men in the water, the testimony of survivors of that doomed ship is that a whole boatload of pilgrims trying to escape were literally devoured by sharks before their eyes. COARSE TALK IN PARLIAMENT The Member of Parliament has been making heretofore thoroughly ridiculous this week. On Wednesday the first bill on the calendar was entitled "The Verminous Piousness Bill." Its object was to give local authorities power to cleanse verminous persons. The next bill was one to compel plumbers to register for a certificate of efficiency. The third was to give parliamentary suffrage to women.

LONDON, July 10.—(New York World Telegram—Special Telegram.)—Lewis Sussman, Chasler has not been chosen by the Parnellite to fill the Roscommon vacancy in Parliament. His candidacy would have had the support of John Redmond, but the local Parnellites selected John Hayden, a brother-in-law of the member who died to stand in the Parnellite interest. Mr. Dillon will not put a candidate against Hayden, because Hayden is a home ruler of Parnell's old guard. He will be re-elected, Chasler was not named at the convention, it being seen that the local people were firm for Hayden. Chasler's appearance in the British Parliament will be only a matter of time, if Redmond can manage to get him elected.

LONDON, July 10.—(New York World Telegram—Special Telegram.)—It is announced here that the duke of Manchester is to marry Miss Ogden-Goelet, but the announcement is not official and in marriages like this there is "many a slip 'twixt cup and lip" on account of the settlements, always troublesome in any big marriage, but especially so when the alliance is between an Englishman and an American woman. The Manchester is not notoriously poor, and such a marriage could not possibly take place unless the settlement was handsome indeed. This was the cause of the breaking of several engagements of Miss Goelet before she married Lord Deburgh, and although the duchess of Marlborough, and also the duchess of Devonshire, are an only child, there was difficulty in the arrangement of even her money matters before she was engaged. The duke of Manchester is not yet of age, but he has been very wild. People generally will be surprised and his family will be much relieved if he settles down quietly into double happiness. The duchess of Manchester, his mother, is very popular. She is an American woman and in the prince of Wales before she married Lord Deburgh, and although the duchess of Marlborough, and also the duchess of Devonshire, are an only child, there was difficulty in the arrangement of even her money matters before she was engaged. The duke of Manchester is not yet of age, but he has been very wild. People generally will be surprised and his family will be much relieved if he settles down quietly into double happiness.

WHEEL MAKING INDUSTRY IN ENGLAND IS NEARLY PARALYZED. LONDON, July 10.—(New York World Telegram—Special Telegram.)—The strike in the bicycle industry is attracting great attention. The London newspapers print columns about it and devote more space to cable news from America concerning it than they would to a presidential election. I hear today from private sources of a movement, said to be headed by Hooley, whose committee practically control tubing and tires, to take the bull by the horns and not only meet the American cut, but go to a rate actually allowing only a fair profit on the cost price, so that competition from America will not be possible. The fact that the market here is greatly overstocked at the prevailing comparatively low prices indicates that those people who can pay high prices for bicycles are supplied and prices must come down or trade will be ruined. The mills have no orders. The English companies are making a desperate attempt to preserve a confident demeanor, but the tumbling values in all cycle stocks shows that the public appreciates that the action of the American makers has precipitated an inevitable crash. Even the shares of Hooley's Tire company, his greatest stock holding, have been seriously affected. The delay in issuing the annual report of that concern has created a belief that it contains very different information from that which is being disseminated. At Coventry, Birmingham and Northampton, the three great centers of English cycle manufacturing, workmen are being discharged by the hundreds every week, while those retained are working on short time. According to the estimate of one expert the number of hands employed in the bicycle industry in England will be by the end of this month less than one-third of what it was last year. The medical press of England is doing what it can to help along the slump. One periodical warns riders that there is great danger to the heart from hard riding, and predicts a tremendous increase in cardiac diseases as a result of the bicycle's popularity.

TURN OUT THE GOLETS. The Ogden-Goelets will not go to Cannes again. Young Arthur and Colonel Arthur Goelet inadvertently broke, or seemed to break, some small rule of Cercle Nautique, and were expelled from the club without even being asked for an explanation. It was a very impulsive thing for the club to do and every one seems to think the club was unjust. It angered the duke of Goelet, who vows he never again will yacht at Cannes.

STEPS FOR CONJUGAL RIGHTS. A matrimonial suit between an American and the English countess may be heard before the close of the term. The petitioner is Lady Tatton Sykes, widely known in New York society, her brother, William George Cavendish-Bentinck, having married Miss Elizabeth Livingston, daughter of Matthew Livingston of New York. Sir Tatton Sykes, an exceedingly wealthy Yorkshire baronet, has been a prominent contributor to Catholic charities. A mysterious reference to this suit has been made here with the names suppressed. Friends of Lady Sykes, especially her priestly advisers, are trying to prevent her from going into court, but so far they have failed to alter her determination. She wants her husband to take her back to live with him as his wife, but he is willing only to make her an allowance to live apart.

MISS ALLEN'S DREADFUL SICKNESS. Viola Allen, the popular leading woman of New York's Empire Theater stock company, crossed the Channel Thursday when the water was very rough. She became extremely seasick, and in half an hour her life was almost despaired of. She was unconscious when the boat landed, apparently on the verge of death, and did not revive for some hours. She has now recovered, but is suffering still from the effects of the strain upon her system. John May, an American, was sentenced yesterday to one year in prison for breaking into a church. He has a remarkable criminal record. His first stroke because he was hungry. That was in New York in 1861. He says, and he got a year's imprisonment. Then he came over here and has been locked up every moment of his life since except less than two years in all, that time being distributed in short periods of freedom. His crimes range from burglary to throwing bombs to convicts and include several years of servitude. The justice of God, he says, makes him want to damage every church he sees.
