When the hour arrived few persons we're around the city building, and there were thirty-seven present when the meeting was called to order by Spencer Smith. Aldermen Casper and Graham were the only members of the council and Mr. McCabe came forward as the speaker for the committee. He made one of his usual strong and somewhat bitter speaches. He said there were plenty of people who felt the same way, and some of them, realizing that the last extremity had been reached, indicated to him their willingness to resort to extreme measures to prevent any further action by the council.

Colonel Whittlessy nominated Mr. Smith as chairman of the meeting, and he was chosen with applause. F. J. Day was made were in line with the arguments of previous CUTS OFF THE FUN. Colonel Whittlesey made several motions o adjourn and the chairman declared that bere was other business to transact, but lonel Whittlesev insisted and put the motion and it was carried after another motion had been made and carried to hold a great mass meeting in front of the city building at 7 o'clock, just before the council con-vened, for the purpose of giving the aldermen an ocular demonstration of the public sentiment.

The precipitate adjournment of the meeting left unfinished an important port of th business. J. A. Patton, one of the citizen committee who took an active part in the early opposition to the motor company, was to be asked to explain his change of front and he had been sent for and was presen for that purpose. He had become interested with Mr. Hannan and others in the Lake Manawa extension scheme, and his friends charge him with something more than mere lukewarmness in his opposition to the other franchise for fear of hurting the chances of his own. Mr. Patton had prepared a reply to these st ictures and was going to read it to the meeting if he had not been cut off . M. Harl had also prepared an address and was waiting to deliver it when Colonel Whit-lesey's adjournment motion prevailed.

The members of the committee c Alderman Grabom in the hallway and escorted him into the private office of the mayor and tried their first experiment upon him. Nearly all of the members had some-thing to say and some of them made speeches. As they warmed up the Pierce street feature was overlocked and the re-cuest grew into a demand not to vote to pass any sort of an ordinance for the com-pany unless it carried a 5-cent fare. This created a slight division in the committee. for a number of the members were opposed to a straight 5-ce t fare, and wanted it only for the workingmen and not for the accommodation of the shoppers who wanted to go to Omaha to do all of their trading. Mr. Everett and Mr. Smith made some strong arguments in favor of delaying action until the fact that the present ordinance was vastly better for the city than the new one even with a 5-cent fare. that the company proposed to suspend the issue of transfers during the State fair season and compel everybody who used two lines in going to the fair grounds to pay 10 cents. The company was called up and its officers gave the city assurances that they had never dreamed of perpetrating such an outrage. But as soon as the crowds ar-rived the company ceased to issue transfers to passengers going to the fair. Some aidermen and newspaper rep eters, to test the thing, tried to secure transfers and failed. Then Mayor MacVicar instructed the city sclicitor to prepare a petition for injunction to restrain the company from collecting two fares. It was to have been presented to the district court today, but the company this morning put back the transfer men and issued the slips in the regular way.
