Judge Gordon Finds Nothing Upon Which to Hold Theeder Bennett.

Nothing in Constitution of the Order or in Evidence Offered to Indiente that Crimtaiff Libel Had Been Committed.

Theodore Bennett is not guilty of criminal ibsi in circulating the report that Ed Howell was a member of the A .P. A., provided, of course, that he circulated those reports. Judge Gordon discharged him last night at the conclusion of the hearing on the ground that there was no evidence upon which to hold him. The bone of contention in the hearing was whether the printed constitution or the unwritten work of the order was to be taken as an indication of the purposes of the organization. Judge Gordon lecided that the constitution was all that there was nothing in the constitution which would make it libelous to charge a man with being an A. P. A.

The preliminary hearing had an inning of an hour and a half yesterday morning in police court. One hour and twenty-five minutes of this time was spent by the cosel in arguing on the question of admitting oral testimony on the unwritten objects of the American Protective association. All the testimony really introduced was brought in in the other five minutes through the only witness called for the state, O. P. Shrum. Shrum testified that he was a member of the A. P. A., and he was then asked to dentify a copy of the constitution and bylaws of the order. Attorney Shoemaker, for he state, asked Shrum if the primary oblects of the order were not contained only n the unwritten work. The defense objected to this question. Attorney Brome maintained that the objects of the order must be set out in the constitution and that if there were any other bjects the laws of the order were being transgressed. If there was anything in the natitution that would bring ridicule or disgrace upon any one, then Bennett was guilty of libeiling Howell by calling him an A. P. A. if Howell was not a member. The attorney argured that the defendant could not be held for libel, simply because there was aome damaging part in the unwritten work that was not authorized by the published constitution granted by the supreme body of the Attorney Shoemaker stated that the known and avowed objects of the order were not contained in the constitution, but in the unwritten work. He held therefore that he had a right to make known these objects by oral testimony and also to show that these unwritten objects had prejudiced Howell in the late election and braught about his de-eat. UNWRITTEN WORK IS BARRED. On the reopening of court Judge Gordon announced that he would not allow o testify about any objects of the order that might be contained in the unwritten work. Shrum was recalled to the stand. He was asked whether the members of the American Protective association were not pledged by oral instructions to oppose any Roman Catholic for public office. An objection to he question was sustained after a of an hour and a half. Mr. McEckron was ecalled to the stand and the same or simlar questions were propounded to him and upon objection and another hour's argument he was dismissed. Martin Quick was the next witness. He said he was not an admirer of the A. P. A., as he did not believe in its principles. Said ie had heard through the newspapers that Howell was a member of the local order, but did not know whether to believe it or not. He had voted for Monres on account of pref-

Father Vranek stated that he had read in the papers that Howell was a member of the A. P. A. He had also talked to many people on the subject, but had gained little information, as half of them said Howell was an A. P. A. and the other half denied it. He had voted for Moores on account of friendly feeling.

andidates, and that upon the expose Howell's alleged affiliations with the A. P. A. he had voted for Moores. P J. Quealey said he had not voted for Howell because he was not his candidate. He preferred Moores and had cast his ballot to the A. P. A., but had never taken the trouble to substantiate it. John Green said he had always been democrat, but had voted for Moores in the last election. The statements published in connection with Howell and the A. P. A. had influenced his actions somewhat. At the conclusion of the last testimony ourt was adjourned until 7 o'clock, Judge

Gordon deciding to hold a night session to The session of the court at night was devoted to the argument by the attorneys. At its conclusion Judge Gordon held that there was nothing in the constitution of the A. P. A. as shown in the evidence to make it a libel to accuse one of belonging to the organization, and thereupon discharged Ben-

WOULD SHUT OUT SMALL DEALERS.

The members of the Omaha Coal exchange are engaged in a family controversy which has been hanging fire for a couple of weeks, and which at one time threatened to disrupt the organization. It all arises from the desire of one or two of the largest dealers to push a scheme to shut out the small dealers in the suburban districts. This plan has been tried several times be fore, but in each case the ordinance by which a license was imposed has been contested by the smaller dealers and declared invalid by of the exchange began to canvass the possi litles of getting another ordinance through the council, but the exchange was not united on the subject. It has been vigorously discussed at the last two meetings of the exchange and at one time the dealers who favored the ordinance threatened to cut loose from the ex-change unless the other members joined with them in the campaign against the small deal-ers. But they encountered a very strong sentiment against the proposed ordinance and the matter is still franging fire. The indications are that the trouble will be adjusted at another meeting which will be held the last of the week and that the members will agree to go shead as before and let the license plan rest for the present. Secretary Dennison of the Union stock yards reported at the opening of the after-noon session with reference to the organizanoon session with reference to the organiza-tion of the company. He said the original stock was for $500,000, subscribed for as fol-lows: Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, $125,-000; Northwestern, $125,000; Rock Island, $125,000; Chicago & Aiton, $50,000; Ilivois Central, $50,000; packing houses, $25,000. He did not know the present holders of the stock or any details of the transfer of own-ership by the rallroads.

Mr. Babcock then renewed his motion for dismissal of the Stuck Yards company on the ground of lack of jurisdiction, but Chair-man Morrison again ruled the motion out. It was after 5 o'clock when the commit-tee called up the complaint of the American warehouse association against the Illinois Central, Wabash, Michigan Central and nearly every road in the western states. The complainants constitute a chain of ware-country and they seek to have the committee enter an order upon the railroads to cease from storing and warehousing grain, except upon unclaimed grain and other commodities. They charge this service is being performed by the railroads service is being performed by the ratifroads for nothing or next to nothing and that it interferes with the legitimate business of the regular warehousemen. Percy Thompson of New York, the secretary of the association, and E. K. Summerwell of New York appear. I for the complainants.

George B. Barnett of the Wabash line mayed to dismiss the complaint on the ground that it did not specify any act of violation of the interstate commerce law.

Mr. Summerwell then launched into an

HE DID NOT LIBEL HOWELL hour's discussion of the complaint, alteging that railroads incorporated as carriers should not be permitted to engage in other business. The commission, he asserted had a right to make the order asked and instanced the action of the commission on the grange complaints of some years since.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Chairman Morrison shut off further argument by remarking that it was time to get dinner. Argumenta will UNWRITTEN WORK OF A. P. A. RULED OUT

THERE WAS NO POLITICS IN IT. Cordini Reception to Senator Allen and Congressman Sutherland. Senator Allien and Congressman Sutherland of this state were the recipients of a hearty evation at the hands of about fifty prominent Omahans, attorneys, physicians, real estate may and a majority of business men, at the Commercial club vesterday afternoon. There was no formality about the occasion, it being designed as an evidence of Omaha's appreciation of the services of two of Nebraska's representatives, who have been most loyal in their support of the in-terests of this state and this city during the present term of congress. The assembiage was called to order shortly after 3 o'clock by J. H. Dumont. He bade could be used. On that decision he held a hearty welcome to both of the guests, and then indicated in a brief manner the matters that were lying closest to the hearts of the business men here and for which they desired some special legislation. He called the attention of the congressmen to the fact that bids for Indian supplies could and should be asked for at this point. He pointed out the advantages of the Fort Omaha site for an Indian school. He spoke of the need-less delay of the westbound fast mail trains in Chicago for several hours, of the delayed bridge tolls case, that would not now be heard until fall, and of the need for a bankuptey law. concluding Mr. Dumont branched off into the political long enough to state that almost every one who had feared the elec-tion of a populist senator four years ago had been so well satisfied with his labors that they were now mighty glad he had been elected. This gave Senator Allen an opportunity, when presented, to make a few po-litical remarks himself. He said that he was one of three populists in the senate four years ago, but that that party now held the balance of power, and its senators were favored with much attention from both of the other parties. After speaking of the difference in political faith with a number of those present he said: "Let us disagree, and ilsagree in perfect barmony in political maters, but when it comes to Nebraska's interests let us all stand shoulder to shoulder and labor zealously for the common good of the state. I desire no praise for what I have lone: I was sent to the senate to look after the interest of every part of the state, to represent the democrats and republicans as much as the copulists. I am glad that I have had an opportunity to be of service to this city and trust that I may be of still greater sefulness in the time to come." Congressman Sutherland was called upon and responded with a most felicitous talk. He spoke kindly of Omaha's reception to him and said that though there were properly differences in political faith, nine-tenths of the questions that came up in congress conerning Nebraska were such as all congressmen should pull together on, and this he thought the Nebraska delegation would do. He believed that the history of Omaha and ebraska would really date from 1898 as the exposition would inaugurate a new era of and Congressman Sutherland and the meeting adjourned.

Republican Club Banquet. The John L. Webster Republican club held short business meeting at Washington hall last night to elect new members to the club. Aplications from forty-four republican voters were received and all were elected to full membership. The next meeting will be of a social nature and will be held at the Millard hotel Friday evening of next week. June 11. The mem-bers of the club will sit down to a banquet, which will be followed by speeches by men prominent in the ranks of the republican party in this and adjoining states.

Every Thursday the flowers of every kind and in all quantities are received, sorted and distributed among the sick. There is nothing sectarian, nothing denominational about it. The flowers are given out, as long as they last, to all who need them and will be refreshed by them, whether in public institutions or in private houses. This is the object of the Flower mission, and its scope is not restricted by petty distinctions of church or class, either in receiving or giving.

South Omaha News .

THE THE PERSON OF THE PERSON O From this time on Swift and Company and Nels Morris, the great Chicago packers. will purchase export beef cattle on this market. Experienced cattle buyers representing these firms have arrived and will make South Omaha their headquarters. Arrangements have been made whereby export cattie will be inspected here by agents of the Bureau of Animal Industry and shipped direct to the senboard. Heretofore when export stock was purchased here it was necessary to ship it to Chicago for government inspection. For this reason shippers of high-grade cattle, suitable for export trade, preerred billing their consignments direct to Chicago, thus giving south unloaded here by. When fat cattle were unloaded here by. When fat cattle were unloaded here secessary delay and expense on account of no arrangements for government inspection having been made.

In view of the fact that these two extensive packing houses in Chicago desired to locate export buyers here the matter of procuring government inspection was taken up by General Manager Babcock with Dr. Ayer, the chief of the Bureau of Animal industry. Testerday Dr. Ayer received a letter from Washington, directing him to arrange for the inspection of export cattle. No additional help will be allowed, however, for this work. These export cattle are inspected alive and if passed a metal tag is placed in the animal's ear, which is a good health certificate, etc.

The Stock Yards company has agreed to provide asparate pens for these export catde and will furnish men to assist the government inspectors, if need be, until such time as the government authorizes Dr. Ayer

According to those interested in the new venture, the purchase and inspection of ex-port cattle at this point will be of great advantage to shippers who patronize this market. The first shipment under the new arrangements was made yesterday.

Preparing for the Fourth.

The committee of the Old Settlers' associaion having in charge the arrangements for a celebration July 4 will meet Saturday night at the office of Chairman Hoctor, Subcommittees to solicit subscriptions from business men will be appointed and the work of geting things in shape for the celebration will e gotten under way. It is the intention of old settlers to have a celebration which will be worth coming miles to see, and one hat will be remembered for years to come The plan adopted last year of having the principal events down town will be carried out this year, in order that the merchants who subscribe to the fund may be satisfied The speaking, of contrae, will be held at Syn-licate park. Well known speakers are to e engaged for the occasion and no expense will be spared to properly entertain the vistors. During the day the old settlers of both this and Sarpy counties will meet at the park and organize an old settlers association, which it is intended shall be made a permanent affair. Business men have manifested considerable interest in the coming celebration and it will no doubt be a success.

range for the Event. of Omaha. Several lawyers of the city have been negotiating with the association with the object of securing an arrangement to look after collections for all the members. As the lawyers making the proposal wanted a stated sum or salary as compensation the project was not looked upon with favor, but the grocers expressed themselves as ready to receive propositions based on the percentage pian. After the minor business of the meeting had been disposed of the main question of the evening came up-"Shall the grocers of the city hold a picnic?" Every one was in favor of a picnic, and that being settled, the meeting got down to the discussion of the details without loss of time. Last year the picnic was held at Ashland and the people of that city were so well pleased with the grocers that they have sent them an invitation to come there again this year, but the matter of location was not decided upon. The date for the great event was fixed for Thursday, July 22, and the following com-mittees were then appointed: Location, C. R. Courtney, F. A. Jones, E. P. Johnson; R. Courtney, F. A. Jones, E. P. J. Etter, W. D. Edwards, The picnic question being disposed of the wholesale produce and commission men came in for a round scoring. It was asserted that a good many of the houses in the city are the habit of retailing goods to consumers. selling just as cheaply as the grocers. A number of cases were reported and it was decided to send the commission merchants of the city a letter asking them to refrain from the practice of selling direct to consumers. This matter came up a year or more ago and at that time a truce was patched up, the commission men agreeting to confine them-selves to the seiling of goods to dealers, but It is said that they have not held to their agreement.
