The regular meeting of the Council Bluffs Business Men's association will be held in the council chamber at the city building Wednesday evening, March 24, at 8 o'clock This will be a very important meeting, as new committees will be announced and important business will be brought up. As a special favor to the association, each member is requested to make every effort to be present, and as another special favor bring to this meeting at least one person who is not now a member. There are nearly 200 business men in this city who are not in the association, but who ought to be.

Special Health Officer McCrary has reported the carding of over 100 residences in the city where cases of measies have been reported. A number of cases have been re-ported from the Third street school and the belief is gaining ground that the disease will spread to all of the schools before it can be controlled. The board is enforcing strict quarantine regulations in all cases, but the number of isolated cases that have occurred in the schools in the southwestern part of the governor's committee agreed to be the city creates some apprehension that the gin actively the work of soliciting contribudisease will yet escape control.

Judge Smith was at the court house part of the day yesterday looking over the big docket that awaits him when he convenes the March term of the district court one week from today. The docket is one of the heaviest in recent years, and will occupy the time of the court for the full limit allowed for the term. Judge Smith passed upon several matters of unimportant interes during the day. H. L. Many Want to Be Manager. There is a hot fight on among the applicants for the position of manager of the Grape Growers' and Shippers' association. It was expected that the matter would be settled at the meeting called for the purpose last Saturday, but the discussions that lasted nearly all afternoon left the directors of the association no nearer a solution o the problem than they were at the start Manager Allingham, who has held the po four years, was a candidate for re-election until within a day or two of the meeting. He was then informed that it was the purpose of the association to reduce expenses by employing the manager for six months instead of a year, as had been done previously. This would reduce the compensation of the manager nearly one half, and Allingham refused to permit his application to be considered. H. Winn, another applicant, and Allingham's chief opbefore the meeting, also withdrew partly for the same reason. The other ap plicants did not altogether suit the member of the board and they continued the meet ing for another week. The chief aspirant

RECOVERS FOR HIS CATTLE

Jary Awards Him $1,200 and the Receiver for the Road Immediately Asks for a New Trial of the Case.

When Judge Woolson convened the federal case of George Shurr against Receiver Barpard of the Omaha & St. Louis railroad for payment for a lot of horses and cattle killed by the Wabash trains and whose value had been fixed by the plaintiff at $2,200. This was the case in which Judge Woolson felt called upon to caution the jurors not to permit themselves to be prejudiced by the passionate appeals of attorneys in arguing the case, and to remind them that a corporation had the same right to the protection of the law as the individual. The verdict gave Schurr $1,200. The defendant immediately filed a motion for a new trial. The remainder of the day was consumed in securing a jury to try the Edgington case. Young Edgit gton, then a medical student in the Iowa State university, was once con-victed in this court. A new trial was ob-tained, and both sides have since been preparing for a hard fight. Edgington became involved with the federal government for the part he took in securing a pension for his mother. In affidavits to support his mother's claim for a pension young Edging-ton swore that he visited the town in Mis-souri where it was alleged his father died a short time after the death, and in company with two other men, exhumed the body, to e sure that it was his father who had died. He swore that he had fully identified the corpse as that of his father. It was afterwards discovered that the old soldier was not dead at all, but was enjoying a roving life and excellent health. A sensation for the defense has been provided, it was asserted by court officers yesterday, in the person of the father himself, who has been brought here and who will be obliged to testify against his son. The case will be the most important criminal action on the court calendar for the term. The regular jury panel was exhausted and officers were sent out to gather in business men from the city The jury consists of A. E. Besson, D. Rees, H. M. Miller, W. C. Ingraham, G. M. Five Carloads for India.

It was definitely settled last night that Pottawattamie county's contribution of corn o the India relief fund should be not less than five full carloads, and as much more as can be raised within a few days. This decision was reached last night at a meeting of the committee appointed by Governor Drake, to take charge of the work in the county. The committee met in accordance to the request of Mayor Carson, and was held in his office in the city building. members were present except J. S. whose home in the country is too far from the city to permit him to attend night meetings in town. The committee is composed of H. Ouren, J. P. Hess, A. W. Wyman, Fred H. Hill, Ohio Knox and J. W. Peregoy. Organization was effected by the election of H. Ouren president and J. P. Hess secretary. Rev. C. Hoover, who has taken a deep interest in the relief work, and owing to his connection with the Indian missionary movement, perhaps knows more about the terrible condition of the people in the far-off land than any other person in town, was present and read a number of letters from India. An executive committee, composed of Ouren, Wyman and Hoover, was appointed to take immediate supervision of the work of receiving and forwarding the tions from the farmers and grain dealers. Some little time was spent in discussing the best means of proceeding. It was generally believed that it would not require much time to secure the donation of five

INDICT AN EX-BANK PRESIDENT.

Charged with Receiving Deposits While Bank Was Insolvent. SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 22 .- (Special.)-

The grand jury today returned a number of indictments, among them being one against C. Bevan Oldfield, formerly president of the defunct Commercial Savings bank of this city. The nature of the indictment is not known. Oldfield recently went to Omaha to go into business, being connected with a chicory company. The Commercial Savings bank had done little busi ness for some time and its closing caused no comment. The exact nature of the harges is not known. Two indictments were returned against

Mr. Oldfield returned on a late train last light from Sloux City, where he went last Saturday upon being informed that the grand jury was about to return an indictment against him. He says that immediately upon the raturn of the indictment he entered court and made a plea of not guilty, after which the judge released him without a bond to appear when the case shall be called for trial. In explaining the causes leading up to the indictment, Mr. Oldfield said:
"I was connected with a small savings bank in a suburb of Sioux City, which passed into the hands of a receiver shortly after I came to Omaha this year. I knew some such action would be taken at some time, but did not know what form it would take. We had been trying to dispose of the business, but without success. I was one of those misguided individuals who consented to act as the nominal head of a bank, contenting myself to going out about once a week to look into the business. I have been indicted now for receiving deposits after the bank became insolvent, whereas, in fact, never received a deposit for the bank in any form or at any time. The deposit I was supposed to have received was alleged to have been made during December, and about the time it is alleged to have been made the bank examiner made an investiga-tion of the books of the bank and pronounced the institution in a sound and solvent con-

"The assets of the bank are more than double the amount of the liabilities. Many good authorities in Sioux City have pronounced about $18,000 of the assets as good while the deposits amount to only $10,000 Of the deposits I personally own and con-trol nearly one third, so that if there are any great losses from the failure I will come in for my share.

"To sum the whole matter up the indict nent is the result of contemptible spite work and nothing else, on the part of those who are behind the case. The grand jury is made up largely of farmers, and the parties urging the indictment inflamed the passions of those members on the subject f bankers and practically forced the in lictment. The bank examiner who made he examination testified that the bank was solvent at the time it is alleged I re ceived the deposit in question, but that seemed to have no weight.

"I confess that I hadn't the least notion hat an indictment would be returned against me, for I knew there was absolutely nothing upon which they could make ase stick, but as I was disappointed in this will make a warm fight in the courts. The case will be pushed for trial at once and if the men who have been instrumental in forcing the indictment are sincere they will not stand in the way of a speedy trial We hope to have the case called at the present term of the court.

"There is nothing serious in the indictnent, and it would cause me no uneasines: except that it is a little embarrassing at his time, just after starting in business Omaha. But the trial will set the whole natter right before the public and the animus of the attack will be apparent to

CENSUS BOODLING CHARGES FALL FLAT

Report Will Say that There is No Substantial Ground for the Alleged Irregularity_Garnishee Bill Passes.

DES MOINES, March 22 .- (Special Telegram.)-Speaker Byers is exonerated by the pecial committee which investigated the building and loan lobby's charges against him. The report was presented this afternoon in the house, there having been no forenoon session. It finds that the speaker was not in league with the building and loan people, that he made no pledges with reference to his committees, and that the lobby did not in anyway influence him.

The forencon session of the senate was given over to further consideration of the criminal procedure law, in which the code commission had injected many new features. Most of them were promptly rejected by the senate on recommendation by the commit-gated the census will report soon, and will find that there has been no substantial find that there has been no substantial ground for the charges of irregularity and boodling in connection with the census. Editors of the Register, Homestead and Cedar Rapids Gazette were subpoenaed to verify the charges they had made, but their evidence proved that they knew nothing at all. The report will conclude that the cen-sus was made unnecessarily expensive, but will find little evidence of crookedness.

The house this afternoon reconsidered the bill relative to garnishees and then, after remodeling it, passed it again. The bill relative to mines and mining was amended by Morrison of Keokuk and passed. The amendments force owners of mines to have plats on exhibition. This is to protect owners of adjacent property. An amendment to cut the expenses of the state mine inspectors a $1.500 was defeated.

In the afternoon the senate devoted the time to discussion of a proposition to amend the law so that the county shall not pay for the attorneys of persons accused of crimes who are too poor to employ their own counsel. The present law makes these payments an obligation of the county. A trong element of the lawyer members wanted to wipe out the old law, but after a contest they were defeated.

City Lucks a Few Officers.

MISSOURI VALLEY, Ia., March 22 .- (Spe dal.)-Missouri Valley is having a little exitement incident to the appointment by the the ensuing year. At the annual meeting on the evening of the 15th inst., they failed of selecting city clerk, civil engineer, street commissioner, water commissioner and water works engineer. As no provision is made in the city charter for appointments to these. ffices, and as it does provide that they must be elected at the annual March meeting, one faction claims that the present incumbents hold over until pext March. The other faction, with the mayor at the head, believes differently, and has instituted proceedings by warning the street commissioner to sus-pend his operations, and it, through a comnittee, is doing his work.

Mayor Ensor's veto of the resolution award-

Teutons Honor the Memory of the Late Emperor, William I.

GERMANS CONTINUE THE CELEBRATIONS

Exercises at Berlin Commence with a Visit to the Old Kalser's Tomb-Young Emperor Given a Hearty Greeting.

BERLIN, March 22.-The ceremonies at-ending the centennial of the birth of Emperot William I, grandfather of the present emperor, which began yesterday and end on Tuesday next, continued today, commencing with an early visit of the emperor and empress to the mausoleum of William Thousands of people lined the Feststrake, which was brilliantly decorated from the castle to the Bradenburg gate. Their majesties, who received an ovation all along the route, spent a quarter of an hour in silent prayer at the tomb and returned to Berlin soon after 9 o'clock. The weather was cloudy, but no rain fell. At 9 o'clock the troops, decorated with the new memoria medal, and detachments of sallors the positions assigned to them on Unter der of the First Regiment of Guards.

After riding in front of the troo majesty halted before his late grandfather's palace and ordered the flags and standards stored therein (which had been decorated with branches of laurel), to be brought out The emperor then rode at the head of the colors, and led the troops to festival square. MONUMENT IS UNVEILED.

The monument was unveiled at 11:30 a, m The royal personages were beneath a magnifi cent tent with embroidered hangings creete in front of the main portal of the Schloss, facing the monument. They included the empress and ex-Empress Frederick, the kings of Saxony and Wurtemburg, the prince re-gent of Bavaria, the grand duke of Baden grand duke of Hesse and others. Adjoining this tent on both sides were grandstands for the privileged spectators, who only numbers about 3,000. His majesty occupied a position on horseback in front of the royal tent and facing the monument. When all was ready the drums and trumpets called to practice and a special trumpet corps sounded the hymn "Lobe den Herren," after which Rev. Dr. Faber delivered a prayer, the trumpets and drums following with a grand burst o music. The emperor then ordered the mon ument to be unveiled and troops presente arms and there was a loud cheer from all present. The massed bands played the Prussian national anthom, a salute of 101 guns was fired from the Lustmarten adjoining and all the church bells of the city and vicinity chimed in, in the general rejoicing These ceremonies ended with a choral by the special trumpet corps and a march pas-of the troops.

During the ceremony the colors and flags captured from the French during the war o 1870-71 were displayed on both sides of th monument and were flanked by a number of cannon ornamented with oak leaves, also captured from the French. All the troops taking part in the ceremony were under the personal command of the emperor. Grand Marshal Count von Eulenberg has been decorated by the emperor with the Order of the Black Eagle.

After the march past the troops the em-peror, the two empresses and the German princes walked in procession around the monument and laid wreaths on the steps In passing Prince Hohenlohe, the imperial chancellor, the two empresses bowed gra ciously.

The whole affair was most impressive and was witnessed from a distance by enor-mous crowds upon the roofs, in windows and on the balconies of the houses in the vicinity. The Wilhelm order has been con ferred on Dr. von Boetticher, minister o the interior, and Dr. von Stephan, the secretary for the posts and telegraphs.

IN MEMORY OF KAISER WILHELM One Hundredth Anniversary of the Great Emperor's Birth. The 100th anniversary of the birth of Kaiser Wilhelm I was celebrated last night in the hall of the Orpheus Singing society near Howard and Thirteenth streets, by the Omaha Landwehr verein. A couple of hundred of the members of the society, their families and friends, were gathered together in the hall. The attendance included about a score of the members of the Bennington Landwehr verein, who came attired in their uniforms of the national colors. In honor of the occasion the hall was decorated to a considerable degree. The banners of the two associations represented adorned the stage, which was further draped with the colors of Germany and of the United States. In a prominent spot in the center was placed a big portrait of the revered emperor in whose memory the entertainmen was being held. The program of the evening was opened with a selection by the Steinhauser orches-tra, which furnished the music of the evening. This was followed by a patriotic song Richte Dich auf Germania." Orpheus Singing society. An address of weiome was then made by Charles Bouffier who made a few remarks about the occasion that was being celebrated. He also read a letter of regret from Dr. Paul Grossman, who was to have delivered the address of the was to have delivered the address of the evening, but who was detained from attending by urgent business.

This little speech was followed by anothes selection from the orchestra and the sing-ing of the "Wacht am Rhein" by the Orpheus Singing society. The entire audience joined in this patriotic hymn. The address of the evening was delivered by Frank Schnake, who dwelt upon the valiant deeds and the wisdom of Emperor William. At the con-clusion of the program a dance was enjoyed. The Omaha Landwebr verein has three members upon whom has been bestowed the henor of the iron cross. Prof. Steinhauser secured it for bravery at the battle of Sedan, Charles Schartow for his deeds at the battle of Mars-la-Tour, and Dr. Grossman for his conduct throughout the Franco-German war. The two former were present.
