

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE

E. ROSEWATER, Editor.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Daily (with Sunday), One Year, $10.00; Six Months, $6.00; Three Months, $3.50; Single Copies, 10c.

Advertisement rates: One square, first week, 10c; second week, 8c; third week, 7c; fourth week, 6c; per line thereafter, 5c.

Copyright notice: All rights reserved.

Published by E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Printed at the Bee Press, Omaha, Neb.

Subscription information: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Advertising information: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Business notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Real estate notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Professional notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Public notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

General notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Lost and found notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

Legal notices: Send orders to E. Rosewater & Co., Omaha, Neb.

WHAT ABOUT THE BONDS?

The action of the lawyers for the defense in the Bartley case in objecting to the admission of evidence bearing on certain bonds on the ground that these bonds are not valid or binding opens up a serious question for the taxpayers of Nebraska. While the contention of the lawyers is by no means to be admitted, it gives an indication of the course that will be taken should the state ever attempt to recover from the sureties. When the official bond filed by ex-Treasurer Bartley at the time he qualified for his second term was offered in court, objection was entered on the ground that not having been approved within the statutory time limit for filing the bond is null and of no effect. Similarly when the bond of the depository bank through which Bartley's questionable transactions were conducted was presented for identification, objection was again made, the reason alleged being that the instrument had not been signed and executed according to law. In both cases the beneficiaries of the bonds had secured all the advantages accruing from them. Ex-Treasurer Bartley had held office by virtue of qualification based on the instrument and the bank had accepted state money which it could receive only on security of its depository bond. Yet notwithstanding all this, their attorneys now come into court and plead the bonds' illegality and invalidity.

Costly experience has taught us that the signers of official and depository bonds will never hesitate to hide behind technicalities to avoid the obligations which they voluntarily assumed. With this knowledge in our possession it becomes of the utmost importance that before approving them the authorities make sure all such bonds are drawn and executed strictly in accordance with the provisions of the law. A thorough examination of the bonds under which public funds were held, or banking institutions having custody of public funds would certainly do no harm and might do much good. The intention of the law requiring bonded security for the safe keeping of public money is that the state have recourse to the sureties to make good possible losses. It is but fair to our taxpaying citizens that the intention of the law be enforced and observed.

IN THE ENEMY'S COUNTRY.

It is not easy to understand why Mr. Bryan should have invaded Canada to preach his free silver doctrine, for it is hardly conceivable that he could have seriously hoped to make any converts there to his cause, at least among those who exert any influence upon public opinion, and if he were to make converts it is not apparent how they could help his cause. So far as known there are no silverites of the Bryan kind in the Dominion and if there are any they are not asserting themselves. The people of Canada are as a whole perfectly satisfied with their financial system and it would be next to impossible to induce them to make any change in it. Besides, why should Mr. Bryan concern himself about financial opinion in Canada? His proposition is that the United States shall resume the free coinage of silver regardless of any other nation, and especially of the British nation. Therefore his lecturing on free silver to the people of a British colony seems incongruous.

But Mr. Bryan was well received in Canada and had large audiences, which treated him with courtesy and cordiality. A correspondent at Ottawa of the Springfield Republican says of the welcome accorded Mr. Bryan that it was "not because the people believe in his financial doctrines, or have any desire to be turned from the principles that prevail in Canada with respect to currency and banking, but because Mr. Bryan is something of a curiosity, with a rather interesting record." This same frank correspondent says that Mr. Bryan was disappointing as a speaker. We are informed that he "entertained his audience," but "as a speaker he was not up to the expectation of many who had heard so much about the 'boy orator.'" It was the opinion of many "that in diction, in style, in clearness of expression, in all that pertained to the use of good sound English he was far below the standard of public speaking heard from our own parliamentary leaders; and as for his argument it was felt that Mr. Bryan was better able to obscure a question in a haze of plausible generalities than to lead his hearers up to clear and well-established conclusions." We learn further that the general feeling was that Mr. Bryan "was a capital stump speaker."

It is obviously from these expressions of the wholly disinterested correspondent of the Republican that Mr. Bryan did not greatly impress the Canadians who heard him, because he is "something of a curiosity," either as an orator or as an exponent of financial principles and indeed this is the testimony of the leading papers. Certainly Mr. Bryan's fame in these respects has not been increased or improved by his invasion of Canada.

THE MONEY SUPPLY.

In his speech advocating export bounties on agricultural products Senator Cannon said that the chief cause of low prices was the contraction of "the thing with which we measure commodities." "That thing created by law called money," said the Utah senator, "is not now sufficient to do the measuring of today and as we can get nothing without it except we have a sufficient volume of money with which to measure it." It is needless to say that Mr. Cannon is an advocate of the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

There is no truth in the statement that there has been a contraction in the supply of money. The last monthly bulletin of the government, estimating the amount and kinds of money circulating in the United States, shows that as compared with the statement of June 1, 1886, the total money supply outside the holdings of the treasury has increased $128,000,000, or nearly 9 per cent. Of this amount over $27,000,000 was in silver dollars coined. This large addition to the supply of money is shown in the accompa-

THE ORGAN OF CALAMITY.

Two Weeks' Wails from the World-Herald of Perpetual Hard Times.

World-Herald, June 1: A number of republican organs are now denying that they said prosperity would come with a rush as soon as McKinley was elected, and that if they did say it the people were fools for believing it, and that it is true that they said it and that events have justified them, and that if they did say it it was unkind in the opposition to remind them of it, and that if they really said it it is nobody's business.

World-Herald, June 2: The engineer of the property locomotive has had ample time to learn the difference between the throttle and the air brake lever.

World-Herald, June 3: The man who voted the republican ticket with the expectation of seeing the prosperity promised feels very much like the man who took down his stove on May 1 and put in a refrigerator.

World-Herald, June 4: We hope that the republican authorities on property will hasten to get together. It is trying on our nerves to feel like a millionaire after reading a republican editorial, only to be cast penniless upon the shores of adversity by the speech of some rectorized republican leader.

World-Herald, June 5: That forerunner of prosperity shows a disposition to waste too much time jockeying at the starting point.

World-Herald, June 6: The advance agent is fortunate in having an ironical contract for four years.

World-Herald, June 7: The gold standard idea of insisting that property is at hand is doubtless inspired by a recollection of Uncle Remus' rabbit. Uncle Remus said, "Brer rabbit climb or tree," and when his little friend remarked that a rabbit could not climb a tree, Uncle Remus dismissed the subject with the remark: "But his here rabbit 'uz had ter climb or tree." The gold standard organs realize that "prosperity has got to come or they are lost."

World-Herald, June 8: The chief trouble with the "advance agents" show is that the orchestra is spending entirely too much time on the overture.

World-Herald, June 9: The man who is most patiently waiting for McKinley prosperity is putting in his time perfecting his perpetual motion machine.

World-Herald, June 10: If our republican friends were in earnest in their assertions that prosperity is coming they would make haste to levy a tariff duty upon it. Such an elegant opportunity would never be wasted by a genuine republican.

World-Herald, June 11: All the animaliversions of gold standard organs can not conceal the real situation. Prosperity has not come to the country at large and there are no signs of its coming.

World-Herald, June 12: That wave of prosperity seems to be afflicted with an awful undertow.

HOW MUCH LONGER, PRAY?

Urgency of Police Reorganization Illustrated by Cleveland Murder.

Western Laborer. We said some time ago that the police force should be reorganized at once, but little heed was paid to our suggestion. The instance again of Captain King's failure to commit the fact of him sending one man out to capture a gang of burglars is sufficient evidence of his incompetency and lack of common judgment, and leaves no more to be said on the subject. We would suggest that the commissioners order another stripe on his arm and one on his pants, as a recognition of his shrewd and gallant services.

Now that Officer Tidman is dead perhaps the very conservative police commissioners will think it is time they do something to protect the public. There is not a crook or thug in the country but knows what kind of old women and "dubs" officer our police force. The chief and his staff are living examples of incompetency and stupidity, and the conservatism of the commissioners has maintained at the expense of human life and innumerable "hold-ups." We would ask these conservative gentlemen how long, in God's name, is this state of things to continue?

AMERICA INVADING ENGLAND.

The Latter Striving to Approach American Superiority.

The fact that the American manufacturers are displacing those of home production is becoming more and more apparent to both producers and consumers in England and the former class is much disturbed by it. Greater cheapness and superior quality, in some cases the one and in some the other, and not seldom the two combined, explain why the American article is preferred to the domestic.

One thing Congress can do, and that is to cut its appropriations to the revenues of the country. Without distressing the whole country, the right and proper appropriation can be cut to two by providing only for the completion of the works under contract. Unless we are forced into a war with Spain America and the world are in danger.

Overruling the Supreme Court.

Lawyer McClure, speaking for the coal trust at Albany the other day, asserted that the constitution of the United States forbade restraints on contracts which restrict competition so long as those contracts were reasonable. On March 22 last the supreme court of the United States declared that a contract in restraint of competition is illegal and void, "regardless of the question whether such agreement is reasonable or the reverse."

Huge Monument of Prodigality.

The cost of the completed capitol at Albany, with the central tower left out, foots up $23,000,000, twice as much as that of the national capitol, and more than that of the golden house of Nero, or the Delian palace of Diocletian, or the white house of George—in fact, exceeding all precedents of expenditure. If the pyramids and a few other giant constructions of antiquity be left out of the list. When the last stone is finally laid and the last bill for construction liquidated there would be a huge monument of prodigality and corruption, whose elevation to posterity would be a disgrace to the nation.

People and President.

The generous welcome which the people of the south have extended to the president in the course of his journey from Washington to Nashville were highly gratifying. The demonstration manifested there would be the presidential party passed were indicative of the confidence felt by the people in the patriotism and integrity of the man who occupies the office of president. They prove, moreover, that the prejudices which have heretofore maintained the sectional bias of the south are fast disappearing, and that a broader patriotism that recognizes the interest in the prosperity of the country, the cordial reception of President McKinley in the Virginia city is a future and there is at this respect and gratifying because means better things for the future of the country.

THE ORGAN OF CALAMITY.

Two Weeks' Wails from the World-Herald of Perpetual Hard Times.

World-Herald, June 1: A number of republican organs are now denying that they said prosperity would come with a rush as soon as McKinley was elected, and that if they did say it the people were fools for believing it, and that it is true that they said it and that events have justified them, and that if they did say it it was unkind in the opposition to remind them of it, and that if they really said it it is nobody's business.

World-Herald, June 2: The engineer of the property locomotive has had ample time to learn the difference between the throttle and the air brake lever.

World-Herald, June 3: The man who voted the republican ticket with the expectation of seeing the prosperity promised feels very much like the man who took down his stove on May 1 and put in a refrigerator.

World-Herald, June 4: We hope that the republican authorities on property will hasten to get together. It is trying on our nerves to feel like a millionaire after reading a republican editorial, only to be cast penniless upon the shores of adversity by the speech of some rectorized republican leader.

World-Herald, June 5: That forerunner of prosperity shows a disposition to waste too much time jockeying at the starting point.

World-Herald, June 6: The advance agent is fortunate in having an ironical contract for four years.

World-Herald, June 7: The gold standard idea of insisting that property is at hand is doubtless inspired by a recollection of Uncle Remus' rabbit. Uncle Remus said, "Brer rabbit climb or tree," and when his little friend remarked that a rabbit could not climb a tree, Uncle Remus dismissed the subject with the remark: "But his here rabbit 'uz had ter climb or tree." The gold standard organs realize that "prosperity has got to come or they are lost."

World-Herald, June 8: The chief trouble with the "advance agents" show is that the orchestra is spending entirely too much time on the overture.

World-Herald, June 9: The man who is most patiently waiting for McKinley prosperity is putting in his time perfecting his perpetual motion machine.

World-Herald, June 10: If our republican friends were in earnest in their assertions that prosperity is coming they would make haste to levy a tariff duty upon it. Such an elegant opportunity would never be wasted by a genuine republican.

World-Herald, June 11: All the animaliversions of gold standard organs can not conceal the real situation. Prosperity has not come to the country at large and there are no signs of its coming.

World-Herald, June 12: That wave of prosperity seems to be afflicted with an awful undertow.

HOW MUCH LONGER, PRAY?

Urgency of Police Reorganization Illustrated by Cleveland Murder.

Western Laborer. We said some time ago that the police force should be reorganized at once, but little heed was paid to our suggestion. The instance again of Captain King's failure to commit the fact of him sending one man out to capture a gang of burglars is sufficient evidence of his incompetency and lack of common judgment, and leaves no more to be said on the subject. We would suggest that the commissioners order another stripe on his arm and one on his pants, as a recognition of his shrewd and gallant services.

Now that Officer Tidman is dead perhaps the very conservative police commissioners will think it is time they do something to protect the public. There is not a crook or thug in the country but knows what kind of old women and "dubs" officer our police force. The chief and his staff are living examples of incompetency and stupidity, and the conservatism of the commissioners has maintained at the expense of human life and innumerable "hold-ups." We would ask these conservative gentlemen how long, in God's name, is this state of things to continue?

AMERICA INVADING ENGLAND.

The Latter Striving to Approach American Superiority.

The fact that the American manufacturers are displacing those of home production is becoming more and more apparent to both producers and consumers in England and the former class is much disturbed by it. Greater cheapness and superior quality, in some cases the one and in some the other, and not seldom the two combined, explain why the American article is preferred to the domestic.

One thing Congress can do, and that is to cut its appropriations to the revenues of the country. Without distressing the whole country, the right and proper appropriation can be cut to two by providing only for the completion of the works under contract. Unless we are forced into a war with Spain America and the world are in danger.

Overruling the Supreme Court.

Lawyer McClure, speaking for the coal trust at Albany the other day, asserted that the constitution of the United States forbade restraints on contracts which restrict competition so long as those contracts were reasonable. On March 22 last the supreme court of the United States declared that a contract in restraint of competition is illegal and void, "regardless of the question whether such agreement is reasonable or the reverse."

Huge Monument of Prodigality.

The cost of the completed capitol at Albany, with the central tower left out, foots up $23,000,000, twice as much as that of the national capitol, and more than that of the golden house of Nero, or the Delian palace of Diocletian, or the white house of George—in fact, exceeding all precedents of expenditure. If the pyramids and a few other giant constructions of antiquity be left out of the list. When the last stone is finally laid and the last bill for construction liquidated there would be a huge monument of prodigality and corruption, whose elevation to posterity would be a disgrace to the nation.

People and President.

The generous welcome which the people of the south have extended to the president in the course of his journey from Washington to Nashville were highly gratifying. The demonstration manifested there would be the presidential party passed were indicative of the confidence felt by the people in the patriotism and integrity of the man who occupies the office of president. They prove, moreover, that the prejudices which have heretofore maintained the sectional bias of the south are fast disappearing, and that a broader patriotism that recognizes the interest in the prosperity of the country, the cordial reception of President McKinley in the Virginia city is a future and there is at this respect and gratifying because means better things for the future of the country.

THE ORGAN OF CALAMITY.

Two Weeks' Wails from the World-Herald of Perpetual Hard Times.

World-Herald, June 1: A number of republican organs are now denying that they said prosperity would come with a rush as soon as McKinley was elected, and that if they did say it the people were fools for believing it, and that it is true that they said it and that events have justified them, and that if they did say it it was unkind in the opposition to remind them of it, and that if they really said it it is nobody's business.

World-Herald, June 2: The engineer of the property locomotive has had ample time to learn the difference between the throttle and the air brake lever.

World-Herald, June 3: The man who voted the republican ticket with the expectation of seeing the prosperity promised feels very much like the man who took down his stove on May 1 and put in a refrigerator.

World-Herald, June 4: We hope that the republican authorities on property will hasten to get together. It is trying on our nerves to feel like a millionaire after reading a republican editorial, only to be cast penniless upon the shores of adversity by the speech of some rectorized republican leader.

World-Herald, June 5: That forerunner of prosperity shows a disposition to waste too much time jockeying at the starting point.

World-Herald, June 6: The advance agent is fortunate in having an ironical contract for four years.

World-Herald, June 7: The gold standard idea of insisting that property is at hand is doubtless inspired by a recollection of Uncle Remus' rabbit. Uncle Remus said, "Brer rabbit climb or tree," and when his little friend remarked that a rabbit could not climb a tree, Uncle Remus dismissed the subject with the remark: "But his here rabbit 'uz had ter climb or tree." The gold standard organs realize that "prosperity has got to come or they are lost."

World-Herald, June 8: The chief trouble with the "advance agents" show is that the orchestra is spending entirely too much time on the overture.

World-Herald, June 9: The man who is most patiently waiting for McKinley prosperity is putting in his time perfecting his perpetual motion machine.

World-Herald, June 10: If our republican friends were in earnest in their assertions that prosperity is coming they would make haste to levy a tariff duty upon it. Such an elegant opportunity would never be wasted by a genuine republican.

World-Herald, June 11: All the animaliversions of gold standard organs can not conceal the real situation. Prosperity has not come to the country at large and there are no signs of its coming.

World-Herald, June 12: That wave of prosperity seems to be afflicted with an awful undertow.

HOW MUCH LONGER, PRAY?

Urgency of Police Reorganization Illustrated by Cleveland Murder.

Western Laborer. We said some time ago that the police force should be reorganized at once, but little heed was paid to our suggestion. The instance again of Captain King's failure to commit the fact of him sending one man out to capture a gang of burglars is sufficient evidence of his incompetency and lack of common judgment, and leaves no more to be said on the subject. We would suggest that the commissioners order another stripe on his arm and one on his pants, as a recognition of his shrewd and gallant services.

Now that Officer Tidman is dead perhaps the very conservative police commissioners will think it is time they do something to protect the public. There is not a crook or thug in the country but knows what kind of old women and "dubs" officer our police force. The chief and his staff are living examples of incompetency and stupidity, and the conservatism of the commissioners has maintained at the expense of human life and innumerable "hold-ups." We would ask these conservative gentlemen how long, in God's name, is this state of things to continue?

AMERICA INVADING ENGLAND.

The Latter Striving to Approach American Superiority.

The fact that the American manufacturers are displacing those of home production is becoming more and more apparent to both producers and consumers in England and the former class is much disturbed by it. Greater cheapness and superior quality, in some cases the one and in some the other, and not seldom the two combined, explain why the American article is preferred to the domestic.

One thing Congress can do, and that is to cut its appropriations to the revenues of the country. Without distressing the whole country, the right and proper appropriation can be cut to two by providing only for the completion of the works under contract. Unless we are forced into a war with Spain America and the world are in danger.

Overruling the Supreme Court.

Lawyer McClure, speaking for the coal trust at Albany the other day, asserted that the constitution of the United States forbade restraints on contracts which restrict competition so long as those contracts were reasonable. On March 22 last the supreme court of the United States declared that a contract in restraint of competition is illegal and void, "regardless of the question whether such agreement is reasonable or the reverse."

Huge Monument of Prodigality.

The cost of the completed capitol at Albany, with the central tower left out, foots up $23,000,000, twice as much as that of the national capitol, and more than that of the golden house of Nero, or the Delian palace of Diocletian, or the white house of George—in fact, exceeding all precedents of expenditure. If the pyramids and a few other giant constructions of antiquity be left out of the list. When the last stone is finally laid and the last bill for construction liquidated there would be a huge monument of prodigality and corruption, whose elevation to posterity would be a disgrace to the nation.

People and President.

The generous welcome which the people of the south have extended to the president in the course of his journey from Washington to Nashville were highly gratifying. The demonstration manifested there would be the presidential party passed were indicative of the confidence