Snider, just out of town, and when Snider visited his barn in the morning he discovered that his best harness was gone. He made up his mind that the campers were the thieves, and started in pursuit with the sheriff. The road was rough and the harness was heavy. They had the harness with them. Sheriff Hahn brought them back and put them in jail. They gave their names as John Baker and Frank Williams, one 18 years old and the other 17. They had in their wagon two pretty plush robes. They will have their examination as soon as Judge Getts can get to their cases.

DOUBLE THE ACREAGE OF CORN.

Farmers Are Busy Preparing for Another Bountiful Crop. GRAFTON, Neb. May 10.—(Special.)—A large acreage of corn will be put in in this section this year. Nearly all the farmers are now planting. The corn that is in the farmers' hands is in good condition. Winter wheat, for the most part, is in splendid condition. Pastures are well advanced. Fruit trees promise an abundant crop.

Unusually favorable weather of the past week has fallen on Saturday morning to the depth of one-third of an inch and temperature fell to 40 degrees. While the soil had not as yet become dry to any great depth this fall of moisture seemed to freshen up the pastures and gardens beneficially.

On Saturday evening the rain fell yesterday evening that will greatly benefit the small grain and vegetables. The wheat crop is now in the hands of the ground on top so that a shower was needed. The fruit does not show any effect of the frost of a week ago and promises one of the largest yields ever produced here. Corn is being planted rapidly. The acreage will be large.

FAIRBANK, Neb. May 10.—(Special.)—The unusually favorable weather of the past week or ten days has enabled the farmers to prosecute their corn planting so continuously that the corn now in the ground is planted in very large. Some have finished the work, others are well along with it and never have the farmers been so hopeful and confident of a successful season.

At a place given Saturday evening on the farm of Charles Schreiber, living seven miles southeast of Scribner, Hugo Eichblatte, aged 22, fell out of an opening in the barn. He died this morning from his injuries.

The dance was being held in the haymow of the barn, about ten feet above the ground. The young man was standing near the opening watching the dancers when he fell. He was caught by the floor and his head struck a pair of the dancers pushed against him and, losing his balance, he fell headlong out of the haymow.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition. Medical aid was promptly summoned and everything done to relieve him. Yesterday he was removed to a hospital in Omaha. He was taken to Hooper and put on the afternoon train for Omaha on which he died. The body was taken in charge by the coroner of Douglas county.
