Coming Week's Manifold Postivities Will Usher in the Society Senson - A Diverting Tale of Love and Beer.

The unreamly spectacle of summer lingering immodestly in the lap of autumn was further presented during the first four days of last week, and people, in and out of society, did little else than contemplate it with practically unanimous emotions. This absorbing occupation effectually interfered with Adeline Nash, Elizabeth A. Peck, Saida Allen, pociety doings and will account satisfactorily Gertrude Kountze, Mellora Woolworth, Corfor the somewhat meager record which follows. There is apt to be a certain apathy, Curtis, Anna Shiverick, Florence Kilpatrick, anyway, during the last few days of a mon-arch's reign, and Ak-Sar-Ben the Steenth Moore, Elsie Schoentgen, Carolyn Schoentgen, has less than a week now left to rule. It should be borne in mind, however, that he is not the only Ak-Sar-Ben in the den, that there are others, and that preparations for his successor's coronation ball are nearing Laura Meade of Frement; Eva Stafford and Completion on a scale of magnificence calculated to eclipse all balls of distant or re- and Adeline Worwick of Grand Island; Sue cent past. Next week will not tack for spice, nor the chronicle of its events for zest. With a State fair open every day, both theaters in visiting strangers experiencing the manifold delights and perils of a great city, the nightly parades and the aforesaid ball on Friday will make it a period still more to be remembered. The new king's policy will doubtless have its effect upon the current of society during the coming season, but there is reason to believe that the successor to present sovereign will be as lenient oward the follies of mankind as he.

There are those about here who have not hesitated to anathematize our late weather. The case, however, of Archibald Johns only goes to prove that the past heated term (from more of which may we be granted deliverance), served not to blight every—one was about to say "green thing." but Archibald will not answer to such a classification served not to blight every ambitious growth, but brought about a glorious triumph.

Archibald adores a beauteous maiden, Miss

Mary, whose charms not Archibald alone has found to be manifold. Miss Mary is a general favorite, and she graces the region ad jacent to Hanscom park, under the guidance of her fond parents, with a sweet and modest presence. Her father, a good man, though an austere, believes that young daughters should not be too much in evidence, a good principle within bounds. This, being his firm belief, has led to the annihilation of all possible suitors save one. Archi-bald has been considered sate company because he is so modest and mannerly.

Now this youth suspected a reciprocation of his love, and one evening before the weather changed he determined to sound the depth of Mary's regard. He vowed with a manly vow that he had bided his time long enough, and that if there was a watch on duty that right it should be disposed of. This might have suggested difficulties on the face of it, but Archibald, goaded on by love, knew none of them.

Arrived at the house, hot and perspiring, he spied the fair Mary upon the piazza, with her papa, as usual, on guard. In pursuance of his fell design Archibald bespoke his filirst. "Was there ice water? Very good. No! No one should stir. He knew the way to the diningroom. It was easy to find."

So wat the door leading to the basement. It was but a slight task to set the spring lock upon this door. Then he returned to the piazza to await the arrival of 10 o'clock, then Mary, papa and mamma and Miggins, the pug, must retire.

Time passed slowly. There was nothing to A suggestion that he and Mary should go for an ice cream soda gave Archibald voice, but his kindness was misconstrued by Pater familias meant well, but he had never been a young man, which is the same as saying he never tasted an ice cream The only flavored cold drink papa took was beer, which he did every night before going to bel, a sarrifice to propilitate Morpheus. Papa did not enjoy beer, because it tasted like quinine, but it was easier than running around the block and pro-duced the same soporific effect; and papa weighed fourteen stone.

When 10 o'clock arrived papa arose. "Mr. John," said he, "I am about to take a glass of beer." (This was no news to Archibald, The same thing had often happened to him in the same way). "I never exceed one glass, because it gives me what is called a 'head.' Perhaps you will join me, and then we must all retire !

Accord'eigly, papa repaired to the base ment. Mamma was nowhere in sight. Archibald's time was come. "Mary." he ex-claimed, grasping her hands hurriedly; "time is short. I will do it better next time, on my knees probably, and I owe you a thousand apologies for presuming (there was a tre-mendous rattling at the basement door) for presuming to use underhanded means to ser you alone, although I did lock your father into the basement; but I love you, dearest Yes, I do! (The hubbub below increased, mingled with cries for help.) And I believed if you had a show you would say you loved me. You do? Then let's let father out and I'll drink your health. You do forgive Oh, thanks! I knew you'd stand by me. One kiss, then he'll ascord. There!"

The Dundee Woman's club held its first meeting for the new year last Friday after-noon at the home of Mrs. Heaford, with a goodly number in attendance. The Dundee school opens this term with an enrollment of about sixty pupils, and i conducted, as before, under the managemen of Miss McDunn and Miss Butte. Evening visitors to Dundee need not b like skeletons that startle the unaccustomed vision, as these are but the whitewashed trunks of the young trees planted in uniform rows throughout the village. It is a precaution taken against troublesome in-sects, and adds much to the trim appearance of the freshly rolled streets by day, Exciting but Harmless Runaway. An exciting runaway occurred at the Inion depot yesterday afternoon, which attracted a large crowd. The horse attached to the Union Pacific mail wagon driven by Albert Howard became frightened and dashed up the incline leading to Pacific street. The shafts broke down and the wagon was yanked along by the excited animal for a considerable distance before it was stopped. The vehicle was badly battered. The driver escaped without injury. LOCAL BREVITIES.

The sixth annual convention of the Ne-braska Philatelle society will be held Friday evening, September 24, in room 312, New York Life building. A sneak thief Friday stole a case of instruments belonging to Dr. Shepherd, from the hallway in front of his office in the New York Life building. The case had just been delivered. Charles R. Turney denies the allegation that his candidacy for county commissioner has been withdrawn. He declares that he is still in the race and considers himself strictly in it. He expects to have the support of the Fourth ward delegation in the Annie Shannon McDermott has applied to the courts for a divorce from Charles Mo-Dermott on the grounds of drunkenness and cruelty. She says they were married in County Roscommon, Ireland, February 15, 1876, and have four children, whose ages range from 5 to 19 years. Twenty-eight cars of ore were received Twenty-eight cars of ore were received at the customs office last week for the smelter. As the price of lead ore has advanced to a considerable degree, it is expected that the smelter will not use its bonded warehouse for the present, and will pay the duty imposed by the Dingley bill.

Ida M. Nobbs has applied for a divorce from Mars Nobbs on the ground of bildel-ity. The parties were married in Silverton, Colo., July 21, 1883, and the wife alleges tha she discovered June 1, 1896, that her husband was untrue to her and has not lived with him since that time. They have two children. S. P. Emmel, the barber who was charged with the larceny of a buggy belonging to John Oller, was discharged in police court yesterday after a trial. The vehicle war stolen from Oller a year ago, and recently he found it in a renovated condition in Em mel's possession. Emmel alleges that he purchased the vehicle some weeks after it is reported to have been stolen. The buggy was turned over to Oller by order of Police Judge Gordon.

Anna Moutkey, 2519 South Twenty-sixth yesterday caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of her husband, Albert, on the charge of disturbing the peace. She at first wanted a couple of neighbors ar-rested for alienating the affections of her better half, but when the city prosecutor refused to issue such a warrant she ac-cepted the other. The wife alleges that the neighbors are trying to induce her husband to leave her. She says that Friday he came home from these neighbors in an in-toxicated condition and abused her with loud and profane language.

An appeal has been issued by Mrs. Horace Ludingion, chairman of the woman's com-mittee of the Child's Home, for a lot on which to build a new orphanage. The women expect to collect a sum of money, which with the money donated by the Victoria Jubilee association, will be sufficient to build a suitable home for the children aiready under their care and which will also accommodate many other children whom, for lack of accommodations, they are compelled to turn away. The reason for this is that the iers are cramped for room and is dilapidated and absolutely without modern or sanitary conven-lences. With a free lot the committee says which will meet all necessary requirements and will be a credit to Omaha, as well as a lasting monument to the generosity of the donor.

Team Becomes Unmanageable and Driver is Thrown to Payement. Youum Schuett, who lives at 1420 Howard screet and is employed about the Hoffman stables, was seriously hurt in a runaway on North Seventeenth street, pear Daven port, at 10 o'clock yesterday. The accident occurred while Schuett was driving a dent occurred while Schuett was driving a lead of refuse from the stable north on Seventeenth street. On the grade that leads downward north of Farnam to Dodge street, the horses were unable to hold back the heavy load. As the vehicle pressed upon their heels they became frightened, and when Dodge street was reached, they were roins at headless expectations. going at headlong speed and Schuett was unable to stop them. At Davenport street the wagon was overturned and Schuett was thrown violently to the ground-broke away, but were captured.

SCHUETT HURT IN A RUNAWAY. that he could give no account of the accident. He was removed to the stables where he is employed and a physician was summoned, it was found that Schuett's collar bone was broken and that he had sustained internal injuries.
