TWO WOMEN FOR THE BOARD

Council Bluffs Ladies Chosen for the Exposition Work.

ELECTION ENGENDERS MUCH INTEREST

Not a Great Turnout to the Mass Meet ing, but Much Zeal Shown by Those Who Did Go.

There were not as many women present at the meeting in the Itoyal Arcanum hall yesterday afternoon as were expected, but those present took deep interest in the selection of two Council Bluffs women to represent the city in the Lady Board of Managers of the Transmississippl Exposition There appeared to be a reluctance on the part of the Council Bluffs women to take up the matter, and the idea seemed to prevail that the women who were to represent Counell Bluffs had been previously selected by the management of the big show, and that the meeting yesterday was only for the purpose of ratifying what had previously been done. Those who did attend, however, had no such idea and they went into the fight for their favorites with great enthusiasm.

Lucius Wells called the meeting to order and stated the object. His speech was brief and to the point and he immediately left the hall after he concluded. Mrs. J. R. Reed, wife of Judge Reed, was called to the chair and Mrs. W. O. Wirt was made secretary. Parliamentary rules were observed up to this point, but the remainder of the proceedings were carried on in sweet indifference to all such restrictions. Miss Cora Evans moved that an informal ballot be taken for nomination of candidates. The presiding officer as-sented and announced without taking the trouble to put the motion that the four women receiving the largest number of votes on the informal ballot should be considered the candidates and should be voted for at the next formal ballot. This model ruling saved perhaps a lot of wrangling and cut off all the eloquent eulogies that might have been expected in nominating speeches. The hair appointed four tellers to receive and count the secret bailot. They were Mrs. A. W. Casady, Mrs. George Carson, Miss Kingsbury and Miss Clara Evans. The chair announced that the bailots should be written nounced that the ballots should be written, secretly and placed in a hat and when all had voted the hat should be brought forward and deposited on the table, after which the votes should be counted by the four tellers. There was a rustle of perfumed note papers and a general biting of pencils all over the house. The informal ballot showed that the ompany, has been appointed of the collection and legal department as of 20. Mrs. McCabe 18 and Mrs. Phelps 5.

Mrs. Reed made a pretty little speech, thanking the women for their handsome vote of confidence. The women then arose to of confidence. The women then arose to adjournment, until Mrs. Harkness called at-tention to the oversight and suggested that the selection of Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Key be made unanimous. A motion to that effect was accordingly put and carried without a dissenting voice. The adjournment was then made in regular parliamentary form.

Among the clubs represented were the Every Thursday club, the Ideal club, the Woman's club, the World's Parliament club, The jury in the district court heard the last of the evidence in the diseased meat controversy between John and Sorenson and retired to make up a verdict just before supper. An hour later they returned and notified the bailiff that they had arrived at a verdict for the defendant. woman and before her marriage to Judge Reed, who occupies the bench in the United States court of appeals, was the president and cashier of a bank. She is bright and winsome and has a happy faculty of dealing with large undertakings and solving quickly and without jar perplexing problems. Mrs. Key is one of the best known women in Council Bluffs and is also a business woman. The two will ably represent the women of the city in the board of Lady Managers of the xpesition, and they will also help to make the great show a success.
