The unwonted activity was due to a report generally circulated that six head of fine horses had been stolen in Hazel Dell township on Sunday night. The horses were taken from the Osborne farm from a pasture. The wholesale stealing exasperated the farmers and runners were sent to notify the members and runners were sent to notify the members of the old association in adjoining townships that their services were needed once more The members of the Farmers' Mutual Protection association also took an interest in the matter and took steps to put their ma-chinery into working order. Before any sus-pected horse thieves were taken into custody word was received that the missing horses had been recovered.

CATTLEMEN SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES

New Herds Driven in and Pastured on Hay Lands Which the Old-Timers Compel Them to Vacate.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., June 8 .- (Special.)

-A miniature war has been averted in the calls of the freight bureaus of Cincinnati, ceded Sloux lands west of here by the action Philadelphia, Nashville and Memphis, with of some cattle owners in removing cattle other bureaus since co-operating, the subject | from lake beds in answer to the demands of of railway pooling legislation was discussed stockmen. It has always been the custom periodic rumors from Casper, Wyo., and from at a large meeting here today. Delegates were of cattlemen to keep their herds out of take the beds during the summer months. Although there are hundreds of cattlemen owning herds which graze on the ceded Sloux land ranges never until recently has this practice been violated. About May 1 some cattlemen from east of the Missouri river moved a herd of about 1,000 head of cattle to the ranges west of the river, and instead of locating them on some stream where both feed | mine rank with the great bonanzas of the and water were abundant, they drove them camp. Their claim is adjacent to the fainto the largest lake beds, and since that time have close herded them there. The cattlemen who live in that region, and who expect to winter their cattle there, came to the conclusion a few days ago that if the herd were permitted to remain in the lake beds the hay crop would be destroyed, and they would be short of feed for their cattle about seventeen miles from this place, renext winter. Accordingly about fifty of the indignant cattlemen met at a ranch on the White river and proceeded in a body to the lake beds, where the cattle were. The forman was notified to move the cattle, but he having no substitute that the cattle were the cattle with a pay streak of four two ounces to the ton. The owners will at once let contracts for several were will at man was notified to move the cattle, but he having no authority, a delegation was sent to the owners of the animals, and gave them until noon, June 3, to move the herd. The owners disclaimed any intention of interfering with the regular steekman and here. fering with the regular stockmen, and have now moved their herd to the prairie, where the grazing is equally as good as in the lake

JACKSON'S HOLE, Wyo., June 8 .- (Speclal.)-Lieutenant F. G. Irwin, the newly appointed agent of the Bancock Indian reservation, has written a letter to the game warden of the Jackson's Hole region stating that it is pyobable that as soon as the snow leaves the mountains some of his Indians probably go to the hole to hunt; that he will take every precaution possible to pre-He suggests that an effective way of preventing a large number from coming is to arrest and put in jall the first ones who put in an appearance. The suggestion is a good one and will be acted upon by the officers of the region although it involves great work and expense, as the Indians when ar-rested have to be transported several hundred miles across the mountains to the county seat at Evanston before they can be tried and sent to jail. The officers here will suggest to the agent that he disarm the Bannocks, which will effectually prevent them from coming here to hunt. dians are afraid to come here to hunt except in large numbers, and if they come in a body and resist arrest the settlers will undoubtedly organize and assist the officers and serious trouble for the Indians will be
