

MURDERERS ARE EXECUTED

Three Persons Pay the Penalty for Slaying Their Fellowmen.

ONE IS ELECTROCUTED, TWO ARE HANGED

Arthur Mayhew, George Matthews and John E. Sullivan Yield Up Their Lives to Vindictive Outraged Law.

SING SING, March 12.—Arthur Mayhew was electrocuted in the penitentiary here at 11:19 o'clock a. m. today.

As Mayhew was being strapped into the death chair, he ejaculated "Jesus Christ have mercy on me," and to the attending priests said that he was an innocent man and did not commit the murder for which he was condemned. Mayhew added that the murderers were Frank Alfred and John Wayne. Alfred's name had not previously been connected with the crime. He is believed to be a negro of Hempstead, L. I. Dr. Irvine, the prison physician, and the other doctors who witnessed the execution, pronounced Mayhew dead one minute and started homeward. It was the first current was turned on. The body was then removed from the death chair to the dissecting room, where the autopsy was held.

At 12 o'clock the night of March 7, 1896, Stephen N. Powell, the 70-year-old superintendent of the Hempstead, L. I., gas works, was killed by a gas explosion. He was his custom to carry large sums of money on his person. When he had almost reached his home, Arthur Mayhew, who had been hanging behind the scene, sprang out and hit him on the head with a blackjack. Powell fell to the ground and then Mayhew rifled his pockets, securing about $200. George Matthews meanwhile kept guard for Mayhew to prevent any interference. For this he is now serving fifteen years in Sing Sing.

Wayne confessed, implicating his partner in the crime beyond all hope. Mayhew was convicted and sentenced to death. His execution was postponed on account of a reaction by Wayne. Judge Keogh did not believe that Wayne had performed himself in the first instance and refused to grant a new trial. Finally, Judge Keogh believed that Wayne had performed himself in the first instance and refused to grant a new trial. Finally, Judge Keogh believed that Wayne had performed himself in the first instance and refused to grant a new trial.

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 12.—John E. Sullivan was hanged today at Dorchester, N. B. His crime was the murder of Mrs. Eliza Dyer, a prominent citizen of Dorchester, on the night of September 11, 1896. Mrs. Dyer kept a small tavern, but the inmates of the place were not her guests, her son and her daughter 10 years old. Sullivan entered the place for the purpose of robbery. Mrs. Dyer was killed by the blow of a brick bat on the head. The robber thereupon attacked her and killed her with an ax, after which he assaulted the children, killing the boy and maiming the girl. The flames aroused the neighbors, and one was able to enter through a rear door and rescue the little girl. The charred remains of the other two were found in the ruins. The rescued child remained unconscious for several weeks, but finally recovered. It was her evidence that convicted Sullivan.

HAVE A LITTLE HOPE FOR WALLING

General Opinion There Will Be No Clemency for Jackson.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 12.—It was reported today that Governor Bryan had announced his decision on the appeal of Scott Jackson for executive clemency. Jackson is sentenced to hang March 20 for murdering Perry Bryan. The governor based consideration of the appeal of Alonzo Walling today before announcing his decision in Jackson's case. It is believed that Jackson's appeal has been denied. Walling's case is being considered for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. They are now seeking a reprieve for one day only, in order to give them a longer time to prepare for their execution. Walling is being hung first that he will confess, so as to help Walling out. There is a report that the two men will be hung on the same gallows, but nothing official is announced.

Worst Storm of the Season.

Railroads Blockaded and Great Damage Done to Stock.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 12.—Specials to the Journal from North and South Dakota and western Minnesota show that the snow of last night did more actual damage than any this winter, one that has never been equaled in the coast it has leveled on railroads.

Weather Bureau Gets After Them for Putting Out Fictitious Warnings.

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—Dr. Frankford, observer of the local weather bureau, has received orders from the Washington officials to prosecute all persons engaged in the distribution of the fictitious and alarming "tornado" warnings that were posted throughout the city early in the week, to call attention to a melodrama to appear at a theater here.

Designations Follow the Vigilantes.

LEAVENWORTH, March 12.—The board of managers of the soldiers' home has been called to meet in special session at Washington, on March 20, when the report of the congressional committee which recently investigated the home will be acted upon.

Sensation Testimony in the Ada Case.

BOSTON, March 12.—Sensation testimony was introduced in the Stetson case early today. The first witness was A. P. Mason, the former foreman in the printing office of which John Stetson was proprietor. He stated that in December, 1879, Stetson desired to have something written to appear in his paper to convey the impression that he and Ada Richmond were married and yet not to make it appear as a fact. Mr. Stetson explained his necessity by saying that there was too much talk about his living with Ada and that he had to have a sham marriage.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds.

There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

CRAWFORD'S WATER RIGHT EIGHT.

One of the Interested Parties States His Version of the Case.

CRAWFORD, Neb., March 10.—To the Editor of The Bee: In your issue of March 10 there appeared a special from this place under the above heading which I beg leave to reply through your valuable columns.

The writer of the article referred to would have the public believe that the Crawford company is a public benefactor, while I am presenting the town from having a sufficient supply of water, and hindering the public welfare. It is true that we do not have a sufficient supply of water during the months when a large amount is needed for laws, but the state of the White river is the only available source of supply.

Through the general managers of the Iowa railroads have declined to grant reduced rates for corn, or even place an emergency rate for the month of March, the Iowa Board of Railroad Commissioners is still making an active fight for some concession.

The following is the text of a letter recently sent by C. L. Davidson, chairman of the board, to the presidents and general managers of all Iowa lines:

"The situation in Iowa is very serious, especially in relation to the corn crop of last year. After careful investigation I am convinced that not more than 25 per cent of the corn crop of 1896 can be saved beyond the coming of warm weather and that whatever is done with it, shipping, etc., must be done before that time. In addition to this condition of things the number of stock animals in Iowa to be fed is not sufficient to consume a small percentage of this grain, in amount not, I think, to exceed 20 per cent of the corn crop.

If I am correct in the estimates made that at least 50 per cent of the crop on hand, which must be sold in five or six weeks, or a loss to the farmer and the freight, a loss to the transportation companies, with the situation confronting the people and the transportation lines, I write to suggest and urge the necessity of such a concession as will carry the corn crop of March, as well as carry the next week's crop, and also to ask that you give the subject that early and earnest consideration which the extreme gravity of the situation demands."

The officials of the Iowa lines, like those of the Nebraska roads, contend that emergency rates would not be in the public interest. They cite many cases of emergency rates which have been granted in the past, and also to ask that you give the subject that early and earnest consideration which the extreme gravity of the situation demands."

Despite the fact that three great corn-growing states, Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas, have united in beseeching the railroads to grant lower rates in the present emergency of the great corn crop of the past season, none of the roads in these states have yet come down in their rates. Men who watch the grain rates in the west, and who are able to see the situation from a general freight agent's point of view, are convinced that the railroads are not doing their duty in this respect.

Effective Saturday, March 20, the rate on salt in car loads to Omaha, Council Bluffs and Nebraska City from Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth will be 40 cents per 100 pounds. This is the same as the rate in effect at that time, and is a fair rate for a commodity which has been hauled by the Western Union Pacific since last December. It was brought about by the action of the Missouri Pacific on salt from Kansas mines.

R. R. Ritchie, general agent of the Northwestern system on the Pacific coast and the agent of this city, in a letter regarding the rate on salt, says: "The Missouri Pacific's subscription of $30,000 to the exposition says: 'A magnificent gift and a most generous one in reference to the Omaha people have reason to be proud of. Hope the exposition will prove a grand success. Everything running smoothly on the coast.'"

It is reported that no appointment will be made to the position of assistant general freight agent, Union Pacific, at Salt Lake City, which will be made vacant on the 15th of the month. The present incumbent, freight agent of the Oregon Short Line, with the loss of the Short Line and all the territory involved it is thought that a general agent of the freight department, and traveling freight agents and a live-stock agent, stationed at Salt Lake City, will be sufficient.

HANFAN SUDDENLY DISAPPEARS. Relatives Fear that He Has Been Killed.

C. D. Hanifan, an unmarried man 25 years of age and residing at 816 South Nineteenth street, has not been seen by any of his friends or relatives since last Wednesday night. For fear that some accident or foul play may have befallen him the assistance of the police has been called in to search for him.

Hanfan had been living with his brother-in-law, Jack Daley, a freeman, and had been driving an express wagon for the latter. His stand had been on North Fifteenth street. He was seen near his wagon just before the fire broke out on Wednesday night. Shortly after that the horse, with the empty wagon, was caught loose on Douglas street and taken to the police station. As Hanifan had not been seen since that time, it is believed that he has disappeared.

It is stated that Hanfan never drank and was a very good man. He was working morning as usual, in his working clothes, and took no money with him. His relatives therefore think that his disappearance is not voluntary.

MORE MONEY FOR THE DEPOSITORS. Receiver of American Savings Bank Promises Dividend.

Receiver J. W. Thomas of the American Savings bank says a dividend of 15 per cent will very probably be paid to the depositors some time next week. This, he says, is in pursuance of the promise made by Judge Scott a week ago, when the depositors were before him, and that the order for the dividend will be issued early in the week. After the payment of this 15 per cent it will leave a balance of about 50 per cent still unpaid, and the receiver is confident that it will all be cared for within a reasonable length of time. He says he is anxious now to close up the affairs of the bank, as he is getting tired of the receivership.

SOLD INTERFERES WITH WORK. Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds.

There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

ASK FOR LOWER CORN RATES

Grain Must Be Shipped Within a Few Days or Be a Dead Loss.

DEMAND NOW MADE UPON THE IOWA LINES

Railroad Commissioners of Hawkeye State Urge that an Emergency Exists and that Relief is Needed.

Through the general managers of the Iowa railroads have declined to grant reduced rates for corn, or even place an emergency rate for the month of March, the Iowa Board of Railroad Commissioners is still making an active fight for some concession.

The following is the text of a letter recently sent by C. L. Davidson, chairman of the board, to the presidents and general managers of all Iowa lines:

"The situation in Iowa is very serious, especially in relation to the corn crop of last year. After careful investigation I am convinced that not more than 25 per cent of the corn crop of 1896 can be saved beyond the coming of warm weather and that whatever is done with it, shipping, etc., must be done before that time. In addition to this condition of things the number of stock animals in Iowa to be fed is not sufficient to consume a small percentage of this grain, in amount not, I think, to exceed 20 per cent of the corn crop.

If I am correct in the estimates made that at least 50 per cent of the crop on hand, which must be sold in five or six weeks, or a loss to the farmer and the freight, a loss to the transportation companies, with the situation confronting the people and the transportation lines, I write to suggest and urge the necessity of such a concession as will carry the corn crop of March, as well as carry the next week's crop, and also to ask that you give the subject that early and earnest consideration which the extreme gravity of the situation demands."

The officials of the Iowa lines, like those of the Nebraska roads, contend that emergency rates would not be in the public interest. They cite many cases of emergency rates which have been granted in the past, and also to ask that you give the subject that early and earnest consideration which the extreme gravity of the situation demands."

Despite the fact that three great corn-growing states, Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas, have united in beseeching the railroads to grant lower rates in the present emergency of the great corn crop of the past season, none of the roads in these states have yet come down in their rates. Men who watch the grain rates in the west, and who are able to see the situation from a general freight agent's point of view, are convinced that the railroads are not doing their duty in this respect.

Effective Saturday, March 20, the rate on salt in car loads to Omaha, Council Bluffs and Nebraska City from Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth will be 40 cents per 100 pounds. This is the same as the rate in effect at that time, and is a fair rate for a commodity which has been hauled by the Western Union Pacific since last December. It was brought about by the action of the Missouri Pacific on salt from Kansas mines.

R. R. Ritchie, general agent of the Northwestern system on the Pacific coast and the agent of this city, in a letter regarding the rate on salt, says: "The Missouri Pacific's subscription of $30,000 to the exposition says: 'A magnificent gift and a most generous one in reference to the Omaha people have reason to be proud of. Hope the exposition will prove a grand success. Everything running smoothly on the coast.'"

It is reported that no appointment will be made to the position of assistant general freight agent, Union Pacific, at Salt Lake City, which will be made vacant on the 15th of the month. The present incumbent, freight agent of the Oregon Short Line, with the loss of the Short Line and all the territory involved it is thought that a general agent of the freight department, and traveling freight agents and a live-stock agent, stationed at Salt Lake City, will be sufficient.

HANFAN SUDDENLY DISAPPEARS. Relatives Fear that He Has Been Killed.

C. D. Hanifan, an unmarried man 25 years of age and residing at 816 South Nineteenth street, has not been seen by any of his friends or relatives since last Wednesday night. For fear that some accident or foul play may have befallen him the assistance of the police has been called in to search for him.

Hanfan had been living with his brother-in-law, Jack Daley, a freeman, and had been driving an express wagon for the latter. His stand had been on North Fifteenth street. He was seen near his wagon just before the fire broke out on Wednesday night. Shortly after that the horse, with the empty wagon, was caught loose on Douglas street and taken to the police station. As Hanifan had not been seen since that time, it is believed that he has disappeared.

It is stated that Hanfan never drank and was a very good man. He was working morning as usual, in his working clothes, and took no money with him. His relatives therefore think that his disappearance is not voluntary.

MORE MONEY FOR THE DEPOSITORS. Receiver of American Savings Bank Promises Dividend.

Receiver J. W. Thomas of the American Savings bank says a dividend of 15 per cent will very probably be paid to the depositors some time next week. This, he says, is in pursuance of the promise made by Judge Scott a week ago, when the depositors were before him, and that the order for the dividend will be issued early in the week. After the payment of this 15 per cent it will leave a balance of about 50 per cent still unpaid, and the receiver is confident that it will all be cared for within a reasonable length of time. He says he is anxious now to close up the affairs of the bank, as he is getting tired of the receivership.

SOLD INTERFERES WITH WORK. Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds.

There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

Excavating for the Burlington's New Depot Proceeds. There were not the bustling scenes of activity about Tenth and Mason streets yesterday that there have been for the past few days. It was too cold to continue the work of dismantling the old brick pile that was once intended for a union depot. A few men worked within the structure removing ironwork, but none ventured on top work in the cold wind to tear down the brick wall.

GIVES MUNRO MUCH TROUBLE

He Seems to Have a Double with Very Unscrupulous Tendencies.

PARTIES WHO USE AN OMAHA MAN'S NAME

Chairman of Board of Public Works Invited to Pay Bills He Never Contracted and Marry a Woman He Has Never Met.

The existence of a double sometimes becomes embarrassing to a man who is held accountable for the actions of the man who looks like him. And when the double persists in beating hotel bills, playing confidence games on susceptible widows and otherwise raising several kinds of Cain on the responsibility of his silent partner, the consequences to the latter become particularly odious.