W. J. White of the Deminion Interior Department Tells of His Country's Efforts to Develop the Mining Region.

William J. White, a resident of Ottawa, Canada, told a Bee representative that the idea generally prevalent in this country that the Canadian government is trying to hog the Klondike is an entirely mistaken one. He certainly is in a position to know, because he is connected with the Department of the Interior of Canada, which branch of the government has tried to secure all information possible regarding the gold district through exploring parties is attempting to give it a government, is now working to open up a feasible route into the gold fierus and is giving the Canadian publie all the information in its hands regarding the famous regions. Furthermore, Mr. White is an ex-newspaper man of twenty years' experience, and that record alone a sufficient guaranty of the truth of any statements he may make. is entirely wrong, this idea that the Canadian government is discriminating against Americans in the Klondike regions." Canadian government said Mr. White. "As a matter of fact Americans have exactly the same rights as Canadians, with the exception that they must pay a duty upon some of the articles which they import into the Canadian territory. Certainty America has no right to object to that when it itself enjoys a proteclive tariff system. It is a matter of fact that the Canadian government is far more liberal to Americans than the latter could be to us under their laws and under the same circumstances. Our mining regulations do not d'rtinguish between nationalities. An American can go to Klondike and take up a claim upon exactly the same basis as a Canadian Now consider your own mining laws. These provide that no alien who is not a citizen, or at least who has not declared his intenbecoming a citizen, can possess in his own right any mining property in the territory of the United States. Under those laws I must relinquish my citizenship in my own country and must declare my intention perfore I can take up a claim in your country. There is nothing like that in our ming regulations, and of this I speak from positive knowledge, as I assisted in drawing them up. It can be stated as a broad ing them up. It can be stated as a broad proposition that Americans and Canadians

EVERYBODY PAYS ROYALTY. "The greatest outery, however, has been over the fact that the Canadian government demands a royalty upon the gold taken out of the fields. Ten per cent of the amount under $500 taken out of a single claim in a week goes to the government. The royalty is 20 per cent when the amount exceeds $500. But here again the Canadian and the tamerican are on an equal footing. One which he chained from the reports of expert any the royalty as well as the other. American are on an equal footing. One must pay the royalty as well as the other. Moreover, this royalty should not be considered an injustice when the work that the government interior department is doing is considered. It has already a squad of mounted police in the district and is premounted police in the district and is premounted police in the district and is premounted police. The same is a premounted police in the district and is premounted police in the district and is premounted police. paring to send more. It is at work try-ing to make feasible some route to the dising to make feasible some route to the dis-trict and has sent out and is sending out exploring parties for that purpose. It is dike and this appellation has clung to the in the near future. In fact, the Interior department is doing all in its power to give the Klondike as good a government as posmonths past Hon. Clifton Sifton and his deputy, James A. Smart, have worked day and night upon the new problems the discovery of the gold fields unexpectedly presented to them. Mr. White states that there are a half dozen or more routes that have been tried big a display as any of the states. from the interior of Canada into the Klondike district, but none of them so far has been found to be feasible. The farthest to the east is what is known as the Hudson Bay route, the chief disadvantage of which is its length, 4,000 miles. Travelers along this go over Hudson bay and then through the chain of rivers and lakes and overland into the gold district. Then there is what is known as the Edmonton route, which starts from the town of that name in the northwestern territories, near the eastern boundary of British Columbia, and runs to the Great Slave lake and then overland and over lakes and rivers to the district. This is 2,700 miles in length. The difficulty is that here Great Slave lake and the river are frozen up until July. From Edmonton runs another route, known as the Lland which proceeds along the river of that name and is 1,200 miles in length. This may be feasible. At any rate the Canadian Pacific railroad is exploring it with the intention of running in a railroad of it is possible Then there is a 1,200-mile route along the Frazier river, and another 850 miles long from Wrangell in Alaska to Cudahy, MOST FEASIBLE ROUTE. The route, however, which the Interior department of Canada considers the most feasible, and upon which it is now working, is what is known as the Taku river route. The start is made from Juneau in Alaska. and the first stretch is along the Taku river to Telegraph creek in Canadian territory. An overland trip of eighty miles must then be made to Teslin lake. The remainder of the journey is over this lake and by river to Klondike, a distance of 600 miles. This is looked upon to be the coming route. The great disadvantage is the eighty miles between Telegraph creek and Teslin lake, which must be made on foot. The Caradian government is now considering the practleability of ecostructing a line of railroad over this stretch. Three weeks ago an exploring party went out to look over the

GORDON ON THE RIGHTS OF BICYCLISTS

Police Judge Holds that if a Man Is Run Down the Driver is Not Guilty of Any Criminal Offense.

Wheelmen who have been thinking that drivers of vehicles can be prosecuted for an accident that occurs as a result of their driving on the wrong side of the street will be undecrived of this belief by a decision

Police Judge Gordon readered yesterday afternoon. The point was squarely brought out. J. W. Vogan, a bicyclist, was the complainant in the case. He was riding north on Sixteenth street on the east or right side. Just before he reached Webster street, H. F. Hattenhauer, a Council Bluffs resident. drove a buggy from Webster street upon Sixteenth. He had been driving westward on the south or wrong side of Webster street and he turned south upon Sixteenth on the east or wrong side of that street. The two vehicles collided. Vogan was struck in the chest by the buggy shaft and was thrown to the pavement. His wheel was badly smarhed by the horse's hoofs. Hattenhauer was arre-ted on the charge of reckless driving. He denied that he had been going fast and insisted that the wheelman ran into his rig. On the other hand, Vogan maintained that the whole thing was Hattenhauer's fault, chiefly for the reason that he was on the wrong side of the street, It seems that Vogan was riding alongside heavy wagon and when Hattenhauer' drove across in front and turned south he could not get out of the way. He insisted that if Hattenhauer had been driving on the north side of Webster street and had not turned until the west side of Sixteenth street had been reached by him the accident would never have occurred.

Judge Gordon took cognizance of this contention regarding the u e of the right and wrong side of the street and decided the case on that point. In discha ging Hattenhauer

"If the man was driving on the wrong side of the street he may be liable for civil dam-ages, but he is not guilty of any criminal offense."

Death of Colonel Finlay.

Colonel John D. Fin'ay, who was well known in this city as one of the heaviest property owners here, died in a street car in New York City Monday evening at the advanced age of 70 years. While Colonel Findlay had never resided in Omaha, his frequent visits and his interests in the city had made him a host of friends here. His death was due to apoplexy.

> CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 21 .- (Special.)-It has been discovered by the county attorney of Laramie county that the law passed by the last legislature of Wyoming providing for a joint tax sale by countles and cities for delinquent taxes is a nullity. An examination of the journals for both houses of the legislature discloses the fact that amend-ments made to the original bill by both houses and agree to in co ference commit-tee and ratified by the several houses, were not incorporated in the bill by the engross-ing clerks, and that the law as signed by the governor was radically different from that passed by the legislature. The effect will compel separate sale for delinquent taxes by the city of Cheyenne and county of Laramic, as under the law sought to be repealed by the new statute.
