RECCGNIZES WESTERN ART ASSOCIATION

Bids for Grading the Grounds Are Opened, but Contract Is Not Awarded Beenuse of Delny by the City Council.

'At the meeting of the executive committee of the Transmississippi Exposition yesterday afternoon the Department of Exhibits, which is to form one of the most important departments of the great show, commenced to take on definite form. Manager Bruce, in charge of this department, has been giving the details of his department the most careful consideration since his election as a member of the executive committee, and the result of his deliberations was partially revealed at the meeting of the committee yesterday by a number of recommendations made by Mr. Bruce in connection with the detail work.

His first recommendation was that the control of the bureau of fine arts be given into the hands of the Western Art association of this city, the art association to be empowered, when the proper time comes, to employ a general superintendent, subject to the approval of the executive committee. The suggestion met with favor at the hands of the committee and was adopted.

At the suggestion of Mr. Bruce the salary of Mrs. Frances M. Ford, secretary of the Lady Board of Managers, was fixed for the present at $1,000 per year, with a temporary arrangement that she should be paid only for half time in order that she may devote a portion of her time to her pri-Mr. Bruce also suggested that at some later time a space to be later agreed upon should be assigned to the women in the TWO HONORARY APPOINTMENTS.

On recommendation of Mr. Bruce, Prof. Owens of the Nebraska university was appointed honorary commissioner for the electrical section of the Department of Exhibits and W. K. Boardman of Des Moines was appointed honorary dairy commisssioner for lows for the stock and dairy bureau.

committee from Carpenters' union No. 427, appeared before the executive committee to protest against the employment of men in building the fence around the exposition grounds for twenty cents per hour. The delegation claimed that the work of building a fence was carpenter work and insisted that men employed on that work should be paid twenty-five cents per hour.

In reply to questions by members of the executive committee the delegation said that the men now employed are receiving twenty cents per hour and are working ten hours; they asked that the men be given twenty five cents per hour, and employed only eight

WORK IS DISTRIBUTED.

They were informed by the committee that General Superintendent Geraldine, acting under the direction of the committee had employed men living in Omaha, those with families being given the preference, and that these men were employed for a week or ten days and then laid off in order to give employment to another lot of men so that the money expended will go as far as possible in giving work to the greatest

The delegation approved this plan, but insisted that if the men were paid five cents more per hour and made to work shorter hours there would be more money expended and more men would be given work.

After the delegation had retired the mat ter was discussed by the executive committee and was referred to Mr. Geraldine.

The tabulation of the grading bids opened at the last meeting was taken up and it was found that Van Court & Winn were the lowest bidders. They bid on both districts. On district No. 1, lying east of Twentieth street, they bid 9.7 cents per yard for completing the work in forty days, and 9.5 cents for completing it in sixty days. 2. lying east of Twentieth street, they bid 6.7 cents for either sixty or

No action was taken toward awarding the contract for this grading on account of the failure of the city council to pass the ordinance closing Twentieth street from Pinkney street to Ames avenue. Until this street is closed no work can be done in the way of grading.

The committee adjourned until Wednesday of this week to await the action of the city council tomorrow night. If the ordinance closing Twentieth street is passed, the contract for the grading will be let at once but if the ordinance is not passed the work will be delayed until the council acts. The committee was greatly annoyed by failure of the council to act, as every delay may prove expensive to the exposition.

WORK ON THE INAUGURAL PARADE

Committee Invites Everybody to Help Make it a Success. The committee in charge of the inaugural parade for the exposition is gradually com pleting its place, and will be ready in a few days to announce the details of the pageant. The following organizations have signified their intention of taking part in the feative ties: The Advertising Men's club, Fire and Police commission, Park board, Elks, Commercial club, Board of Education, Board of Governors, Mesonic bodies and the city council. Other organizations which expect to participate in the parade are requested to notify the committee at once. The committee invites everybody to take part in the parade, with instructions to trim their vehicles in any manner compatible will their ideas of decoration. All bands which will donate their services are urged to com municate with the committee, and those who do not wish to donate are requested to state what terms they will make for that date The same request is made to liverymen who will donate carriages for use of visitors in the city that day.

Major Wilcox has appointed G. B. Scramb-ling of the Thurston Rifles as an orderly to officiate with the committee till the paran and celebration have been disposed of.

To Address the Women. Mrs. Robert H. Davis of New York will address a meeting of libera! Christian women at Unity church, Seventeenth and Cass streets, this afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. Davis is corresponding secretary of the National Alliance and visits the west ern cities for the purpose of pressing upon the women of the churches the need o local organization for local ends in connection with the national organization.

MEETING OF OMAHA WOMAN'S CLUB. Will Ask the Governor to Sign School

Levy Bill.

There was a goodly representation of the Woman's club at the meeting yesterday in spite of the rain, but the required majority not being present the question of incorporating the club was deferred to another meet ing, though that had been the special order of the day. Mrs. Sudborough explained the legal steps necessary and the constitution committee was asked to consider the changes which the operation of Nebraska law would make in the constitutional status.

Mrs. O. S. Chittenden presented a resolution, which was seconded by Mrs. Heller inviting the International Kindergarten association to meet in Omaha next year, was enthusiastically carried, and Mrs. C enden and Mrs. Heller were made delegates tenden and Mrs. Heller were made delegates to the meeting of the association, which meets in St. Louis next week.

The chief discussion of the day centered around a letter from the Board of Education, which was read by Mrs. Towne. It contained the request that the club ask Governor Holcomb to sign the bill giving the board power to fix the amount of tax levy for school purposes. for school purposes.

Mrs. Creigh thought it discourteous to oring this matter before the club, since the directory had tabled it on the ground that it involved politics. She moved to lay on the table, but the motion being lost, discussion was opened by Mrs. Sudborough, who wished to ask questions of Prof. Pearse and Secretary Gillan, they being present by invitation. The latter gentleman said that the question was not a political one, newspaper statements to the contrary notwithstanding. Every school district in the state, excepting Omaha, had power to fix its own levy, the limit being defined by law. He gave some school history and said that the council was not sufficiently informed as to the needs of the schools to be competent a fix their income

Rosewater wished to hear both sides. She thought newspapers usually told the truth and she said that the salaries of the eachers would be cut, no matter how much noney the board controlled. Mrs. Heller thought all responsibility for schools should be borne by the board, which body is a flexible one and can be changed under public disapproval. She would not allow her neighbor to fix the income and ex-penditures of her family.

Mrs. Creigh thought the taxpayers would not be willing to put unlimited power into the hands of the school board. Mrs. Towne said the plea of overtaxation must not apply to the schools. We can do without other things, but our schools must not suffer.

To this Mrs. Damon agreed. Dr. Lankton wished to go on record for honesty and decency. There is but one side to these questions, and that is the right side. When we stand against income from axation we stand for income from vice. Mrs. Sudborough and Mrs. Jaynes would have the police fines and license fees deoted to the general fund, and schools sup-orted by tax levy only. The long and somewhat heated discussion was closed by a statement by Prof. Pearse to the effect that last year the appropriation per capita for the schools was $28, while ten years ago it was $54; that the wages of women teachers had been reduced from 5 to 15 per cent, while those of the male janitors had fallen 30 per cent, and that the council cannot investigate needs of the schools and err from lack of information.

At this juncture the question was called for and the request of the letter was granted by a small majority.

The program, in charge of the Department of English Literature, Miss Zoller chairman, was opened by a piano duet, "Polonalso" by Moskowski, played by Mrs. Lente and Miss Alexander. The papers were: "A Baconian Bouquet." Mrs. Hancock; "Spencer's Women," Mrs. Creigh, and "Chaucer Up to Date," by Mrs. Cole. Mrs. Dorward ive a recitation from Sheridan's "Rivals. and in response to an encore she describe 'How Birdie Studied Delsartie.'' A secon "How Birdie Studied Delsartie." A second musical number rendered by Miss Alexander and Mrs. Lente was Nevin's "Valse Caprice."

He was badly beaten, however, and the stranger demanded that he buy a glass of 15-cent whisky, as the cheap brand made him tired, also sometimes like fighting. Van Tuyle refused to do this and trouble followed. The stranger knocked ble followed. The stranger knocked Tuyle down, and getting astride of him bit a generous slice out of his upper lip. NEARING THE DANGER LINE

Owners of Property Along the River Banks Becoming Uneasy.

MISSOURI RIVER GOING OUT ON A TEAR

Water Higher Than it Has Been a Any Time Since the Flood that Sixteen Years Ago Swept Over the Lowlands.

The water of the Missouri river is higher low at Omaha than it has been for the past sixteen years. No damage was done during yesterday, but the water is still rising and all property along the river bank is being watched very carefully. The consensus of opinion of property owners along the river bank is that the river may rise from three to four feet yet before any damage, except to the outer banks, is sustained. The water is rising, and it is expected that it will rise from twelve to sixteen inches before it will

The government measurement on the middle pier of the Union Pacific bridge yesterday showed water at the height of 14.8 feet. This is the highest the water has been, not only this season, but for many years. During the flood of 1881 the water measured twenty-five feet at that point.

The term "danger line" is a relative expression, and is interpreted differently along the river bank. The Union Pacific officials consider eighteen feet at the bridge to be the danger line. According to this the river has still over three feet to rise before the danger line is reached. The Union Pacific is watch-ing its tracks along the river bank very closely. Four switch engines and a number of flat cars are stationed on the tracks nearest the river, so that the company may be prepared for any emergency. The firm of Her & Co. is also guarding its property very carefully. No goods have yet been moved out from the storehouse. Although the water is rising rapidly, the firm reports that it can stand four feet more water yet.

At noon Captain Reynolds, chief engineer At noon captain Reynolds, chief engineer of the water works at Florence, reported that the water there was at a point higher than it had been since the pump house was located, seven years ago. It measured sixteen feet eight inches, and had risen six inches since 6 o'clock in the morning. During the night it rose one foot and a half. The

Up until 3 o'clock in the afternoon none of the Omaha railroads had received reports of any damage along their respective lines due to high water. The tracks of the Sioux City & Pacific, on the lows side of the river, are resting upon soft ground, and the trains are being run over them very cautiously. They are not, however, regarded as being in a dangerous condition. The river made considerable inreads at Blair Sunday, and for a time threatened the bridge of the Northwestern road. A gang of workmen was at once sent there, and worked the remainder of the day, all that night and yesterday in filling in around the bridge with stone and other material to stop the approaches of the mad waters. It was reported yesterday that the bridge was in no danger, and that the cutting-in of the river had been effectually stopped. BREAKING INTO FLORENCE LAKE.

During the afternoon in the vicinity of Plorence the river rose very rapidly and the first rose very larger and the late in the afternoon the water swept away the piling and broke into Florence lake, causing that body of water to rise nine inches in the six hours following 2 o'clock.

Last night the dairymen and most of the settlers residing in the bottoms surround-ing the lake moved to higher ground, taking with them their stock and their bousehold possessions. Following this overflow the low lands between Florence lake and Cut-Off were flooded to a depth of several , the water surrounding many of the houses in North Omaha. Later in the after noon the water commenced to pour over the north end of Sherman avenue and at dark the stretch of country north of the Missouri Pacific viaduct and from the bluffs to nearly as far east as the ridge that separates Cut-Off lake from the old river bed was an inland sea. In North Omaha most of the houses were surrounded by water, while the walks were floating about, loosed from their moorings.

On the low ground north of Nicholas stree nost of the houses were surrounded by water, and during the night a great many o he occupants moved out. At midnight last night the engineer at the pumping station at Florence reported that the river had risen twelve inches during the past twelve hours and was still rising at the rate of an inch an hour. He said that the bottoms north of Florence were covered with water to the depth of from three to four feet and that all of the settlers had moved to the high lands. In East Omaha the people were high and dry at midnight, but at a point one mile west of Swift's ice house the water was three feet deep over the Union Pacific tracks.

SMELTER IN DANGER. At 2 o'clock this morning the river was still rising rapidly and was then within two feet of flooding the ground on which the smelting works stand. From 6 o'clock last evening to 1:30 this morning the water had risen between six and seven inches at that point, and had been rising more rapidly since midnight. The smelter company has made no effort to repel the water or protect its property, but the Union Pacific railroad its property, but the Union Pacific railroad has had a gang of men all yesterday and last night just south of the pumping station with carloads of slag. This work will be kept up as long as it is of any avail in protecting the property below. The North Omaha sewer outlet comes down into the river near where the Union Pacific gang is at work and the bottoms between the smelter and the water works settling begins are covered with water works settling basins are covered with water. Six or eight families of squatters living in this part moved out of their houses at midnight, taking with them all their movable property. Among these was the family of John Boyle, whose house was already surrounded with whose house was already surrounded with water. The river at 2 o'clock was rising as rapidly as at any time during the day or night, carrying down with it sections pieces of bridges, and wreckage o

WANT TWO BICKCLE POLICEMEN. Associated Cyclings Clubs Asks that

Speed BerRegulated. The regular monthly meeting of the Associated Cycling Clubs was held in the rooms of the Omaha Wheel club last evening. In addition to the regular routine of businers the resignation of Alva J. Grover as a delegate representing the Nebraska di-vision of the League of American Wheelmen was read and accepted.

The proposed cycle path to Florence will probably be delayed somewhat, from the fact that the railroad company requires more cinders, and in order to fulfill its contract with them the water works company will be unable to contribute the cinder covering for the cycle path just at the present time. If, however, voluntary contributions come in as rapidly as desired it may be that some other substance may be substituted, but which will necessitate the expenditure of more money than was at first thought necessary.
There are something like seventy subcription blanks with the leading dealers and wheelmen of the city, and the promoters of the cycle path are anxious to see the wheel men who are to receive the direct benefit come forward and contribute to the fund at

In view of the fact that certain parties who ride wheels seem to have little or no regard for the safety of pedestrians or themselves and continue the practice of fast rid ing over our streets and public thorough-fares, a resolution was passed by the Asso-ciated Cycling Clubs, asking that two policemen, who are riders of the "silent steed," be appointed to regulate the speed of wheelmen generally, as well as take necessary steps toward having glass and other obstructions removed from the streets, and the following were recommended for such officers: George Barnes and Samuel D. Reigelman. The next meeting of the organization will be held in the Millard hotel May 10.

Does Not Now Urge the County to Bring Action at Once.

ASKS DELAY IN THE SUIT AGAINST MOORES

Admits that He is Not in a Position to Prove a Case of Overcharge Against Ex-Clerk of District Court.

Judge Slabaugh yesterday heard the arguments on the application of the Board of Education for a mandamus to compel the Board of County Commissioners to 'proceed according to law" to recover from Frank E. Moores the amount alleged to be due from him to the county on account of the school fund. It was agreed between Covell, the attorney for the Board of Education, and the county attorney that there was a dispute between Moores and the county as to what was due to each and that the bills rendered by Moores to the county had been checked only to the last eight terms of court during his term of office. It was also admitted that the records of the clerk's office had not been checked for the last three terms of court of Moores' term and it was not known just what amount is claimed to be due to the county from Moores on account of the school fund.

The arguments proceeded on this agreed statement of facts. The attorney for the Board of Education changed front on the proposition and did not urge that the county hould at once bring suit against Moores He tacitly admitted that the county was not in position to prove the full amount al leged to be due the county and admitted that a suit would be a bar to any subse quent action in case it should be discovered that there was more due than had been claimed. His argument was mainly de voted to the proposition that the wrishould issue to compel the county to do its cheeking more rapidly.

County Attorney Baldrige said that the checking was proceeding as rapidly as possible. He showed that the county had em ployed experts to check up Moores' bills and the court dockets and that the work was going on. He argued against the issuance of the writ for the reason that the county should be allowed to get the matter in the nost favorable condition to make a final claim against Moores when the total amount to be claimed by the county shall have been determined, and not be compelled to jeopardize its claim by pushing a suit beore this amount has been learned.
Judge Slabaugh took the matter under advisement and gave notice that he would render his decision Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

MEETING OF INDIAN EDUCATORS National Association Will Come t Omaha in July. Prof. Charles D. Rakestraw was in the city vesterday. He was for a number of years connected with educational work in this state, being located at Nebraska City, and was superintendent of the Blind asylum there under Governor Boyd, but Is now supervisor of Indian schools under the Interior department of the government. He was here to make arrangements for a meeting of the National Indian Educational association, which will be held in this city for one week in July next, beginning July 12. The territory to be represented at this meeting is nearly all of that lying in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, and Mr. Rakestraw says they expect between 400 and 500 people in attendance. It is expected that all the teachers and superintendents of the Indian schools in this territory will be present, besides many others who are interested in Indian education. Dr. W. L. N. Hailmann of Washing-ton, superintendent of Indian schools, will be here during the session, and it is not altoether unlikely that the commissioner of Indian affairs will also attend. Mr. Rakestraw leaves today for Salt Lake where he will arrange for a meeting to be held after the close of the one in this city for the territory east of the mountains and west of the Omaha district. He will then go to Portland, Ore., to arrange for an-other meeting for the coast territory.
