City Attorney Connell submitted a lengthy communication relating to the interminable dispute between the city and county physiclans regarding the care of emergency Mr. Connell quoted the law and took the poaltion that the county is required to take care of such cases. The communication was referred to the committee on charity.

A petition was received from sixty-two farmers living along the Military road, asking the board to co-operate with them in asking the city authorities to close the gap in the paving of Military avenue between Forty-fifth street and the city limits, where the county paving begins. They stated that this short piece of road is well-nigh impessable in the best of weather and is a perfect quagmire every time there is a rain. The matter was referred to the city authoritier with the request that the prayer of the petitioners be granted as soon as possible. The bills of the several tax caseasors and their numerous assistants were allowed and Garbage Matter Goes to the Council The municipal health department has so far taken no action in regard to the complaints of Henry Coombs, charging violaplaints of Henry Coombs, charging violations of the garbage contract. Health Commissioner Spading says that the fact of the illegal dumping at the foot of Jones street has already been adjudicated in police court, where the contractor was convicted and fixed. Consequently he does not see that his department has anything more to do with the controversy than to report the fact to the council and refer that body to the records of the police court.

Mr. Stuht will officiate in that capacity at the next council meeting, and if he carries out the program that he has laid out, he will signalize the occasion by raising more kinds of brimstone than have been noticeable in the council chamber this year. In the first place he declares that he will go after the contractor who has charge of feeding city prisoners, and will also knock a few holes the bills for stationery furnished by Klopp & Bartlett.

He says he is informed that the city is paying for double meals furnished to city paying for double means furnished to city prisoners, and that this doesn't go as long as he has the job of checking up the appropriation ordinance. The double meal business was worked for a long time by a preious contractor, but was finally discovered by the council and prohibited. There was a lively competition for the job of feeding the prisoners and one contractor secured it by putting in a very low bid. The contract price was so much a meal and he recouped himself by furnishing each prisoner with two meals instead of one, and charging the city accordingly. The two meals together were enough to fairly satisfy a hungry man and the scheme was worked for some time before it was discovered. Now Stuht thinks the same scheme is being worked, and he roposes to hold up the bills until a more satisfactory system of checking up the contractor is put in operation.

RENSTROM ALLEGES BLACKMAIL.

Dismissed. Nelson A. Renstrom charges that his recent arrest on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses was only a part in an attempted blackmailing scheme. His ciaim appeared to have been pretty substantiated yesterday in the very peculiar manner in which the case ended. Renstrom is the manager of a medicinal bath establishment which has its offices in The Bee building. Two years ago, on January 17, 1895, he borrowed $150 from a colored woman, Mary Mitchell, giving his note for the money. At intervals after that he borrowed about $100 more, giving security in each case.

A few days ago one Benjamin F. Brown swore to a complaint in police court against Renstrom, charging him with securing the money under false pretenses. It was charged that the security given for the money was a share in an invention, which at the time was not patented. Brown himself attached his name to the complaint. The case was set for trial yesterday.

When the case was called Renstrom sented an affidavit from Mary Mitchell. this the woman swore that the prosecution had never been brought with her consent or knowledge. She admitted that she had loaned the money to Renstrom, but was per-fectly satisfied with the note he gave her for it. The note was renewed about two months ago. Furthermore, the woman set out that Hahnemann Pyburn came to her, ager Kirkendall yesterday as soon as he received notice of his appointment, refusing to accept the position. This petition to all the contractors who had submitted bids.

The contract calls for the completion of the passenger station by April 15, 1898. It must be ready for occupancy and entire use by that date. The contract figures were not given out by Architect Kimball. As the contract awarded John Field does not include the iron work or the marble work, it was thought wise to hold the contract figures until the bide for the other work had been let. Present estimates show that the total cost of the structure will run within a few hundreds dollars of the $300 .-000 mark. The contract calls for the build-ing of the station according to the plans described in The Bee of May 9

In order to have the structure completed at the appointed time the contractor will at once begin active building operations. Every effort will be made to have the structure under roof before snow flies, in order that the interior work may be carried on during the winter months. Con-trary to popular opinion, work on the depot has been at a standstill lately, not because of any legal trouble with the firm of Kingman & Co., but because the contract for building had not been awarded. General Manager Holdrege of the B. & M. recently made a statement to this effect to a reporter. Now that the contract has been let it is assured that there will be more signs of activity in the vicinity of Tenth and Mason streets than there have been for will be pushed forward until the structure

County Clerk Redfield Brought Suits Only When Ordered to Do So.

COMMISSIONERS DENY HIS STATEMENTS

Chairman of the County Board and Two Other Members Show Up False Pretensions of the Clerk.

The county commissioners, particularly the three who were on the board at the time the suits were started against the excounty officials to collect fees that had not been turned in, are highly indignant at the public assertions County Clerk Redfield has made that he instituted the suits and alone descrives the credit for them. The records of the board show that each and every case was ordered started by the board after it, and not the county clerk, had made an investiter in the decree of foreclosure which is gation, and that in bringing the suits County Clerk Redfield was simply acting as the cific railroad to make the sale and execute clork of the board and was obeying the orders given to bim.

E. M. Stenberg, chairman of the board and who was in the body at the time the matter was first broached, spoke as follows yesterday regarding Redfield's statements:

"The records of the proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners show fully that the board ordered the cases to be brought agrirst the various county officials to recover the fees that were found to be due. Redfield started these cases only in his capacity as clerk of the board and in pursuance of these orders. The board em-ployed the special counsel to look after hese caser. As a matter of fact the board began its investigation of the "Only one of the cases against the ex-county Only one of the cases against the ex-councy officials for uncollected fees was started since I have been on the board," said Commissioner Hoctor." "This and the othere, as the records of the board will show, were begun by resolution of the board, ordering Redfield to do so. The suits were started Paul, but his principal offices are located in the Union Pacific headquarters in this city. by the board to make an investigation. Red-in company with General Solicitor Kelly of the Union Pacific he is now in Boston takstart the suits in his own name.

"As the records of the board will show," said Commissioner Kierstead, "Redfield was given his apthority to start the suits by resolution of the board, which had examined into the cases and found that there were fees coming to the county from the ex-offi-cials. Redfield would have had no other authority to begin the suits. Just how much Redfield had to do in the matter is shown by the the fact that the board hired the special counsel to look after the cases."

Max Took Exceptions

In our ad last week, when we stated there were Pets located in north, south, east and west parts of the form. Max kicked and said we were mistaken. When we wrote that ad we had no idea of classing him with the Pets as we know positively that he is too homorible gentleman to resert a gentleman to resert to such methods of business. We wouldn't have written it only we're going to Langdon fishing for days and know we won't see him. If the Cream Soda.
