. The cases that the Pyramid Pile Cure will ot reach are so few that physicians are doing away with operations for piles and depending on this cheap but effective remedy to accomplish a complete cure, and it never disappoint except in cases beyond the reach of medical skill.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich., and
