DR. GORDON QUITS THE PULPIT

the Theological Seminary.

Another of the Presbyterian churches in Omaha is without a pastor. This one is the Westminster church at Georgia avenue and Mason street. Rev. John Gordon has tendered his resignation as pastor, to take effect when his successor is chosen. This resignation, however, does not mean that Rev. Gordon will leave Omaha, for it is understood that he will devote all his time to work at the Presbyterian seminary in this city. Since the establishment of the seminary he has devoted a portion of his time to work as a member of the faculty, and his peculiar fitness for the position has made the trus-tees anxious to secure his whole time whenever they felt that they could afford to do so. The time has now come, and the change mentioned is the result. He has been pas tor of the Westminster church for ten years, or since its organization, and previous thereto had been for several years paster of the First church at Lincoln.

Suggests Some Regulations OMAHA, Sept. 14 .- To the Editor of The suggested the passing of a bicycle ordinance, which is very proper indeed, but that would be only a partial remedy for existing evils. Let me suggest that what we want is metropolitan street regulations and the proper enforcement of them. Driving on the wrong side of the street is common. It is no uncommon thing to see ice wagons standing on a busy thoroughfare, transfer-ring ice from one to the other. If this is allowed, it should be done on a by-street. Buggies and other vehicles are frequently found standing around stores and on thordiscussion, to the great annoyance of passersby. There should be no stopping on thoroughfares. This morning when passing down Farnam street to my place of husiness I saw two teams standing unhitched and nobody in charge of either. One of them started to run at the approach of a water cart, but was providentially stopped by a citizen. Our streets have never got two rival claimants for the position of chief away from the overgrown country viflage, of detectives, will no longer haggle over their and now is an opportune time. Let us see the necessary improvements inaugurated and carried out. "OMAHA."

ONE-THIRD MARKET VALUE

First Assessment Under the New City Charter Will Begin Today.

PLAN FOR LISTING PROPERTY IN OMAHA

Tax Commissioner Sackett Ready to Begin the Work of Assessing Property, as Provided by City's New Charter.

The first municipal assessment under the ing out a system under which the operations of the tax department will be conducted, and precise methods by which the new assessment will be compiled. Some of his ideas have been previously discussed, but it is only within the last few days that all the details have been worked out in a satisfac tory manner.

The assessment of personal property will by which it is expected that a greater degree of accuracy will be obtained. The personal property will be assessed by ten can-vassers, who will be supplied with blanks which have been devised by the tax depart-ment with a view to securing two entirely climen, but they explain that the tax comsonal property will be assessed by ten canment with a view to securing two entirely distinct estimates of the value of the proption, residence address and business address of the property owner. By way of general information a space is left in which the number of rooms furnished and the general character of furnishings is designated. The canvasser is also required to note whether the party is the owner of the promises or simply a tenant; whether the improvements are on leased ground and whether he expects to move before November 15, the date when the assessment is completed

COMPARE PROPERTY VALUES. If improvements are on leased ground the value of the lot is taxed against the owner on the real estate schedule and the value of the improvements to the lessor. The memorandum of taxable property is very similar to that which was used on the old blanks sent out by the assessors. One innovation is the inclusion of bicycles, which are to t taxed like any other personal property. A this is filled out by the canvasser and re mains in his book in the form of a stul while the other half of the sheet is forn ou and given to the property owner. The pro-erty owner's schedule is exactly similar that which has already been filled out the canvasser. On the other side it contains extracts from the Compiled Statues relating to the listing and assessment of personal property and a notice to the property owner plaintiff in the case at bar is taken advantage to fill out the schedule and return it to of it will result in an expose of the names of the tax commissioner within fifteen days from the date of its receipt.

The assessors, as well as the deputies who are to assess the real estate, have ironclad. Instructions not to enter into any argument with any property owner in regard to his assessment and to be absolutely courteous to discharged on the first well grounded com-plaint that they have made any effort to secure any compensation whatever for a prospective low assessment and the tax com-missioner says that he expects the public to co-operate with him by immediately reporting any move of that sort on the part of any employe of his department. The assessment of stocks of goods will be made a department by itself. Mr. Sackett says that this is a matter that requires special qualifications and he has employed one man whose time will be exclusively de When one of the regular deputies comes to a stock of goods he is instructed to simply a stock of goods he is instructed to simply make a memorandum and return it to the ruling that the plaintiff might either bring tax department, from which the expert as-sessor will be sent out to make the as-

The number is also a convenience, inasmuch as it is peculiar to that particular property owner, and if he wants any information in regard to his assessment he can give his number and the tax commissioner can at once turn to his assessment. Nine of the deputies who will make the assessment of real property will also start out this morning. They will begin operations in the northern part of the city. Each deputy will be provided with a blank on which each plece of property is already listed, and his duty will be to fill in the character of the improvements, his estimate of the value of the property and such other information as will be of utility in making up the assessment. He also carries a book in which he enters the actual market value

Every Saturday the deputies are to meet in the office of the tax commissioner and compare their valuations. When they have adjusted these in a uniform manner the actual value of the property will be divided by three and the result entered on the as sessment roll. Mr. Sackett has decided on an assessment at one-third of the market value, which ought to make the total assess-ment somewhere between $60,000,000 and Bee: In your issue of this morning you $70,000,000. This ratio has been decided on mainly for the reason that he believes that it can be accomplished without producing an inequitable result as between the assessments of the railroads and other property. The State Board of Equalization has as-sessed the right of way of the Burlington at $7,400 a mile and that of the Union Pa-cific slightly higher. The investigation of the tax commissioner has convinced him that this is about one-third of the actua value, and the municipal assessment roll will be made up on that basis. The same rule will be followed in making the personal as oughfares, to the public annoyance. tain Mostyn will act as chief of detectives next month when he goes on day duty. Captain Haze did not pair Hemming and Captain Haze did not pair Hemming and Cox together. He assigned Cox to work as a partner of Dunn. Hemming is working alone at present but it is understood that he will be paired with one of the detectives now on the force. Neither Hemming or Cox had much to say about the order, except that Cox stated that he would insist that his pay as chief of detectives should be given him without regard to the nature of the duty to which he was assigned.

NEW ORDINANCE ON PLUMBING.

Inspector Claussen Proposes that Some Changes Be Made. Plumbing Inspector Claussen is at work on a new plumbing ordinance which he contends will be a great improvement on the present system. The new ordinance wipes out the present ordinance altogether and provides an entirely new system of regula-tions. In the first place it provides for an examining board which must pass on the qualifications of every working plumber. The fee for a plumbers license is also raised from $1 to $25. Some radical changes are also made in the methods of inspection. The plumbing inspector says that under the present ordinance the most that the inprovisions of the new charter will begin to- spector can discover is that the work looks day and exactly two months later the assessment rolls must be completed. It is alleged that about a month ago Sorenson departed with the rig and a machine he was carrying as a sample. It is also charged that he got a set of harness from Alfred Cornish, a local harness dealer, and did not pay for it before he left. Sorenson left his family behind, and as the detectives could obtain no trace of his whereabouts they have kept watch upon the family.
