M. E. Smith Unexpectedly Succumb to Apoplexy.

M. E. Smith, senior member of the firm of M. E. Smith & Co., of this city, died cuse, N. Y. Accompanied by his wife, he left Omaha Tuesday evening for the east, apparently in his usual health, which had been good, as he was a robust man. N other word was heard from him until Fr day evening, when a telegram was received n Omaha announcing his death. Apoplexy was the cause of his sudden taking away. was 60 years of age. The sons of deceased left yesterday afternoon for Chicago, where they will meet their mother with the remains of their father, returning to Omaha Monday morning.

Mr. Smith was born at North Pitcher, N ... September 19, 1837, and his early life was spent in that vicinity. He was married to Miss Harriet Critten-den in 1861, and then came west in den in 1861, and then came west in 1868, settling in Council Bluffs, where his engaged in the retail dry goods business. After a few years he drifted out of the retail business and engaged exclusively in the definest and engaged exclusively in the jobhing business. In 1886 he moved to Omaha, where he has since been located. He is the senior member and principal stockholder in the company, the other stockhold erg, with one exception, being members o ers, with one exception, being includes of his family. Three of his sons Arthur C., Walter D. and Floyd, are associated with him in business, and the fourth son, A. J., is a student at Harvard college. He has no other children.

The business in which Mr. Smith spent so many years in building up will be con-tinued under the same name and in the same place.

PANTORIUM

THE STREET PARADE. street parade of Ringling Brothers' World & Greatest Shows, it is promised, will be almost entirely unique and original. Its features have not heretofore been seen in any circus street pageant and will prove not only interesting but instructive. The column will comprise thirty sections. The most noteworthy are those devoted to representa-time ago, refuses to cat bread, nowever, and therefore. like the other carnivora, goes hungry until Monday, with the exception of a pan of sweetened milk, which he laps up anti-metally. The performers, all of whom delightfully. The performers, all of whom travel on a special train of standard Pullman cars, have no call to visit the show grounds on Sunday. They are breakfasted sumptuously in a well appointed dining car, and are at liberty to go away and remain as long as they like on Sunday. By 10 o'clock in the evening they will be seen wending their way to "Hotel de Ringling," as the Pullman train is known among them, and will be in their berth at a very seasonable hour, resting for the work of the morrow and the ensuing week.
