Mr. Hermann, who has made a study of forest reservations and timber laws for many years, has in his report handled the question of timber thievery in a manner which will open the eyes of the western peoof instances where the whole power of the government has been inadequate, seemingly, what he found by his own investigation, and to bring known depredators to justice. It is what was explained to him by the scientists a notorious fact that the suit pending in the in charge of the different divisions. It is a further notorious fact that, try as the government might, it has been powerless to bring to trial this suit which has been pending against the Homestead Mining company for upwards of five years. District attorneys have either been too busy to prosecute the case or material witnesses were absent from the state at the time the and, according to the commissioner, an imperative mandate will be made upon the district attorney, through the attorney general, to bring this suit to issue.

pounds. The production in the previous year amounted to 50,853,234 pounds and in 1895 to 56,958,165 pounds. Prior to 1894 the production of elemargarine increased from 21,513,537 pounds in 1887 to 69,622,246 pounds in 1894. The decrease since 1894 is mainly attributable to the hostile state legislation cutting off the privilege of sale as well as that of manufacture. Further legislation along this line is expected to cause a con-tinued decrease in the production. The number of manufactories decreased from twenty two in 1896 to sixteen in 1897. The number of wholesale establishments from 157 to 103 and the number of retail houses from 4,389 to 3,539. The quantity exported during the year amounted to 3,148,407 pounds, which is a slight increase over the year 1896.

Illinois continues to be the greatest state for the manufacturing of this product, more than half the total output having been produced in the first district of Illinois. Rhode Island is second, with a total production of 7,112,433 pounds, and Kansas third, with 5,589,363 pounds. The stock on hand June was 227,784 pounds, against 396,404 pounds July 1, 1896. The total output since the act went into effect ten years ago has been 565,953,866 pounds, and the total revenue from this source during the last fiscal year amounted to $1,034,129.60. In addition to heading the list in the manufacture of deomargarine, Illinois consumes fully onethird of what it makes. In the state there are 1,065 retail establishments. Ohlo is the second state in the use of the product and Pennsylvania third. The District of Colum-bia is credited with two wholesale establishwhich pay $480 a year each, and sixty-three retail establishments, which pay $48 a year each. The amount consumed in the district cannot be ascertained,

PITTSBURG WANTS ED HANLON. Makes a Big Offer for the Manager of the Oriotes. NEW YORK, Oct. 3 .- The Journal tomorow will publish the following:

Edward Hanlon, the successful manager o the Baltimores, was recently the recipient of the most astonishing offer in the history of professional base ball. The owners of the Pittsburg club, which has had poor success in the pennant fight for some years past, desired to secure the services of the great Baltimore manager. They offered him a contract calling for $12,000 a year and a quarter interest in the club, in fact H. R. Vonderburst, part owner in the Baltimore club, said if Hanlon left the club he (Vonderburst) would sell out. Failing to secure Fanlon, the Pittsburgers engaged W. H. Watkins of Indianapolis, who was manager of the champion Detroits when Halon iwas center fielder and captain.

The owners of the Philadelphia club also made an effort to engage Hanlon, but without success. Hanion, who was at Hoboken today, said so far as he knew the Orioles would start the season of 1898 the same as at present. He was disappointed at his failure to win four successive pennants, but said the finish was so close it was no disgrace to come second. He felt that but for the unparalleled list of injured players in the early part of the season be would have had a safe lead at the close. He paid a tribute to the ability of Kid Nichols, the Boston pitcher.
