CORN PROMISES WELL IN WAYNE.

Farmers Are Delighted at the Results of Their Year's Labor. WINSIDE, Neb., Aug. 24.-(Special.)-Thrashing from the shocks is in rapid progreas here now, though hindered by the frequent showers. Wheat is not yielding hogs. well, the average being about eight bushels to the acre. One farmer south of town had sixteen and one-half bushels, which at 74 cents per bushel brought him a splendid return from the land. Seed wheat was hought last spring at about 60 cents and the grain would have had an average crop of wheat As it is it is not more than half the usual yield. Outs, too, is a short crop, being from twenty to thirty bushels per acre. Much of the corn is now out of the milk and so free from danger of frost. Some fields were planted very late, but the abundant rains and hot weather have brought it forward. If the price of corp keeps up as at present and the yield is what it promises to be Wayne county will have more from corn than from wheat. The advance in the price of corn over what it was last winter, when it was hushed, is more than enough to pay for good cribs in which to hold the corn. A farmer could thus have as much for his corn as if sold last winter and have cribs for future crops left.

Expectation that it Will Thrive in Semi-Arid Region.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 .- The Agricultural department is preparing to make an experiment with a new forage plant which is thought to be adapted to the semi-arid regions of the west. It is the Bromus litermis, a grass which is indigenous to the Russian steppes. An order for two tons of the geed of the plant has been wired to Moscow in response to a telegram of Prof. Hapson, the department's agricultural agent, that he could secure this quantity by taking it immediately. The grass is said to thrive in lands which are too dry for the ordinary forance plents. It is a tall, nutritious plant, and it is hoped will prove to be adapted to the plains in the region along the bases of the Rocky mountains. The disputching of Prof. Hanson on this mission has had the effect apparently of creating the impression that the department is making especial inquiry into the agriultural possibilities of the country which will be traversed by the new Siberian railwith the view of determining before-TODO. hand the probable increase and character of competition the American farmer will have o encounter from that quarter.

WILSON INVITED TO THE SOUTH.

Great Demand for the Present Secretary of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 .- Many invitations addressed to Secretary Wilson to visit state and county fairs during the approaching autumn are being received at the Agricultural department, a large number of them being from the southern states.
