TAKES ITS PLEASURE SADLY

Society in Lent, Like the Scotsman, Always "Jocks wi' Deefficulty."

SOME CARD PARTIES AND A DANCE OR TWO

Gayety, Typifying the World, the Flesh and His Satanic Majesty Cowers Before the Austere Observances of the Church.

Lenten observances have assuredly held down the movements of society nearly to the limit of late, and if the world, the flesh and the devil may be said to be typified by anything so harmless as the frivolities of an ordinary social season, those three enemies of the human soul may be said to be at least temporarily in a state of complete subjection. That class of people, numerically considerable, which does not strictly observe Lent, of course does not consider itself bound by churchly mandates, but many of those who form other social circles nearly allied to this one do feel the weight of such obligations, and it is obviously difficult to get a large assemblage, of mixed faith, together. Good folk must still eat things, however, without more than the usual regard for times and seasons, and it is often possible to select a sufficient menu, from articles not forsworn, to construct a very enjoyable chafing-dish meal, or a dinner more decorously served. Cards still remain available to many, and malt liquors are so necessary to others as to take them out of the category of things to be given up. Besides, spring is on its way, and, although Lent is not yet half over, the resurrection time does not seem so very far distant, when the naughty trinity before mentioned will once more take control of events.

Entertained the Bon Ami Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Wilhelm entertained the Bon Ami Card club very charmingly last Monday evening at their pretty residence, 1821 Douglas street. The entertainment would have been a delightful one at any time and did not need the present lamentable dearth of society events to bring it into prominence. Eight tables were occupied with high five, the favorite game of the club, and certain novel features of the playing rules, adopted on this occasion for the first time, added to the enjoyment of the evening. The contest for prizes was most spirited, three out of four of those offered going to players who cut with their competitors for the honor. By this means Mrs. Baxter won from Mrs. Wattles a set of cut salt cellars, Captain Palmer, cutting with Mr. Norris and Mr. Wattles, captured a set of handsome liqueur glasses, and Mrs. Woodman, in the final struggle with Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. Purvis, took a beautiful china plate. MUSIC.

The deluge of comic opera which inundated the local theaters last week afforded plenty of opportunities for the gratification of musical tastes. The audiences being of fair size showed that there are many people in this city who like light opera and who can afford to attend performances of it. Where there is the will to go there is generally found the means, for what one really wants, that he will have.

Judge Scott Lectures.

The Literary society of the Omaha Business college gave an entertainment last night in the rooms over the Boston store, the seating capacity being fully tested by the audience present. The program consisted of musical recitations, etc., but the principal feature was an address by Judge C. R. Scott.

The subject of the judge's address was "Public Opinion," which he denominated as the uncrowned king of our government. He said the constitution was looked upon as the highest law in the land, yet it had been created by public opinion and could be destroyed by the same agency. The executive, judicial and legislative branches of the government were built by public opinion, and by the same power could be wiped out. So in other lines he illustrated the potentiality of this power in all affairs of our government and its irresistible force when once set in motion. He was frequently applauded in the course of the address.

Direct Legislation League.

The Direct Legislation league met in the office of J. T. Patch in the Patterson block last night with about a dozen members present. The republican city convention, held yesterday afternoon, ratified the action of the primaries, held Friday, in the selection of the following councilmen: First ward, A. R. Kelly; Second ward, P. J. Barrett; Third ward, P. J. Traynor; Fourth ward, August Miller. W. B. Wyman and A. L. Lott of the First ward and Nels Turnquist of the Second ward were nominated for members of the Board of Education.

Walter Slate called the convention to order and, after the reading of the call by Lou Etter, Colonel A. L. Lott was unanimously chosen chairman. It was a difficult matter to decide upon a secretary, as every one nominated declined to serve. Finally it was decided to allow Lou Etter to continue as keeper of the records. Vacancies in the delegations were filled and after the action of the primaries had been ratified, nominations for members of the Board of Education were called for. The nominees were: W. B. Wyman, A. L. Lott, Nels Turnquist, Walter J. Slate, William Sherman, J. C. Bowley. An informal ballot was taken, the vote standing: Lott, 20; Turnquist, 18; Sherman, 14; Wyman, 12; Slate, 11; Bowley, 4. The formal ballot resulted as follows: Lott, 28; Wyman, 16; Turnquist, 14; Sherman, 13; Slate, 12; Bowley, 1.

A city central committee, composed of three members from each ward, was then selected as follows: First ward, J. O. Eastman, A. F. Stryker, William Kelly; Second ward, Gus Olsen, H. C. Murphy, Frank Tlustus; Third ward, John McIntyre, John Freidt, Peter Olsen; Fourth ward, O. E. Bruce, A. D. Sawyer, Joseph Stryelecki.

Colonel A. L. Lott, one of the nominees from the First ward, has been a resident of the city for a number of years, and has been secretary of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange ever since it was organized. He is reputed to be a particularly clean man, politically, and his friends say if elected he will insist upon business methods in the government of the schools.

W. B. Wyman, the other First ward candidate, is also well known, being in charge of the freight department of the Union Pacific at this place. He is also a thorough business man, and adds strength to the ticket.

Nels Turnquist of the Second ward holds a responsible position with the Omaha Packing company and is the choice of the Scandinavian club of this city.

It is conceded on all sides that the placing of Colonel Lott and Mr. Wyman on the ticket will materially aid A. R. Kelly in securing a seat in the city council.

Gambling Houses Closed.

All of the big gambling houses in this city closed last night and possibly may remain closed until after the election. In fact the proprietors themselves do not know just how long the tiger will be kept under cover. This action is not on account of any protest from the city officials, but is due partly to the Municipal league and partly to the friends of the Peyton boys. Two of the Peytons are in jail on a charge of having shot and robbed Blanche Kennedy some time ago. When the Peytons were found guilty their friends went to work to try and get even and with the assistance of a couple of local attorneys have done what the administration declined to do. Word was sent down here yesterday that a raid was to be made last night and so the hint was taken and the principal places closed. The Diamond, which was operated by Kennedy, Morrison and others is to be closed permanently, but the others expect to open again as soon as this little difficulty with the Peytons is settled.

Members of the Municipal league have been talking over the matter and some action may be taken to keep the places closed all of the time.

Populist City Convention.

Third Ward—Pat Hyland, defeated democrat at the primary and present candidate by petition.

C. A. Nixon and A. M. Hunt, present democratic nominees, and Nels Turnquist, present republican nominee, were nominated members of the Board of Education.

Sheepmen Favor South Omaha.

James L. Paxton, superintendent of the Union Stock yards, returned yesterday from Casper, Wyo., where he went to attend the annual meeting of the Northwestern Sheep Breeders' association. The convention opened its session on Wednesday last, and was attended by sheep raisers from Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and Montana. Mr. Paxton said that the sheepmen appeared glad to see the Omaha delegation and showed the visitors every courtesy. Sheep raisers, he said, appreciated the fact that the nearer a sheep market was to their range the better it was for them, consequently all favored South Omaha. Nearly all of the delegates to the convention expressed a willingness to ship their flocks to this market. The sheep business here is increasing every day and the highest market price is paid for good sheep.

Those selected were: John Zillers, W. H. Herman, Dr. Robert Gilmore, James Sheean, Fred Cosgrove, John White, E. H. Hemming, J. Schneiderwind and W. H. Bullard.
