Will Look at the New Roads.

County Supervisor Baker has perfected arrangements to take the city officials and the representatives of the press over the new road work that has been under the direction of the Board of Supervisors since the adoption of the good roads resolution by the board last June. Carriages will start from the city building and the newspaper offices at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and the journey will include a ride over about ten miles of the new work.

Colonel Baker and the other members of the board are extremely well satisfied with the results of the roadmaking experiments that have been vigorously prosecuted for the last three months, and if the new work withstands the autumn and spring wear as well as it has the summer the taxpayers will have no cause to complain of the direction taken by the big cash balance in the general road fund.

A number of citizens in addition to the officials will accompany the party. It is expected that the condition of the roads will permit the trip to be made in less than two and one-half hours, and the party will return to the city before 5 o'clock.

Pawned Another Man's Wheel.

Albert Allen, colored, will be arraigned before Justice Vien today to answer a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, preferred against him by Sam Friedman, pawnbroker. Allen bought a bicycle from one of the local dealers on the installment plan, making payments weekly. He managed to liquidate $11 of the $35 bill, when he grew tired of the wheel and concluded to dispose of it. He represented to the pawnbroker that it belonged to him and that his title to it was clear, and secured a loan of $8. Saturday afternoon the wheel dealer discovered the disposition Allen had made of their property and resumed possession of it. Friedman then complained to the police and procured the arrest of Allen on the charge of obtaining the money loaned by false representations.

WHERE THE WOMAN BELONGS

Rev. Alex F. Litherland Tells of Her Place in the World.

INTENDED TO SWEETEN AND BRIGHTEN

Her Presence in the Business World Is Out of Place but She Has a Mission in the Church.

Rev. Alexander F. Litherland, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, chose "Woman's Place and Work" for his morning theme yesterday. He chose for his text Esther iv, 14 and 16: "Who knoweth whether thou art not come to the kingdom for such a time as this? And so will I go in unto the king which is not according to the law; and if I perish I perish."

"The former queen of Xerxes, king of Persia, was a model of modesty," said the minister, "and the name Vashti is an inspiration to the more retiring among women. Esther represents that class of women which are more active and who are felt in society and politics. Each of these noble women are worthy the position of patron saints. In religion as elsewhere, woman is intended to beautify and sweeten. The church has always insisted on woman retaining this holy calling. It would be poor economy to put the decorators at work making the excavation for the cathedral.

"So our women must endure the bondage of bringing forth cheer and hope for the world. While the rose may not serve as the foundation of palaces, nor the lily as a beam for the temple, neither can the rock perfume, the atmosphere nor the oak surpass the glory of Solomon, as the lily does. Jesus was not only the 'Rock of Ages.' He is also the 'Rose of Sharon' and the 'Lily of the Valley.' The ideal for both manhood and womanhood is to be found in the 'desire of all nations.'

"Strength and beauty are combined in the character of the Jewess—Queen Esther. Beauty attracts, while strength bestows legacies of helpfulness. The brilliancy and perfume of the flower draws the bee to rich deposits of honey, which supply the world's need. One of the chief qualifications of woman is attractiveness. Esther is a caution against over-sensitiveness in making oneself known and felt. She would have been nothing more than a mediocre had she not have acquired the grace that secured attention.

"Piety is essential to woman's equipment. I am glad that the gentler sex do out-strip the men in their religious devotion. Not that I would have men give less attention to spiritual things, but I would stir up the gift with which God has richly endowed our sisters. May I never see the day when our women are engulfed in the whirlpool of commercialism which destroys prayers and benevolence. Rather let woman continue to lead and beckon man on to the goal of devotion to the Lord. 'Who knoweth whether thou art not come to the kingdom for such a time as this?'

"Woman must ever be conservative. She must only undertake new enterprises in response to the call of Providence. Herein lies the excellence of the book of Esther. The name of God does not appear, but the hand of God is quite apparent. Prayer will enable woman to see God in his providence today. She has seen Him and heard His call, 'Go work in my vineyard.'

"Consecration gives success. When duty was made clear, when the call was understood, then Esther said: 'And so I will go in unto the king, which is not according to the law, and if I perish, I perish.' God bless such devotion."

Dining room will be open to the public September 1. Come everybody and dine with us. H. H. Inmann.

Williams' Idea of Patriotism.

Elder T. W. Williams addressed a large audience in the hall of the Patriotic Order Sons of America yesterday afternoon on the subject of what constitutes practical patriotism. The lecture was one of a series that have been given by the order for some time past each Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It was a theme on which the speaker felt considerable enthusiasm, and he managed to get a liberal quantity of it into his address. He drew the distinction between common patriotism and practical patriotism. Practical patriotism was not the kind that sang "Yankee Doodle" and shot off firecrackers on the Fourth of July, and then returned to sordid pursuits during the remainder of the year. It was the kind that neither sang nor preached patriotism but acted and practiced it every day in the year; that commenced the work of building and sustaining a great nation at the fireside and in the neighborhood; that first tried to make its own home the most ideal place on earth, and after having succeeded reasonably well in that went to work to help its neighbor do the same for his home; that brought forth and educated a liberty-loving and liberty-understanding race of men and women. This is the sort of patriotism that does not lead or join mobs; that upholds laws and compels respect by realizing first of all the necessity for self-respect. This practical patriotism accords to all other races of men the same instincts of liberty and praises them while it encourages. It has no sordid selfishness for its foundations, but it is as broad as the religion of the Nazarene. This kind and this kind alone can be depended upon to hold together a great nation composed of the many elements that constitute the American republic.

The Silver Cornet band of Stanberry, Mo., will play at Manhattan beach this afternoon.

Taken to the Reform School.

Marshal C. A. Rommell of Silver City came up yesterday for the purpose of taking Walter Nicholson and John Devereau, two runaways from the Christian home, to the reform school. The Silver City authorities had about made up their minds to prosecute the youngsters for burglary, but consented to withdraw the charge if they were sent to the reform school. The marshal of the village stated yesterday that the boys had made a pretty good stagger toward committing a more serious offense than simply breaking into the farm house of Charles Jones and rifling a trunk and the pantry. They piled the bedclothing from a couple of rooms in the middle of the floor and had poured coal oil over it, and were evidently preparing for a good sized bonfire when the approach of some of the people in the vicinity frightened them away. The little fellows are only 9 years old, and are very small for their ages. Willie came from Hamburg, Ia., where his mother still lives, and John is an orphan who was sent here from Elmer, Ia.

Opened His Windpipe.

Local physicians found it necessary on Saturday to perform the operation of tracheotomy to remove a sandbur that had lodged in the throat of a small son of a farmer named Anderson. The lad was running through the grass where there was an abundance of the burs, when one of them by some means found its way into his mouth and was drawn into his throat. All efforts to dislodge it failed, and his parents brought him to this city. The physicians tried the usual methods of extricating it, but failed, and a surgical operation was necessary.

Arrested After Many Days.

On the evening of election day last fall Elmer Parks, a well known young tough from the west part of town, announced himself as a good democrat who had voted a straight ticket and was anxious to do something more for his party. The only thing that appeared to remain for him to do was to whip some good republican who had likewise cast a straight ballot against him, and he was not particular who it might be. He encountered a man in the Hoffman saloon willing to acknowledge having voted against Bryan, and Parks selected him as his victim. The man succeeded in getting out of his way before being seriously injured, and on the day following filed an information in the police court charging Parks with disturbing the peace. Parks left town, however, before the warrant was issued and escaped arrest. He returned once since then and became involved in another fight, and again skipped. Yesterday he came to town again and was found in the vicinity of No. 2 hose house, on Lower Broadway, and was placed under arrest on the November charge. He spent the night in the city jail and will have a hearing before Judge McGee this morning.

TRIED TO SMOKE ON FRONT SEATS.

Unruly Passenger Creates a Disturbance on a Bridge Car.

A passenger who refused to obey the rules of the motor company permitting smoking only upon the rear seats of the big cars got into serious trouble with several other passengers and Conductor Gaines. The trouble occurred on the last car going to Omaha after midnight yesterday morning. The car was partially filled with Omaha people who had been attending the Mogullian picnic at Manawa. Among them were a number of women, who were seated in the center of the car. In one of the seats ahead of them was a man with a vile cigar, which he persisted in smoking, blowing the smoke back into the faces of the women. They endeavored to get away from the annoyance, but were unsuccessful and finally asked the conductor to abate the nuisance. The passenger declined to cease smoking or take a back seat. The train was stopped on the bridge and he was given an opportunity to choose between being thrown off or obey the rules. When the motorman reinforced the conductor, the passenger concluded to acquiesce, and the train started. A few moments later the fellow climbed over the seats to where the women were sitting and grossly insulted them, and immediately got a whack in the face with the big end of a business-like parasol. He attempted to return the blow and the women screamed and made an effort to jump from the car. The car was again stopped and half a dozen of the male passengers went after the man and roughly handled him. He was able to get on the back of the car when the train started again and to swing off at the foot of Douglas street. His name could not be learned.

In Jail as a Common Drunk.

The police believe they have in the person of a man who gives the name of James Barnwell and Omaha as his residence, the confidence man who poses as an engineer and finds victims among unsophisticated farmer boys. They placed him under arrest yesterday after they had taken Alva Wolverton, a man whom he had tried to work, into custody. Wolverton and two companions reached town Saturday evening en route by wagon from Stuart, Ia., to Lyons county. They fell in with Barnwell shortly after they got in, and he picked out Wolverton as the most promising of the trio. Wolverton resisted all appeals to part with the few silver dollars he had until Barnwell produced a bottle of whisky. Wolverton's companions and the police believe the whisky was drugged, for the man became practically insane shortly after he drank it. His companions worked with him all night, and had great difficulty in restraining him. Early in the morning he succeeded in getting away from them and they spent all forenoon hunting for him. Shortly before noon Benton street residents telephoned that an insane man was in the vicinity and asked for an officer to take care of him. The man proved to be Wolverton. At the station his condition was more that of an insane than an intoxicated man, but it was decided to hold him on the charge of drunkenness. During the afternoon his friends found him at the jail and told the officers their experiences with the engineer. One of them accompanied Officer Covalt, and it was not long until the fellow was found. He assumed the character of a drunken man and was locked up on that charge.

Drives Into a Washout.

Chris Jensen of Jensen Bros. was driving down North First street at 9 o'clock last evening in his carpenter wagon. With him were six women. The street is unpaved and where it makes an intersection with Washington avenue there is a washout. In the darkness this hole was not visible and the wagon went into it. The shock broke the king-bolt, and the wagon came in two. The accident frightened the horses and they ran away. When the front of the wagon dropped down Jensen and all of the women were thrown out. One of the women, whose home is in Omaha, was quite severely injured, but insisted upon being placed aboard a motor train and sent home. Jensen suffered quite painful but not serious injuries. He is just recovering from a severe accident which occurred two weeks ago when he fell from a scaffold. The other members of the party escaped with slight bruises.

EXPERIMENTS WITH HOG CHOLERA.

Causes and Cures Being Investigated in Page County.

SHENANDOAH, Ia., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Under provisions of congress directing the secretary of agriculture to designate two states in which causes and cure for hog cholera shall be investigated, Iowa was selected as one. Governor Drake selected this Page county, and appointed Dr. J. McBirney to direct investigations. A stock census compiled by that gentleman shows that 64,000 hogs, at a liberal valuation of $190,000, have died from diseases peculiar to hogs since January 1, 1895. Under the appropriations made by congress for this purpose the inspectors are authorized to purchase sick hogs at two-thirds their market value, condemn and destroy them. Hogs which have been exposed to infection are inoculated with an antitoxic serum, eight or ten herds here having already undergone treatment. H. B. Waldron, one of the inspectors, has condemned and slaughtered fifty head during the past few days. Through advice of the Department of Agriculture, hogs are being administered a compound consisting of wood charcoal, one pound; sulphur, one pound; sodium chloride, two pounds; sodium bicarbonate, two pounds; sodium hyposulphite, two pounds; sodium sulphate, one pound; antimony sulphide, one pound; pulverized and thoroughly mixed.

Could Not Get the Subscribers.

SIOUX CITY, Aug. 22.—(Special Telegram.)—The project for a free silver daily paper in this city has been given up by the popocrats. They made a house-to-house canvass to see how many subscribers a paper of the kind could secure, but found that few were willing to encourage it. The Union Advocate, the weekly free silver organ, is said to be preparing to support at least a part of the republican county ticket this year.

Fusion Ticket at Creston.

CRESTON, Ia., Aug. 22.—Special Telegram.)—The populists and democrats of Union county held their convention yesterday and nominated the following fusion ticket: For representative, S. A. Brewster; treasurer, C. E. Bagg; sheriff, Ed Nichols; county superintendent, John Agans. Both conventions reaffirmed party platforms.

Rain Helps the Late Corn.

UNDERWOOD, Ia., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—A heavy rain fell here last night, continuing until daylight. The rain has thoroughly soaked the ground and will do much good to corn and fall crops. This is the first rain of importance for six weeks. This rain will help the corn to fill out and will make a much better crop than was expected up to this time.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

London Company Sends Four Experts to Examine Valuable Property.

PIERCE DEAL LIKELY TO GO THROUGH

If the Sale is Made Millions of Dollars Will Be Expended Developing the Mines—More Strikes at Ragged Top.

LEAD, S. D., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The Pierce deal, one of the largest mining transactions ever attempted in the Black Hills, is now nearing a close. In a very few days it will be definitely known whether the Associated company, limited, of London, will expend some $2,000,000 or more for a group of claims lying directly north of this city, which are believed by experienced mining men to be the best propositions ever offered on the market. A party of experts, made up of R. E. Brown, L. A. Scowden, W. A. Bess and J. R. Stephen, arrived this week from London, Eng., and the members have already begun investigations of the property. Each claim will be thoroughly examined by these four men, and upon their report will depend the consummation of the deal. It is generally believed that their report will be favorable, and that the sale of the property will take place in the course of a very short time. One of these experts, R. E. Brown, has gained a world wide reputation as a mining man of great ability, wide experience and undoubted integrity. He ranks with such experts as Prof. Hammond, Prof. Jennings and Prof. Starr. His services have been in great demand as an expert, and in this capacity he has traveled all over the gold fields of South Africa, South America, India and Australia, and a favorable report from him is always followed by the sale of the property which he has examined. The company, which has been interested in this transaction by John Pierce, the promoter of the project, and which is represented by these experts, is one of the greatest financial institutions in England. The Associated company, limited, is said to own more capital than the Bank of England. This company owns fifty-one propositions in different parts of the world, but has never yet become interested financially in any American mines. Mr. Pierce only recently returned from London. While there he represented the property, which has been bonded to him, in a fair light, and the Englishmen became sufficiently interested to send the experts over to examine the mines. That the sale will be made is hardly a matter of doubt, but is a foregone conclusion. It will result in the addition of a mining company to the Black Hills which will equal the magnitude of the celebrated Homestake mine.

MISSED THE ORE VEIN.

A poor woodchopper, who lives in the vicinity of Rochford, a prominent mining camp near this city, is convinced that the fickle goddess, fortune, smiles not upon him. Last spring while he was chopping wood on the divide between Rapid and Castle creeks he picked up a number of pieces of float, which he subjected to the pan and mortar test. The result was surprising and showed that the ore was exceedingly rich. He immediately located two claims, but, through some irregularity in the location, a large fraction was left between his claims. Parties with a better knowledge of prospecting and mining located the fraction, upon which the vein has been struck. A great amount of high-grade ore has been discovered which assays from $20 to $100 per ton and the property gives promise of proving a paying proposition for its owners.

At the annual meeting of the Golden Reward Mining and Milling company, held in Deadwood this month, the following directors were elected to serve the ensuing year: E. H. Harriman, Robert Goelet, August Belmont, Stuyvesant Fish, New York; Samuel W. Allerton, Chicago; Harris Franklin, Ben Baer, Deadwood.

Little has been written recently in regard to Ragged Top, the famous mining camp which gained such prominence a year ago, but the owners of property in that region have been steadily at work and are turning out great quantities of good paying ore. One of the incidents which created considerable comment at the time Ragged Top was first discovered was the sale of a claim to Morris Ellenberg, a Deadwood tailor, by a discouraged prospector, who received in payment five suits of clothes. Mr. Ellenberg worked the property and developed it into a veritable bonanza, selling it for several thousand dollars to S. V. Noble, after having taken out thousands of dollars of good paying ore. Mr. Ellenberg has again purchased the property and is pursuing extensive development work. He has discovered a three-foot vein of ore that assays $76 per ton and has splendid prospects.

NEW STRIKES AT RAGGED TOP.

Sharp and Kellar leased the A. J. Smith or Ulster claim a few months ago and have turned out $11,000 in gold since they became possessed of the property. Interest in Ragged Top has been considerably revived in the last few days on the discovery of a rich vein of ore in an open cut on this claim, two assays of which were made. One assay showed the ore to run $610 in gold per ton and the other samples run $1,263 per ton. Messrs. Sharp and Kellar appreciate the fact that they have a bonanza and are shipping ore regularly.

A peculiar formation has been discovered in the shaft on the Bitterasweet creek mine near Rochford by P. L. Edholm and John Wise, who are working the mine. The peculiarity is in the character of the ore, which becomes refractory with depth. The shaft was started on a vertical vein of ore, on the surface of which free gold was plainly to be seen, but at the depth of twenty feet the free milling ore gave place to bismuth, which is of a refractory nature. The ore, however, gives an assay of $120 per ton, and the owners are not dissatisfied even though the free gold did not prove to reach any considerable depth. Messrs. Edholm and Wise are sinking a 100-foot shaft in the property, which is looked upon as a very promising one.

The work of erecting the new cyanide plant for the Annie Creek Mining company at Anna Creek will begin in a very short time. The Burlington railroad has nearly completed its new extension to the property of this company, and cars containing the necessary machinery for the erection of the cyanide plant will soon be run within easy distance of the proposed site. Meantime, the Annie Creek company is doing considerable development work. The shaft is being lowered rapidly and drifts and shoots are being extended wherever the ore indications warrant. This mine has a great amount of $30 ore, which will be profitably treated when the cyanide plant is in operation.

The Deadwood and Delaware smelter has purchased a number of claims in the Ruby Basin district, paying a high figure for the same. Messrs. Ames, McQuillan, Steele and Peterson of this city were among the former owners of the property, which is of high grade and well worth the purchase price.

Thief Robs His Companions.

RAWLINS, Wyo., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Will Herbert, alias Tarbell, who is charged with having held up a Mexican sheepherder near Baggs and robbed him of $480, is now reported to have outwitted the Brown's Springs gang of outlaws with whom he affiliated after the robbery. It is reported that he robbed a member of the gang named Lay of $350 and a fine saddle horse. He rode for the railroad pursued by a number of the gang, who followed him to the outskirts of Rock Springs, where they abandoned the chase. Herbert gave the horse to Miner Smith, a young son of Rev. G. H. Smith, and left the country on the first train.

Getting Good Wages.

BASIN CITY, Wyo., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Two prospectors are washing out gold from the sands of the Big Horn river by an ingenious process. The sand is shoveled into a large box into which water is pumped with an old-fashioned hand pump. The dirt then runs over a set of riffles and goes into another box in which an old piece of carpet is stretched. The wash passes over this carpet, which arrests the particles of fine gold. The carpet is then shaken and washed, quicksilver added, and the resulting mass is washed. This takes out the quicksilver and leaves the gold dust. The dust is extremely fine and could not be saved with the ordinary apparatus. The men disposed of several ounces of the dust here in order to purchase supplies and will work all of the bars of the river. They are making about $4 a day each with but very little work.

Black Hillers Oppose the Trail.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Considerable comment has been made by the stockmen in this section of the country in regard to the proposition recently made by Senator Allen of Nebraska to open up a cattle trail through the Rosebud agency. As a rule the objections are strong and since the news first arrived parties have been busy circulating a petition of remonstrance throughout the country. It is safe to say ninety-nine out of every hundred taxpayers sign the paper. One of the objections raised is that the ranges north of the reservation are crowded to the utmost capacity already. With an open trail through to Nebraska there would be nothing to prevent the small cattlemen of that state from driving their herds to the northern ranges in the spring and returning them in the fall to their fresh ranges at home. Again, it is thought that it would be impracticable to drive many cattle at a time through such a narrow trail because of the scarcity of feed and water. It is claimed that the loss in weight to the cattle would be greater than the amount saved in freight when shipping to market.

New wheat is coming into market here and is being sold for 75 cents. Thrashing is on in all of the counties of the Hills. Wheat will go from eight to fifteen bushels on land not irrigated and much better on irrigated soil. The hay crop will be very large and of fine quality. Corn is well along.

Will Locate Reservoir Sites.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Captain Chittenden of the United States engineer corps left here yesterday for the Big Horn basin and Jackson's Hole to look over locations for sites of government reservoirs. Captain Chittenden was accompanied by State Engineer Elwood Mead, State Treasurer Henry G. Hay, E. S. Nettleton, formerly state engineer of Colorado, and Clarence Johnston, assistant to Mr. Mead. Captain Chittenden will examine the proposed reservoir sites in the Big Horn range near Dome lake, and also at the head of Tongue river and on the Gray Bull in the Shoshone mountains. Engineer Mead will take measurements of the Nowood, Shoshone, Big Horn, Gray Bull, Wind and Snake rivers to ascertain the low water flow.

Prof. Free is Appointed.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Prof. A. T. Free of Chicago, at one time president of Yankton college and superintendent of the Deadwood city schools, has been appointed to the chair of geology and metallurgy in the State School of Mines of this city. The appointment has come too late, it is thought, to carry out the plans of the management of the school, to make a survey of a certain portion of the Ragged Top district before the commencement of school. These surveys are made annually by the faculty and students. The appointment of Prof. Free gives general satisfaction to Black Hills people.

Royal Tribe of Joseph.

BURBANK, S. D., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—A lodge of the Royal Tribe of Joseph has completed organization here. Officers elected were: John McMahon, P. P.; H. L. Sugden, W. P.; Speed McIntyre, V. P.; John DeBuhr, P.; J. C. Boyles, scribe; Henry Krueger, treasurer; Fred Cusick, escort; James Adams, Q. G.; Fred Vinson, O. T.; Robert Washburn, Martin DeBuhr, Nels Anderson, trustees.

Will Shorten the Route.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—A corps of Union Pacific engineers has completed the survey for shortening the main line of the Union Pacific between Cooper Lake and Medicine Bow, a distance of forty-five miles. The line at present contains a number of grades and curves which, it is believed, can be avoided by following the new survey, which will also shorten the distance fifteen miles.

Judicial Convention at Woonsocket.

WOONSOCKET, S. GREEN CORN FOR TEXAS FEVER.

Remedy Recommended for the Disease Which is Killing Cattle.

RED OAK, Ia., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—As a result of further investigation by the state veterinarian, twenty herds of cattle have been placed in quarantine for Texas fever. The Sun prints a letter from the Rosenbaum commission firm of Chicago, a valuable extract from which says: "If there is any fever when you receive this, advise everybody to turn their cattle right into green corn, the greener the better, which will give them a good physic and will stop the fever from spreading, and will cure those that have it, provided they are not too far gone. All they need is a good, strong physic."

The surgeon will remain here a few days to enforce the regulations he has established.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE FARMER

United States Must Furnish All the Wheat Europe Needs.

HIGHER PRICES SURELY IN SIGHT

Russia Meditates the Promulgation of a Decree Prohibiting the Export of Wheat—Shippers Scramble for Tonnage.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—The Press will say tomorrow:

Word has been received at this port that the Russian government is meditating the promulgation of a decree prohibiting the export of wheat, owing to the small crops in southern Russia, and this report is causing some uneasiness to those interested. The effect of this contemplated action will be to create a strong demand for wheat tonnage in the Black sea region, so as much grain as is possible may be shipped before the prohibition takes effect. This, in itself, would be calculated to force up freights on vessels loading here.

A well known shipping man in this city said that this contemplated action of the Russian government makes it an almost settled fact that Europe must look to the United States alone to fill her orders for cereals. Just what increase of business this means for Philadelphia, New York and Baltimore alone, is incalculable.

The exports of grain from Philadelphia, which are already the largest on record, will reach figures in excess of what has been the most sanguine expectation of shippers. Within the next few weeks cargoes of grain will be shipped from here to ports in the Adriatic sea, to St. Louis Du Rhone, Marseilles and Alexandria, Egypt. This in itself serves to confirm the rumored prohibitory export law of the Russian government, or, unless something of the kind is contemplated, it would be an unusual action to make such imports from ports at such a distance.

Among the fixtures made for Mediterranean ports may be mentioned the British steamship Picton, which loads either here or at Baltimore 14,000 quarters of grain for Cork for orders at 2 shillings and 6 pence, with option of Marseilles or St. Louis Du Rhone at 4 shillings, and the steamship Ruysdale, 12,000 quarters for Cork, for orders at 3 shillings and 4 1-8 pence, and Adriatic, 4 shillings and 4½ pence.

How to Make a Permanent Paste.

Soak an ounce of refined gelatine in cold water for an hour, then drain off and squeeze out the water as much as posible. Put the gelatine in a jelly pot and place the pot in a pan of hot water over the fire. When the gelatine has melted stir in slowly two and a half ounces of pure alcohol. Put in a wide-mouthed bottle and cork tightly. This glue or paste will keep indefinitely, and can be melted for use in a few minutes by setting the bottle in a basin of hot water. As it contains a very small percentage of water, it affects the gloss of the prints but little, and dries almost immediately.

Proper Title.

Chicago Post: He picked up the copy of the Ladies' Home Comforter that his wife had just put down and began looking over it in a desultory sort of way until he reached an item that seemed to rouse him.

"Valuable Hints for Women," he repeated to himself after a glance at the title. "Great thundering Jupiter! I should think they were valuable. They mean an outlay of $100 a month to me."

Then he carefully cut the column out and threw it into the waste basket, although he felt reasonably sure that she had already seen it.

This is the head of a Pearline woman. "There are others." And if the others don't look cheerful, it's no wonder. You've got to work hard, if you do your washing and cleaning with soap, and you've got to work a long time over it, and you're wearing things out with your rubbing. Pearline makes the work easy and quick; saves rubbing. The wonder is that any woman who has to do soap's hard work can look pleasant. Still, some of them do, in spite of it. 544
