

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE

Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (without Sunday), One Year, $4.00; Daily (with Sunday), One Year, $5.00; Six Months, $2.50; Three Months, $1.50; Single Copy, 5 Cents.

Advertisement rates: One line, 10 cents per week; one month, $2.50; three months, $7.50; six months, $12.50; one year, $22.50.

Business letters: All communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed to the Editor.

The Bee on trains: All railroad newsboys are supplied with enough Bees to accommodate every passenger who wants to read a newspaper.

Parties leaving for the summer: Parties leaving the city for the summer can have The Bee sent to them regularly by notifying The Bee business office.

The rain falls and the sun shines and the corn grows in Nebraska. As the corn tassels out the hopes of the calamity howler grow slimmer.

Speaker Reed's part in the enactment of the tariff seems to have been carried out to the letter and on schedule time.

Alaska is probably as good a place as any to bring to his senses the man who expects to amass fabulous wealth without working for it.

The house and senate employes would not object if congress remained in continuous session. Their salaries stop when congress stops.

If the governor of Nebraska does not maintain the dignity of the state at the Logan monument exercises at Chicago the mayor of Omaha will.

The only defense left for the silver men is to watch the reports of lurid gold finds in Alaska with announcements of stupendous silver discoveries down in Patagonia.

It will be remembered that the editorial page of the World-Herald was also used for a defense of Tom Malors. In that instance it was $750 of republican money that did the work.

The people are convinced of the extraordinary oratorical powers of all of the senators who oppose the tariff bill without requiring any new proof in the shape of long-winded tariff speeches at the present time.

How to strike the trust: That was a pertinent remark of Mr. Dingley's that the way to break down the Sugar trust is to establish a best sugar industry in every congressional district.

The fly on the wheel: And now comes County Clerk Redfield with a list of suits to recover alleged deficits due from ex-county officers.

Demands on Spain: The United States senate has passed the joint resolution authorizing and requesting the president to take all necessary steps for the release of the Comptroller prisoners incarcerated in Havana.

No experimenting with the police: The spirit and letter of the new city charter contemplates the exaction of the special qualifications from every city officer.

The hero of the hour: The hero of the hour seems to be Speaker Reed, who has been the subject of the sugar senators at his belt.

Debt paying in Nebraska: A notable feature of the situation is the large reduction in mortgage indebtedness. A careful study of the statistics of Nebraska during the past six months at $28,000,000.

Dana's Ghentish Glee: The demon of discord may now be observed in the act of cutting up his most domestic caper among the Buckeye democratic brethren.

A feature of the Exposition: One of the features already arranged for of the coming Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha is a grand aerial night show.

Personal and otherwise: Just to offset the gold discoveries in Alaska, a silver cave has been unearthed in Virginia.

Before the people of Omaha vote a quarter of a million of bonds for a new high school building they will want a Board of Education that shows some disposition to keep the expenditures of the school system within its revenues.

McKinley, Cleveland and Bryan have all been invited to participate in a celebration to be held in the town of Fremont, O., in September.

The prize watermelon of the season, which weighs seventy-eight pounds, has been sent to President McKinley.

Mr. Bryan explain how such a watermelon could have grown under the lightning bolt standard? Governor Taylor of Tennessee is said to have some original aspirations of his own.

There is no question that paying car fare out of the city treasury for city employees engaged on city business would constitute a small item in the annual budget.

An anxious public is still waiting for the postoffice to explain how that memorandum slip of stolen public money loaned to the owner of the World-Herald came to be in the city cash drawer.

One London Journal has discovered that the United States is not distinctly an Anglo-Saxon and Anglo-American country.

A sign of some importance bearing upon the general prosperity of the state is the fact that the steel scale at Pittsburg, which ends a serious labor dispute and pays 25,000 men at work this week.

The demon of discord may now be observed in the act of cutting up his most domestic caper among the Buckeye democratic brethren.

One of the features already arranged for of the coming Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha is a grand aerial night show.

Just to offset the gold discoveries in Alaska, a silver cave has been unearthed in Virginia.

With the dust coming into the country by the ton, prosperity may well don bloomers and come out on the pile.

Secretary Seward, it now appears, made a great mistake when he insisted that the London Globe think it is severe when it talks about American diplomacy in its editorial.

The story of the Confederate soldier who covets the head of the president is drawn from a stomach up to fit his rations will be forcibly appreciated by the Klondike pilgrims when they tackle dog meat at $5 a pound.

The robbers who went through the city hall at Milwaukee seem to have a very imperfect idea of the general character of the United States government.

Much useful advice is given by the press to those adventurous spirits who think fortune awaits them in the Alaska gold fields.

Composols for July contains in the English department, the first of a series of notable articles by Max Mueller on "Royalty," the term being used to indicate sovereignty and not duties or taxes.

The Westminster review for July contains an important "Plea for Serbia, the Piedmont of the Balkans," by A. H. E. Taylor.

The summer number of Post-Lore, comprising the months of July, August and September, has a long poem by Elias Carman, "Above the Gasparau," there is a translation of Sundermann's "Mortuary Teils."

The familiar old fashioned yellow covers of the Cornhill Magazine, enclosed the usual interesting contents for the month of July.

The Nineteenth Century for July features an article by Joseph Edgar Chamberlain on "The History of the United States."

The mid-July number of the Chap-Book contains an appreciative estimate of Walt Whitman by John Jay Chapman.

The American edition of the Review of Reviews has been for some time gradually getting out of the shackles of allegiance to Britain and assuming an air of scarcely concealed Americanism.

Book News for July contains as front-piece a portrait of Samuel Miaturn Peak, and a dialect story from his pen entitled "Pap's Mules."

"Marietta's Marriage," by W. E. Norris, is a warning to undemocratic husbands. It should have only one wife, officer that he has been, instead of leaving her to suffer the warmth of his affection from circumstances not altogether calculated to prove the same.

Other July magazines received: The Hypnotic Magazine, the Sanitarian, the Hygienic and the Open Court, the Temple, Donohoe's Magazine, the Benker's Magazine, the Yellow Kid, the White Rabbit, Money.

Will it be possible for demagogues to keep up the calamity howl and make it a winner in states whose people are thriving and contented with Nebraska, and Kansas?

Will it be possible for demagogues to keep up the calamity howl and make it a winner in states whose people are thriving and contented with Nebraska, and Kansas?

Will it be possible for demagogues to keep up the calamity howl and make it a winner in states whose people are thriving and contented with Nebraska, and Kansas?

Development of the West: The Trans-Mississippi congress ostensibly met to promote the development of irrigation, the improvement of rivers and harbors, the extension of railroad communication, the admission of the remaining territories to statehood as early as is practicable, and the other schemes which the congress has been authorized to consider.

Chicago Record: "All men ought to stand by the miners." "Look at the coal we husbands have handled for no wages at all."

Chicago Post: "May we have the pleasure of your company this evening, please?" she asked.

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Politics and Partisanship Drawbacks to Progress: Everybody in the west favors the objects which the Trans-Mississippi congress ostensibly met to promote.

Chicago Record: "All men ought to stand by the miners." "Look at the coal we husbands have handled for no wages at all."

Chicago Post: "May we have the pleasure of your company this evening, please?" she asked.

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Bright and breezy: Chicago Record: "All men ought to stand by the miners." "Look at the coal we husbands have handled for no wages at all."

Chicago Post: "May we have the pleasure of your company this evening, please?" she asked.

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Tribune: "I don't hear you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Chicago Journal: "Well, I heard you making a row about something just now?" "Well," admitted the king of beasts, "I was making a bit of a row."

Baggy Trousers

Are fatal to the particular man's happiness, especially when the bagginess is all at the knees. By skillful shaping we make all suits so that they will keep their shape as far as is possible, but all at prices that make it no burden for a man to have whatever he needs.

All Straw Hats one half price. B. & B. BROWNING, KING & CO. 15th and Douglas Sts.

