

Dress Goods Drings.

Each passing day improves our dress goods facilities and leads us on to greater possibilities—We call special attention to our plaids—nice plaids—are scarce—Its a good idea to buy a plaid dress here and now—that is, if you going to want one—they are scarce.

PLAID They are HANDSOME plaid dress goods. They are ex-GOODS tremely scarce—but we bought a large lot of them. Merchants positively cannot buy a dollars worth of them on the New York market today. We bought all that a wholesaler had because we know they'd be scarce—bought them at the old prices before the tariff raised them.

These choice, handsome, bright plaids that everybody is after—The tariff price insists on making them $500—we can sell them—for $100.

The $100 plaids, beautiful creations, we will sell—$150.

CLOAKINGS All the latest novelties of the season you will find in our stock of Cloakings.

New Bonnets.
New plaid back novelties.
New shades in hatters.
New fancy cloakings.
If you can't get suited to a ready-made cloak, try us on cloakings.

SCROLL Have you seen our Scroll BRAIDS Braid Trimmings in black with colored centers? They are new.

Braids of every description.
In all black we can give you a great variety—Also many pretty styles in colors.

THOMPSON, BELDEN & Co.

BIRDS, MUSIC AND MANY FLOWERS.
Brilliance and Beauty the Features of the Day.
That constitutes the population of Omaha which attended the fall opening of Thompson, Belden & Co. yesterday and last night was given a forcible illustration of the extent to which the artistic and beautiful may be combined with the more practical equipments of a retail store. While in this case the interior decorations were intended merely as an index to the display of an exceptionally complete and attractive line of new goods, the work of the decorator was so well performed that it narrowly escaped becoming the principal feature of the occasion. The two lower floors of the building were converted into a veritable realm of beauty. The illuminations were unique and attractive and the songs of a score of sweet voiced birds mingled with the perfume from hundreds of clusters of the choicest flowers to give an effect of oriental magnificence.

The first thought of the visitor who dropped in on the ground floor yesterday was that by some freak of magic a clothing store had disappeared to make a place for a corner from fairyland. The monotony of the interminable counters, with their burdens of handsome garments, was concealed by a lavish distribution of potted palms and plants that rose half way to the ceiling to meet the festoons of smilax and colored lights that dropped to meet them. The show cases were profusely ornamented with huge clusters of roses and carnations, and the space between the windows was literally banked with flowers and foliage plants. Festoons of Ak-Sar-Ben lamps hung from the chandeliers, and here and there were cases of canaries that chirped a shrill accompaniment to the strains of the orchestra that was encoined in the gallery just over the main floor.

The second floor which contains the children's department, was decorated with equal beauty. Here was also a profusion of flowers, smilax and colored lights, and the magnificently furnished lounging place provided for feminine visitors was fragrant with the perfume of the most exquisite roses arranged in artistic designs and clusters. A small aquarium of Japanese gold fish was a very effective foil to the less brilliant colors of the flowers and a model of a ship and its crew in bronze completed the artistic effect.

That the lavish expenditure of time and money that was required to produce such effects was expected to bring an adequate remuneration is a matter of course. That it was entirely successful in this particular the management freely admits. Major R. S. Wilcox, the local manager for the firm, was turned off late last evening by a shrill shriek of the heavy trade had materially lowered the piles of goods which burdened the counters in the morning. There was a constant stream of visitors through the establishment from early in the forenoon until 10 o'clock last night. No one was importuned to buy, but the efforts of the management were directed to affording the visitors every facility to see everything that was to be seen in the big establishment. A couple of young women were in attendance to pin a handsome floral corsage on the dress of each of every visitor and then they were allowed to listen to the music and admire the flowers and decorations at their leisure. That many of them found time to admire the handsome garments that were displayed to their best advantage in such attractive surroundings is exemplified in the everyday goings and comings of the better classes—courtly-acted by generous influences and a high sense of duty which would sacrifice a life's happiness rather than be guilty of an ungenerous act. The inevitable daisy was there, for no scene from the south would be complete without him, and the old manny, too. The play itself is one of considerable merit, well suited to the manner of man who heads the cast, though in the hands of a less artistic company would not rise above the level of several which have come and gone in public favor. Clay Clement has won his way into the hearts of Omaha theatergoers, who were rather doubtful at first concerning the man who came among them unheralded. No one on the stage today can deliver a pretty sentence with more grace and artful effect and in the stronger parts, where many rant and jar upon the nerves, his quiet and impressive methods are far more effective. In the "Southern Gentleman" the faculty is still more conspicuous than in the "New Dominion," with which he first captivated Omaha audiences. The entire company is of a special merit. The "Southern Gentleman" will be repeated this evening and this afternoon and Friday evening the "New Dominion" will be the bill.

Druggists know Dr. Davis' Anti-Headache is best of all headache remedies.

Threat of a Delegation.
The executive committee of the Republican county committee met yesterday afternoon to consider matters pertaining to the primaries tomorrow. The delegation from the Third ward, headed by Charles M. Eachman, and supported by the central republican club in that ward, was thrown out, as it was found that the petition behind it contained a number of names of people who did not live in the ward, and were, therefore, defective. This leaves but one delegate to be voted on at the primaries in that ward.

Veteran Firemen After a Convention.
Plans for securing a convention of the Veteran Firemen of the Nation in 1898 occupied the time of the local body at its meeting last night. Several names were submitted for membership and were voted in, as all were able to satisfy the requisite of five years' service in the fire department of the city. The finances of the association were found to be in a satisfactory condition, nearly $100 being reported in the treasury.

Went of the Struggle.
Minnie Brown, drunk and discouraged, last night took a simple measure of laudanum and thought she had the end of her residence at 500 Capitol avenue well in sight. The woman is an inmate of the house at that number and the stimulus of alcohol has often before brought on attacks of melancholia. No city physician was within call, Dr. Towne attended the case, and the woman was delivered of the drug with no further serious consequences.

Alleged Hat Thieves Arrested.
Clarence Myrick and Ed Nightengale were arrested last night on suspicion of not being reputable citizens and were later identified as being concerned in a same whereby Pease Brothers were despoiled of a fine hat, valued at $10. They admit being in the store, but no trace of the hats was obtained.

AGAINST CATTLE THIEVES

Supreme Court Settles a Number of Appeals.

NEW LAW ON THE MATTER HELD GOOD

Statute Making Cattle Stealing a Felony, the Same as Horse Stealing, Receives Sanction of the Judges.

LINCOLN, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Among the decisions handed down by the supreme court during this sitting are the affirmations of the trial court in the cases of Catron and Granger, both of Sheridan county. In each of these cases the crime charged was cattle stealing, which under the law passed in 1895, is a penitentiary offense, the same as horse stealing. Appeals were taken to test this law. Similar appeals came from other western counties, until there were seven or eight cases depending upon a decision as to the validity of the law. The decision handed down today in the Granger case upholds the law and practically decides all the other cases. The Catron case was appealed on the same grounds, but had an additional claim of error because of alleged misconduct on the part of the prosecuting attorney.

The voucher case, the governor today from the exposition commission for the payment of ground rent on the exposition grounds for the Nebraska building. The charge is 25 cents per square foot for 14,241 feet, making a total of $3,560.25. The governor has approved the bill.

W. H. Mackey, Jr., sheriff from Junction City, Kan., was here today with a requisition for the return of Charles Enfield, who is charged with the forgery of Enfield. Enfield is now in jail at Fairbury.

The Omaha School of Law, an association organized for the promotion of education in the science of law, for the establishment of an academy of law in the city of Omaha, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state today. The Omaha Hackmen's union, with a capital stock of $500, filed articles of incorporation today. The officers are: John Larson, president; D. A. Russell, secretary; Charles White, treasurer. Another incorporation today is the Southeastern Stock and Development company of Omaha, with a capital stock of $55,000. Its business is to be the survey, purchase and sale of mining property, the dealing in patent rights and the development of mining plants and the establishment of a stock exchange for the sale of ores. The incorporators are Alex McMillen, Frank C. O'Hollaren and George W. Shields.
