President McKinley Receives the Delegation in His Private Room and Chats Pleasantly Concerning Corrent Events.

WASHINGTON, March 5 .- (Special Telegram.)-Residents of Nebraska and their friends sojourning in Washington were given An opportunity to meet President McKinley today through the courtesy of Senator Thurston, who conceived the idea that as many of the sojourners here would be leaving for their homes tomorrow, it would be a gracious thing to introduce them to the president. Accordingly a telegram was sent to the white house asking if the president would receive the Nebraska delegation, and visiting friends at an hour to be named by the executive. At 3:30 o'clock a number of Nebraskans, including Church Howe, Attorney Atkinson of Lincoln, F. A. Collins, Henry T. Oxuard, General C. J. Bills of Fairbury, L. L. Lindsey of Lincoln, and W. E. Peebles of Pender, with Senator Thurston as chief of the delegation, called upon the president and were presented to him in his private room. There was a cordial interchange of courtesies and chat on current events, but no reference to Nebraska's Senator Allen was invited to attend with the party, but he declined. Many of the Nebraskaus are already leaving for their homes and by morning but few of the old campaigners will be left. General Bills, accompanied by Mrs. Bills,

Extra Work for Congress. WASHINGTON, March 5.-The failure of President Cleveland to sign three appropriation bills-the sundry civil, agricultural and Indian-and the inability of congress to agree upon the general deficiency bill will entail much unexpected work upon the extra ses-sion of the new congress and possibly may delay to some extent the enactment of the new tariff law. The regular appropriations for government services and public works carried by all of these bills, except the de-ficiency, are for the fiscal year beginning July 1, so that to repair the failure of the bills it will be necessary that they be enacted before that time, or that resolutions be passed continuing for a stated time the allowances touch of the soft, sweet, cooing, crowing little creature is a solace for many sorrows. This happiness is missed if either mother or child be sickly, weak, nervous, cross, If either is so, it is the mother's fault. She has failed to keep herself well and strong during the period of gestation, and the neglect shows in her baby.

All the peculiar ills of womankind are cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It relieves pain, allays inflammation, stops debilitating drains, strengthens and vitafizes the organs involved. It so perfectly prepares a woman for the time of parturition that pain and danger are practically eliminated. By its use perfect health is assured for both mother and baby. It is the most marvelously efficient medicine ever devised for this purpose and the only one that may be absolutely depended upon.

AND THE REST. WHEN THE THE THE PROPERTY South Omaha News .

THE RESIDENCE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY O A few days ago Mayor Ensor caused to be printed in an Omaha paper a statement show ing the receipts from the gambling houses since he has been in control here. The records, however, do not bear out the statement The mayor's report shows that the sum of $1,250 has been collected from the gamblers this is supposed to be for the past ten months. In the treasurer's office a record is kept of all money paid to the city by proprietors of gambling houses and it shows that payments houses, $200; in July the houses were sup posed to be closed for three weeks; August three houses, $150; September, three houses $150; October, one house, $50; November three houses, $150; December, one house, $50 January, 1897, two houses, $100; February three houses, $150; March, two houses, $100 This makes a total of $1,100 instead of $1,250 report goes on to state that during the first year Mayor Johnston was in office the gamblers paid in only $350. This is an error, as the books show that in 1894 the gamblers paid into the treasury the sum o $900. It was the second year that Johnston was in office that only $350 was collected from the gamblers.

Even with $1,100 collected during the last eleven months, that is less than half of what the amount would be if an of the gambling resorts and poker rooms, including the policy shop, were made to pay for the privilege o running. So far the proprietor of the policy shop has never paid a cent of money into the city treasury,

TROUBLES BESET NEW ADMINISTRATION

Secretary of State as Well as the Hend of the Treasury Department Has a Legacy Left by His Predecessor in Office.

WASHINGTON March 5 -- Probably never before in American history has an administration been obliged to face at the very beginning of its assumption to power so many and important questions affecting the foreign relations of the United States as confront President McKinley and his premier. All of these are important, and, while some of them may be for a time kept in the background, others and those of the utmost gravity are likely to force themselves upon the attention of the new administration in such a persistent manner that they must be met promptly. In the list of open diplomatic issues are some old veterans, questions that were running along in diplomatic, time-killing fashion when President Harrison turned over the helm of the ship of state to President Cleveland, but the latter, in his time, and with the best of intentions and in spite of the most heroic efforts, was obliged to admit to the list and nake new issues of his own that he was unable to bring to a conclusion, when he in turn gave way to President McKinley. Foremost and of the greatest interest to the people of the United States because of the strife that is being waged under their very eyes is the subject of war in Cuba. For nearly two years the struggle on that fateful isle has gone on, and from the fateful isle has gone on, and from the confusion of reports that reach the Department of State it is not possible to accurately and surely ascertain the exact conditions of this struggle, which aspect Cleveland has stated in his message to congress has involved interests of enormous value to citizens of the United States. NO HASTY ACTION

It is understood to be the policy of the new administration to deal with this matter deliberately, and not to undertake to depart from the policy with which it has so far been treated, until our more important internal financial affairs are adjusted. But the subject is of an explosive nature, and it is not safe to predict that through some overt and outrageous act of a subordinate among either the Spanish forces or in the insurgent lines (something like the Virginius affair, for instance) the administration will not be forced to depart from its plans and direct attention at short notice to this dangerous subject.

One of the issues that was carried ove from the Harrison administration, but which now stands in very different shape from that which it held then, is the subject of Hawaiian annexation. The citizens of the little island republic have come to look upon the republicans as their friends and were making ready in advance for the inauguration of President McKinley. They have begun a carefully prepared agitation to further their ends in Washington. They will seek, with the aid of powerful friends in and out of congress, to induce the United States to negotiate a new annexation treaty at the earliest possible moment, and, while the desired annexation may be attained in short order, if the president so arranges the details of the transaction as to avoid raising unpleasant issues with Great Britain and Japan and losing all reputation for con-sistency, it will require the exhibition of diplomacy of a high order. OPEN QUESTIONS WITH ENGLAND.

With the mother country, England, our relations are so founded on reasonable and mutual consideration that there is no ground apprehension that the subjects pressing for consideration of the diplomatic agencie will not yield in the end to the usual methods of treatment. This is fortunate for the welfare of both countries, as some of these questions are of the greatest portance and are easily capable, reated in a harsh and uncompromising spirit, of becoming the source oundary question and the pro-neans for protection of scals question means Bering sea, in the former of which a treaty has been negotiated for the location of the 141st meridian, but leaving the most difficult phase, drawing of the boundary line in the southeast, still a subject of negotiation, on which some progress has been made. Concerning the protection of seal life in Bering sea there are signs of unrest that indicate a necessity of early and decided action on the part of the State department. Backed by the highest kind of expert authority, Secretary Oney said at the lose of his administration of the State de partment: "The fur seal herd is threat-ened with utter ruin unless some changer are speedily made in the regulations." Yes ne was unable to induce the British govern-nene to make these, influenced as it was by fear of the adverse effect upon the politi-cal status of British Columbia, the home of the seal pirates. As a senator, Mr. Sherman has clearly in dicated his wish for the ratification of the general arbitration treaty, and President Me-Kinley's inaugural address leaves no room for doubt of the administration's policy.

Mr. Sherman's senate record leaves no room to doubt that he will be found resisting sturdily all efforts to surrender our charge of Samoa under the tripartite alliance, which it is certainly the wish of the Germans, but not of Great Britain, to terminate TARIFF MAY MAKE TROUBLE The final enactment of the new tariff bill may put a severe strain upon our relations with some of the great European powers, and first of all with Germany. It is understood to be the intention of congress to pro-vide for active retaliation upon the nations that have so unjustly barred American pork and cattle, and among these Germany is the chief offender. Complaints of the unwhole-someness of our meats have been replied to by the United States by the establishment of the most rigid inspection system, and our challenges to produce evidence of the charges have resulted in miserable failure as the have resulted in miserable failure on the part of the traducers to make their charges good. A long series of consular reports make clear the fact that these charges are but subterfuges and that the second but subterfuges and that the real purpose is not only to exclude American meats, but any and all American products that threaten to compete with German and French, Belgian and Dutch agricultural or industrial prod-

Were this sought to be accomplished only by a high tariff to exclude the products, the United States could not complain, for it might respond in kind, but as now applied he prohibitive rules are clearly unjust and discriminating

Secretary Olney also left to his successor as an unpleasant legacy the negotiations looking to an abatement of the restrictive regulations which have choked the life out of the American insurance companies seeking to continue the profitable business they had built up. What Secretary Sherman will do in this matter cannot be told.

The remains of the late Nathan L. Simpson arrived in the city this morning and were buried this afternoon. The deceased was one of the pioneer settlers of this county. He removed to Sherman county, Kansas, a few

If, however, the general arbitration treaty with Great Britain should be concluded, it is confidently expected that France will soon after seek to enter into a similar arrangement with the United States, which can be consummated only with great difficulty, owing to the radical differences difficulty owing to the radical differences difficulty require the greatest vigilance and circum-spection. Heretofore our efforts have been confined strictly to guarding the interests of American citizens in that country, and it is safe to predict that this policy will be continued, so that there is little prospect of a serious disagreement unless resistance is met to demands for reasonable indemnity for the pecuniary losses suffered by Americans during the Armenian uprising.

PIXLEY AND MOCKETT RESPOND.

Are Called on for a Race and Turn Half Mile.

By far the largest crowd of the week at ended the bicycle show last evening, the assemblage verging almost on the jam. The Union Pacific Wheel club was everywhere in evidence, wearing yellow badges bearing the monogram of the club. The femining portion of the population also turned out well and everybody seemed well pleased with the entertainment offered. The fact is, the people appear to be just learning that the show is worth seeing, as the attendance has en steadily increasing since the first night Like other entertainments, too, the attrac tions always appear best when there is incge crowd, and while the display of wheel has not changed since the opening night, presents a much better appearance when the ople, as they have been for the past three

The racing attracted the usual number o ople, and at the close of the run the sc Proulx, 43.5; Holton, 40.6, and Heinz 26.5. Hall dropped out entirely man. Proulx won the special prize for the best run for the evening. The total score for the week, throwing out Thursday night's run, Proulx, 158.3; Holton, 152.7, and Heinz man, 133.4.
While the score was being taken from the cyclometers, the audience demanded that Mockett and Pixley give a race. The boys were in full dress, but nothing daunted, they rolled up their trousers and made a spurt of half a mile, which was declared to be a dead Another feature of the evening was an hibition of trick riding by a couple of boys living in this city, in which they demon-strated wonderful skill in the manipulation of heir wheels. This was the source of much pleasure to the spectators, and they showed their appreciation by liberal applause. Tonight will be set aside for all the wheelmen of the city, regardless of club organiza-tion, and it is expected that there will be a larger attendance than has yet been a
