SETTLES THE REGENCY CASE

Decision in a Cause Celebrate in the South Dakota Courts. COURT HOLDS THE AMENDMENT VALID. Entry in the House Journal Identifying the Amendment Held to Be Sufficient—Old Regents Overruled on Every Contention.

PIERRE, S. D., July 16.—(Special)—In a decision rendered by Judge Hany the supreme court settled the long drawn out "regency case" by declaring the amendment governing the state educational institutions to have been legally adopted, and the Board of Regents appointed by Governor Lee to be in control of the institutions. The case was brought on by Philip Hall and C. E. Mack against the plaintiffs, the board, and by the attorney general, Horner & Stewart and T. H. Nul for the defense, and every point was taken advantage of, leaving nothing for any other contest on the question.

In regard to the contention that the amendment was not entered on the journals of the house, the court holds that it is not necessary to enter the amendment in full, but that an identifying reference is sufficient. The court holds that the amendment was "submitted to a vote of the people" within the meaning of the law, although no formal direction of the legislature was made, the fact that it was on the tickets and voted for by the people being sufficient.

On the question as to whether the amendment came up to the constitutional provision that amendments shall be submitted to a vote of the people, the court is affirmative. That while the amendment related to the control of several state institutions, it could fairly be construed as one amendment, though it might be divided into several. It is held that the amendment has been better to have separated the different institutions in formulating the amendment.

General Wilson, chief of engineers, says in the report that it is the opinion of the local officer that the best route for a ship canal is that by way of Niagara river, Lake Ontario, Oswego, Oneida lake and Mackinac and Hudson rivers and that the cost would cost at a rough estimate $200,000,000. But Major Symons is also of the opinion that the Erie canal, when enlarged under the existing plans of the state of New York, would, if the restrictions imposed by the state upon its use be removed, give commercial advantage practically equal to those of the proposed canal. He further expresses the opinion that the construction of such a ship canal is not a project worthy of being undertaken by the general government, for the reason that its benefits would not be commensurate with its cost.
