stated in reply to the World inquiry:
"The people most deeply interested are those least likely to tell, and I should be very glad to have a reliable opinion on the matter myself. In my view the continued cale here of American securities is due principally to the increased presperity over there. During the depressed times they were noted here at nominal prices. Now they have got money in the States, they have paid off their loans and are buying back their se-curities. The price of wheat I regard as due largely to fictitious influences, and there-fore cannot and will not last, so that it is not likely to cause much of a movement of gold this fall. I was told this morning by the head of the biggest American houses London that they expect no shipment of id. That is a better opinion than any I could give you, but I don't say it is infalli-

State Acquiesces in the Challenge of the New Jury Law.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 - The prosecution turned a clever trick on the defense today in the trial of Adolph L. Luetgert for the murder of his wife, by practically acquiesclar to the objections of the defense to the drawing of a jury under the new jury commission law. The objections, it was un-derstood, were made by the defense merely 6-4, 7-5, 4-1 and 4-1 for Austin. The score of for the purpose of providing an opportunity to take the case before the supreme court on a writ of error, should this trial go against Luetgert, and the defense was evisustained the objections and ordered a special verire of 100 men under the old jury law Luetgert, the defendant, recovered his selfpossession today and smiled and chatted with his lawyers and his son, Arnold who was constantly near him.

When court was called to order, Attorney Phelan for the defense got up and said: "We desire to withdraw the plea of not guilty entered in this case."

There was a tinge of the sensational in the remark, and spectators leaned forward eagerly, but the lawyer's next words quieted the stir. "We desire to enter a motion to quash the indictment against the defendant as to each and every count. torney Deenen had no objection to the put-ting of such a motion.

"The motion is overruled," said the court.

An exception was taken and the plea of not guilty was again entered. The roll of veniremen summoned today under the new jury commission law was then called but after it showed that fifty-six of the 100 summoned were in court Attorney Vincent, for the defense, arose and objected to them. assigning twenty-eight reasons for his challenge raising the point of unconstitutionality among other things. When argument was concluded, Judge Tuthill said he did not desire to place the prose cution in an embarrassing pisition. He did not think the state should be called upon to test any new law in the trial of such go important case as this was acknowledged to be, and this, more than the reasons assigned by the defense, moved him to sustain the objections to the contemplated method of drawing the jury. He then bassed an order for a cial venite of 100 men, and the case was surged until tomorrow.

Deidrich Bichnez, Lustgert's brother-in-law, created a scene in the jail today by denouncing Luctgert and accoming him of the murder. Bicknex was walking through the jail before the court opened and on the third floor suddenly confronted his brotherin-law, who was standing a few feet away peering through the bars. Pointing at Luct-gert, Bicknez exclaimed: There is the man who murdered my sister. This is the best place for him. He ought to be hanged." Luetgert glared through the iron screen, ut made no eign that he recognized the brother of his missing wife.

It was suggested to Bicknez that he speak to Luetgert, but he drew away with the re-mark: "No, he killed my sister and I don't want to ray a word to him. I have never spoken to him since the day I notified the police of Mrs. Luctgert's disappearance and I never want to speak to him again.'

AUSTIN WINS THE SILVER CUP

Final of the Singles in the Interstate Tennis Tournament.

CLOSING MATCH A DISAPPOINTING ONE

Condee Fails Even to Make a Fight and Surprises His Friends by the Listlessness and Weakness of His Game.

The interstate tennis tournament, which has been occupying the courts of the Omaha club for a week past, came to an abrupt termination yesterday, and the trophy will remain in this city. Roy Austin has shown himself to be superior to all newcomers and to the local cracks.

The playing of the finals yesterday between TAKE BUFFALO BY STORM Ralph W. Condee of Chicago and Roy Austin of Omaha was in many ways a disappointment to the lovers of the game. It was announced by the management upon the evening preceding that the struggle for the silver nd, having been appointed by the He was born in Chicago, Ill., in 1844, of the chagrin of the many patrons of the game when upon arriving upon the grounds yesterday at the time specified they learned all the plums—that if Cincinnati gets the encampment for '98, no Buckeye need ask for the chief office. In the start out Condee played carefully gold as a result the first game was brought up to deuce. It went, however, to Austia with points standing 5-3. The next game was 4-2 for the local man, and the third was bagged Sabine by him with still another point shaved off-en hie The evident ease with which the Omal man did as he wished disconcerted the outof-town player, and from this stage of the next game was a straightaway for Austin, and

The returns, though occasionally landed with considerable for in his opponent's court, were not well placed and were handled easily by the Omaha player The perving was weak, and not on a par a any time with that used in the Condec-Cul-lingham games. The first game went to Austin at the same figures as the first game in the first set—5-3. The next 4-1. In the third Condee pulled himself together and bagged the only game during the set that went to his credit. The score was 4-2. In the fifth sixth and seventh games the score was 4-2 for Aus-

Charles an area and a series as a same An interesting discovery was made by an Omaha attorney the other day while looking up the title to some property in the Third ward. According to the records the west half of South Thirtieth street between Q and R streets has never been dedicated to the city. Lots one and seventeen, both corner are the ones in question. Every map of South Omaha published within the last eleven years has shown that South Thirtieth street was open from Q street to West W street. The lots in question are in Meday's addition and have changed hands many times within the past ten years. One of the lots was mortgaged once for quite a sum and the error was never discovered. Another of the lots was owned for four years by prominent Omaha attorney who, at the time of purchase, looked up the title and abstracts himself. It was during a recent transfer of the property that the discovery was made. In order to settle the matter a quit claim deed was obtained from B. Jetter and now the title to the property is all right. understood that this is case of the kind in the city, a similar erro having been discovered by a real estat agent some time ago.

Pipes will, it is understood, be laid to carry off the surplus water which will be conducted to the new plant. Very little if any pumping will have to be done, as the factory site is considerably lower than Syndicate park. The surveyors are also staking off a part of the old Martin Lumber company tract, it was announced some time ago had been purchased by the sugar syndicate. It ha since been ascertained that the announce ment of this purchase was premature, bu negotiations are now under way with the new owners of the land in question, which comprises two and seven-tenths acres.

Yesterday afternoon Rae walved a preliminary examination and was taken to the county jail by Chief Brennan. Later on Rae was taken before Judge Baker and the bonds in each case reduced to $500. This amount was furnished by Omaha parties. Rae returned at once to South Omaha and was soon mingling with his old associates. Stone is still in jail, hav-

Kent Makes Some Inquiries.

Deputy Commissioner of Labor Sidney J. The commissioner asks the number of hotels and lodging houses, the height of the build-ings, number of fire escapes, etc., also the population of the city. Several attempts have been made by the city council to compel property owners to erect and maintain fire escapes, but as a rule no attention has been paid to the orders.

Colonel Fred Grant Returns from the Black Hills. Colonel Frederick Denton Grant, accompanied by his son, Ulysses S. Grant, was in the city for a short time vesterday aftersoon. He was returning from a trip through the Black Hills, and expressed himself as greatly delighted with his trip. He said: This was my first trip through that portion of the country since 1874, and the changes that have come over it since that time are almost inconceivable. At many points where there was nothing but a trail then I note presperous towns now. The west seems to be entering on an era of good times, and with the prices that are being obtained for agricultural products there is no reason why good times should not abound. No we did no camping on this trip, but stuck to the railroads and the common wagen roads."

During his stop in this city Colonel Grant eccived a number of Omahans, who briefly paid their respects. Among the nu-were: George W. Holdrege, J. N. H. rick, D. S. Barriger, C. W. Talcott and several others. His son, who will enter the United States Military academy this fall, received quite as much attention from the himself. One Omaha man remarked with some surprise about the son's height for a young man of 18, but his father said: "He gets his height from the Grant family all right. My father was not tall, but all my rothers are, and I believe my grandfather was also."
