PARIS, June 13 .- An attempt was made today to assassinate Felix Faure, president of the French republic, while he was en route to Long Champs to witness the Grand While M. Faure's carriage was passing a thicket near La Cascade restaurant, in the Bois de Bologne, a bomb, which subsequently proved to be a piece of tubing about six inches long and two inches in diameter, with a thickness of half an inch, charged with powder and swan shot, exploded.

No one was injured by the explosion. A man in the crowd, suspected as the prime mover, was arrested. He gave his name as Gallet and made only the briefest replies to questions put to him by the police. Gallet said he had no occupation, but resided at Levallers-Perret. The police are making a thorough search of his lodgings. He is believed to be insane, for he shouted as the carriage passed along so loudly as to attract general attention in the crowd. The police have also made another arrest, in this case a youth, but it is thought probnote that the actual culprit escaped.

The news of the attempt spread like wildfire through the city and when M. Faure returned to the Elysce the streets along the route where it was known he would drive were crowded with people who cheered him vociferously. NO PISTOL SHOT.

It was at first reported that the assassing was a young man about 25, who stood in the crowd a hundred yards or more from the race course and discharged a pistol at M. Faure as he drove up to the entrance and there was a subsequent report that both pistol and bomb were used. But the police now believe that the supposed pistol shot was merely the noise of the bomb. The bomb was a clumsily-made affair, to The bomb was a clumsity-made affair, to which a piece of fuse was attached, and the fuse was probably lighted by a paper fixed in the end of a stick as soon as the head of the procession came into view. The presumption is that at the moment the fuse was tabled to add to the fuse was tabled. was lighted the culprit fled, and in any case the bomb could not have done much harm In the thicket, where the police found the remnants of the bomb, they found also a plated upon which were engraved the words, "Mort A. Felix Faure," and the names "Alsace-Lorraine" and "Cologne." Near the plated was a small dagger, bearing a similar threatening inscription, and a few away the police found a newspaper with a cartoon grossly insulting to the president. This contained an offensive inscription, hinting at the execution of M. Faure. POLICEMAN ROUGHLY HANDLED. Several persons have stated to the police several persons have stated to the police that the moment the explosion occurred a man was seen to run swiftly into the thicket, but reports of this character are likely to be mere conjecture. The correspondent of the Associated press had an interview with an official who was riding with M. Faure. The official said:

"When the report was heard a dense cloud of smoke rose from the thicket and there was consternation until it was found that no one had been injured. The police sprang forward, but found the thicket deserted. When the crowd saw one of the pe licemen holding the bomb, they fumped to of the outrage and handled him roughly clubbing him with heavy walking sticks and umbrellas until his comrades rescued him. badly bruised and covered with blood. president's cortege then proceeded to the ing on suspicion of complicity in the explesion, among them two brothers, Galbet and Lauvin Gainter. They were closely question by M. Atalien, the examining magistrate, but as they gave satisfactory accounts of themselves and their movements they were released about midnight. SPOT IS HISTORIC.

Today'e attempt on the life of M. Faure was made on the very spot where Berezowsky tried to shoot the czar while driving to the military review at Long Champs in 1867. and where Francois, a lunatic, fired his revolver at M. Faure on July 14 last. Having this in mind, the police took extra pre cautions. Special officers were detailed to watch suspects and to search houses known to be the resorts of dangerous characters. It is rumored that the prefect of polices information connecting the Paris an archists with the outrage, but it is generally believed that the act was that of a madman rather than a conspirator. The pistol found by the police was loaded, but was of too small a calibre to be very dangerous. EMILY CRAWFORD'S STORY.

LONDON, June 14.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says: M. Faure behaved with perfect self-command and continued to bow right and left to the crowd after the explesion, as if nothing unusual thad happened. The bomb exploded at 2:05 p. m. in the Avenue des Accacias, at the far end, where this fastionable drive issues far end, where this fashionable drive issues from the shelter of sycamores and planer trees into the broad Long Champs plain The roadway had been cleared for some time.
The presidential escort was led by two dragoons holding their pistols forward in the most threatening way.
Then came a large pody of dragoons, and after them, in the midst of a cloud of dust, the president's open carriage with outriders. The president was accom-panied by his wife, while in another car-riage were his two daughters, Mile. Lucie Faure and Mme. Derbe. The horses at-tached to M. Faure's carriage reared wildly at the explosion, but were whipped on by Montjarret's vigorous arm. Rousteaux, the detective who is always with the president, rushed forward and grappled with a man, but was immediately set upon by a half dozen persons in the crowd, probably accomplices of the assessin. The crowd mistook the detective for an anarchist, and were about to lynch him. He was beaten, spat upon, etc., and not rescued until he had received a terrible beating, and was almost unconscious. M. Faure sent an officer this evening to inquire as to the condition of

REPORT IS NOT YET CONFIRMED. American Syndlence to Establish Thread Mills at Paisley.

PAISLEY, Scotland, June 12 -- it is runored here that an American syndicate is seeking a site for thread milis, but careful inquiries among the leading mea of the lown all to elicit any definite information. Nothing positive is known.

GLASGOW, June 13.-The most careful inquiries among the leading cotton dealers do fice has received from Captain Stouch of the not justify a confirmation or a contradiction. Tongue River (Mont.) agency a detailed reof the report that an American syndicate has completed arrangements whereby it will shortly begin the operations of large thread mills at Paleley to compete with the thread manufacturing establishment of J. and P. Coats & Co. It is generally admitted that the high prices now prevailing would offer tempting inducement to such an enter rise, but the opinion of those best qualified o Judge is that the project would be venturesome, owing to the wide connection on loyed by the thread manufacturers of Pain ley. If an opposition to the thread industry were threatened it is thought that the American's would be more likely to begin operations at home for it is known that arrangements are almost completed for a thread agency here absorbing the Williman-tic (Conn.) mills. As the Mile End Spool company's works were acquired some time ago, it follows that there is now only one important mill on the other side.

Split Over Color of Surplice, NEW YORK, June 13.—The Reformed Episcopalians will tomorrow take up the matter of the revision of the calendar, with the probability that it will be referred to the meeting of the council next year in Baltimore. The success of the advocates of the academical robe, over those who wished to wear either that or the surplice, has not resulted in the defection that was at first feared would follow. Bishop Cheney has already reconsidered his resignation, and it is thought will withdraw it tomorrow when the council reconvenes. SHERIFF MADE THE TROUBLE

Indians Had No Desire to Fight the Federal Soldiers.

OFFICIAL REPORT FROM TONGUE RIVER

Captain Stouch, the Agent, Shows a Constant Conflict with the State Authorities_Hoover's Sinyers Are Arrested.

WASHINGTON, June 13 .- The Indian of-Tongue River (Mont.) agency a detailed report on the recent trouble there arising from the murder of settler John Hoover by David Stanley, a Cheyenne brave. After much diplomacy on the part of the agent, Stanley and his two accomplices. Sam Crow and Yellow Hair, are now todged in fail at Miles City and will be tried by the civil courts.

Captain Stouch's description of the trouble s interesting in that it shows the constant confilet between the federal officers and the state authorities in arrests of Indians. In this case the presence of the sheriff and a large posse came near causing a conflict with the Indians. The report states that acon after Hoover's body was found, on May 23, Captain Stouch eent for White Bull and some of the head men, being satisfied that it was his band which committed the murder. The old chief came in response to the summon and expressed his regret at the occurrence. Captain Stouch told him to tell the head men that the band would be held responsible for the murder unlers they discovered the real culprit and brought him to the p et. This they agreed to do, and an old Indian named Badger made the prophetic remark, "I promise the agent, I find out, and try to find out if it is my own son." It turned out to be the con of the old brave who killed Hoover. This conference took place on the 27th of

May and that same day Sheriff Gibb of Custer county and a bind of twenty-five armed men rode up to the agency and in-formed Captain Stouch that they wanted the murderers. The agent replied that he was doing everything possible to discover and arrest the guilty Indians and if not interfered with was confident that he would ed. The sheriff left four deputies and

To this the agent replied that he would not allow the fight, but that the chiefs must compel Stanley to give himself proper, to seven inches at Calicut, district of Madras, has been continuous for the last twenty-four hours. The winds are normal, and there is every prospect for the advance of the rain northward.

Leopold Agrees with the Scheme. while the bucks rode in and stationed them selves on the hilliops near the post buildings They were all heavily armed and had their horses. They informed the agent that they had come to see Stanley fight. Captain

Stouch then says:
"Captain Read returned to the agency with his command at about 2:30 in the after-noon. At this time Stanley was en a high hill in the rear of the agency and not at a citizens, meaning the deputy sheriffs who were here. I told him to go back and tell Stanley I would not allow anyone to fight him and for him to come in and surrender. Deputy Sheriff Smith told me he would at-tempt his capture if I would guarantee his safety from the other Indians. I told him I could not so guarantee, and moreover there would be no fight and that Stanley must be captured without any bloodshed. I wanted this done as an emample for these amongst the Indians who contemplate wrong doing, and I knew perfectly well that if he were permitted to fight and was killed he would e a hero and brave in the eyes of the trib whose example should be emulated by the FEAR TO MAKE A HERO. 'Stanley followed in the footsteps of Head Chief and Crazy Mule, of whose heroic deaths stories are told around the fires, making very young man anxious for a similar death. I believe it was in 1891 that these two young men killed a white boy and hid the body in the hills, where it was found after a search of several days. The murderers were discovered through their boasting of the deed; their surrender was demanded, but it was refused, though they were willing to be killed and would die fighting. Their proposal was accepted and the five troops of cavalry stationed here were ordered to prepare for the affray. At the appointed time the troops took their station in the rear of the agency buildings, and each young man took his position on a hill on either side of the troops, the young men charged down the hills on their horses upon the troops, singing their death songs, and firing at the soldiers. They were finally killed they only shooting a few of the horses of the soldiers. Stones mark the footsteps of the horses on the hillsides and the bodie of the "braves" were buried in a grave pre pared for them beforehand. The squaw leath songs and urged the bucks to avenge the death of the young men. The men be ame very much excited and notwithstanding the presence of the five troops of cavalry a fight was narrowly averted. Thus these two coung men became 'heroce' and to prevent repetition of these incidents I forbade any fighting.

"I did not think it wise and prudent to make the attempt with but two troops of cavalry here. While I believe the Indians were not disposed to resist the capture of Stanley, still there was no telling what they would do when one of their people was being fired upon. Had they made a resistance there is no telling where it would have ended. They can muster almost 500 warriors and knowing of their disposition to resist in 1891, when much weaker than now, thought two troops of cavalry would not stand much show of overcoming these war-riors, whose fierceness is noted.

"About this time, from remarks made to be by the Indians and by their actions, I became convinced that the Indians were afraid of the deputy sheriffs because they could not understand why they were here, they not knowing the difference between the epresentatives of the law and the cowboys. This rendered them very close mouthed and was unable to get any information from hem that would answer for evidence against Stanley when he was brought to trial."

As the presence of the deputy sheriffs interfered with his investigation. Captain Stouch asserted his authority and ordered the deputies off the reservation.

STANLEY'S SURRENDER By this time Stanley had disappeare!. After much trouble he was located at Black Eagle's camp. Captain Stouch immediately started for the camp and there found the brave, fully armed, and still disinclined to surrender without a fight. Finally he consented to accompany the agent back to the post, still refusing to give up his arms. He was there persuaded to give up his rifle and when the agency was reached he was promptly locked up. In the meantime Sheriff Gibbs returned and presented Captain Stouch with a warrant for his arrest for violating the state laws to interfering with the sheriff in his attempt to arrest the Indian. Then the sheriff demanded the person of Stauley, but the agent positively refused to deliver him up, feeling that it would defeat the ends of justice, as he hoped to secure from the prisoner evi-dence which would lead to the sprahension he hoped to secure from the prisoner cyl-dence which would lead to the aprahension of his accomplices. The sheriff departed, but James river, opposite this city.

again left his deputies. Finally, after much parley, Captain Stouch became convinced that it was useless to hold the murderer longer, and turned him over to the sheriff, sending an escort of cavalry with him to the The report deals with the difficulties thrown around him by the interference of the state officials at great length, and concludes by recommending that is view of the dis-turbed condition of the settlers two troops of cavalry be stationed at Tongue River.

Yellow Hair and Sam Crow were arrested y Captain Stouch after his report had been mailed. The tone of the report throughout indicates that it was the presence of the sheriff's posse that groused the Indians. They are unable to distinguish their hereditary enemy, the cowboy, from the same individual clothed with a sheriff's powers, and was these men and not the soldiers that Stanley wanted to fight.

URGES GOVERNOR TANNER TO SIGN. Scuator Cullom Wires from Washing-

The bill has been in the governor's hands for some days, but he has not yet signed it on account, as it is alleged, that the appro-oriations made by the legislature exceed the mit as fixed by law. However, nothing is to be left undone to recure the governor's approval, and accordingly Senator Thurston and Mr. Rosewater had a long talk today with Senator Shelby M. Cuslom, with a view of enlisting his help in securing the ap-proval of the appropriation. As the result the following telegram was sent to Governor Tanper:

WATCHING FOR FILIBUSTERS.

Spain Notifies State Department of an Expedition About to Start. WASHINGTON, June 13 .- The Treasury department has received by reference from the secretary of state a communication from the Spanish minister to the effect that he has information that an important filibust-ering expedition is being organized on the coast of Florida and asks that steps be taken to frustrate it. No particulars are given, so that all the action that could be taken by the department was to communicate this information to all collectors and masters of the patrol fleet on the Florida coast, with instructions to be on the alert to prevent the departure of an expected expedition. This was done today by telegraph.

It developed later that the department has specific information of a shipment of arms and ammunition for what promises to be one of the most important filibustering expeditions for several months. A carload of arms left Jacksonville Friday morning by the Florida East Coast raffroad and passed near Smyrna southbound. A second car-load of rifles and dynamite left Jacksonville Saturday morning on the regular freight train with the probable purpose of transferring to some vessel on the east coast, probably the yacht Valusia, which has been engaged to transfer these munitions from the railways to the vessel destined for Cuba. It is probable that the vessel which will receive these arms will not come close to

W. Morton Smith is well known in Omaha at managing editor of the Omaha Republican during the prehibition campaign of 1899. Prior to that time he had been correspondent for that paper at Lincoln, and after the collapse of the Republican he returned to Lincoln, where he formed a campany and purchased the patriotism of the American Jew, he detected temporary officers, Judge philip Stein being chosen chairman. Judge philip Stein advised an intelligent discussion of affairs of importance which would come before the convention, tending to promote its welfare and prosperity. Grand Masier that time he had been correspondent for that paper at Lincoln, and after the collapse of the Republican he returned to Lincoln, where he formed a campany and purchased the patriotism of the American Jew, he detailed the various advantages of the order, tailed the various advantages of the order. saying that in spite of the stagnation of in-dustry the order had flourished, and had son left unwatched. now a reserve fund of nearly $1,000,000.

He said if the order had accomplished nothing else than the thorough Americanization of scotland yard. She is very fond of him of ito members, this achievement alone would stamp it as the educator of the people, and the benefits derived would thus be incalculable to the nation. CHARGE WHOLESALE CORRUPTION.

Populist Members of Kansas Bribery Committee Agree on a Report. TOPEKA, Knn., June 13.—The legislative soodle and bribery investigation committee wound up its business yesterday and ad lourned. Majority and minority reports were submitted to Governor Leedy. The majority report is signed by Householder, Cooke and Outcast, populies members, and the minority by Grimes, republican. The majority report charges wholesale corruption on the part of a well organized corporation lobby and cer-tain legislators during the recent session, de clares that the will of the people had been thwarted by the vote-selling process, recom-mends the passage of an anti-lobby law and requests the governor to call a special ses-sion of the legislature so that some acts may be passed regulating corporations.

Representative Grimes, in his minority re-port, intimates that there was not so much boodling done during the legislature as there was perjury on the witness stand before the ommittee. He says that members of on faction of the populist party perjured them-selves in order to smirch the members of another faction. The names of legislators implicated are emitted by both reports.
