WILL COUNT BALLOTS TODAY

State Commission Holds an Informal Meeting, but Delays Actual Work.

This Will Not Be Permitted, However, to Interfere with the Progress of the Investigation, at Least for the Present.

LINCOLN, March 1.—(Special Telegram.)—The commission appointed to recount the ballots cast for the constitutional amendments, held an informal meeting this morning.

The commission did not commence work on the ballots and poll books and will not do so until tomorrow. There were present, at the meeting, P. O. Hedlund, and Frank M. Ross; of the populists, George M. Blah; of the democrats, C. J. Bailey, Joseph Oberfelder and ex-Senator J. N. Campbell.

Fullerton were absent, but came on this evening. Five counties are still out, not having forwarded their ballots and poll books. The count will proceed, however, without them.

The counties still out and which have not sent in their ballots are Nuckolls, Keya Paha, Sherman, Douglas and Lancaster. The county clerks of the two latter counties have been enjoined from doing any telegram work today received from the county clerk of Nuckolls saying that he had not received the ballots.

Articles of incorporation were filed today with the secretary of state of the Chocoma stock company. The amount of capital stock is $100,000.

MRS. DEAN'S TERRIBLE DEATH

Her Clothes Ignite After Being Saturated with Boiling Oil.

Runs Half a Mile to Secure Aid, but Expires After Enduring Several Hours of Great Agony.

HASTINGS, March 1.—(Special Telegram.)—News has just reached this city of the death of Mrs. William H. Dean, wife of a farmer living near Pauline, on the Little Blue. She was covered with boiling oil and her garments becoming ignited she burned to death.

The accident occurred Saturday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Dean had intended to oil the floors of the house, so she placed a can of lard oil on the stove to boil. During the afternoon she went about attending to her household duties and forgot about the oil until it began to boil and run over the stove and floor.

She immediately ran over the stove and attempted to remove the can, but in so doing her clothing became saturated with oil and before she could escape from the stove she was completely enveloped in flames.

In terrible agony she made a desperate effort to rid herself of the burning garments, but all in vain. Running out doors she was met by a neighbor, who tried to help her, but she was too firmly frozen to be any service to her. By this time the flames had eaten most of her clothing and were penetrating to her skin.

She ran half a mile to the residence of her neighbor, where she was met by several neighbors, who tried to help her, but she was too firmly frozen to be any service to her. By this time the flames had eaten most of her clothing and were penetrating to her skin.

She was taken to the hospital, but she died there after enduring several hours of great agony. Her death was a terrible tragedy.

Her husband, Mr. Dean, was a well-to-do farmer and had a large family. He was a member of the church and was highly respected in the community.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Dean. The burial will be in the cemetery.

The cause of the accident is believed to have been carelessness on the part of Mrs. Dean. She should have been more careful when she was pouring the oil.

The tragedy has shocked the community and has led to a discussion of the safety of using lard oil for household purposes.

It is recommended that people use kerosene or other safer fuels for household purposes.

WINSIDE CITIZENS ARE INDIGNANT.

Worn a Careless Husband to Cause Neglecting His Family.

WINSIDE, Neb., March 1.—(Special.)—This village has just had to witness a victim of suspicion in the person of the wife of Ed Bockemuhl. This man, although able to give his wife the necessaries of life, has spent his time in idleness instead of caring for her wants during her illness.

Several young children, one of them a baby, and has been ill for about two weeks. A week a mass meeting of prominent citizens was called in her interest and a committee appointed to ascertain facts in the case.

This committee, composed of three men, brought the husband before the meeting and after severe reprimands administered to him by several of the present, he was conducted to the hospital, where he was employed to look after the condition of his wife's health; she had needed care for days and was in a pitiable condition.

Neighborhood women have assisted her and with the services of a hired nurse, she has been able to get on her feet. The committee has been notified and it is presumed that the patient will be removed to an asylum, where her wants can be looked after with intelligence than now.
