Since then there has been a steady growth, until now almost every congregation in the church has a young people's society, the total membership being a little over 35,000, and in addition, there is an army of juniors 16,000 strong. Most encouragins reports have been received from nearly all the fifty-three conventions held during the year. There are 624 societies, of which 455 are Christian union and 125 Christian endeavor with a membership of 27,988, against 24,297 the previous year. The contributions were $3,205. The committee opened accountions with the Young People of the Associated Reform church, soliciting their co-operation in the annual convention, and a close affilia-tion, with the result that a synodical dele-gate and a large number of the young people were present. Reciprocity with France.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 .- Secretary Shermn has acknowledged the recent overture of the French government, through Ambassador Patenotre, for a reciprocity treaty between the United States and France and the reciprocity clause of the new traiff law, and he secretary adds an assurance that he hopes to take up this important subject at an early day. It will be the first effort toward practical application of the reciprocity inuse of the new law and to some extent it wil shape the future action of the gov-ernment on the treaties to be negotiated. in view of this careful investigation is being made of the status of trade between France and the United States as a preliminary to negotiation. This has developed the fact that the reciprocity clause will not permit an offer to France of much reduction of

At 4 o'clock the second round of doubles was started, the first men to get down to work being Beifield and Champlin of Chicago and Austin and Cullingham of Omaha. The match was characterized by some very neat work on both sides, but it was evident from the start that the visitors were not down on the list as winners. Austin and Cullingham played a steady game throughout, with very few wild returns or faults to their discredit.. The Chicago boys did some fine lobbing at times, but Belfield fell short on his smashing and should have played a more careful game. The score resulted in favor of Austin and Cullingham and was suffere with it. This is sympathy. Where this pathos produces action there is the ministry of sympathy. Te who serve in the temple of sympathy must study the ministry of Jesus. It touches every part of the wild field of joy and sorrow. His friend dies, but Jesus does not weep. He calmly says of him "Our friend is asleep." But when he heard the lonely sisters' cries, their griefs over-came him and he wept. Death did not wring tears from his eyes, but sorrows did. He triumphed over death for he was lord of life. He bowed hefore grief for he was a "man of sorrows." The heart of Jesus craved the touch of human souls. Again and again in dark Gethaemane he turned from communion with the Father to feel the sympathy of the chosen three. But alas! they slept and the hungry heart of the loving master turned back to its struggles without the help they could have given. Every life has its Gethaemane he which it cries for sympathy. But how often we sleep and the disappointed soul turns back to its lonely struggle without the help we could have given. have given
