ATTENDANCE AT STATE FAIR
Official Reports Which Refute the Statement Given Out by the Board.
RAILWAY COMPANIES SUBMIT FIGURES
Contention that Several Thousand Admissions to the Big Show Are Not Accounted For by the Managers.
The State fair trains of the Union Pacific railroad, the Missouri Pacific railroad and the Omaha Street Railway company carried more people to the State fair grounds during the last month than there were total admissions, according to the statement given out by the board of managers of the State fair. Just what the several thousand people who went out to the State fair grounds but did not go in did to while away their time is not known, but it is presumed they stood about the fences and looked in.
Ever since the very remarkable statement of the State fair board was made public a fortnight ago, Omahans have been inclined to believe that the figures of the admissions had been juggled with. This belief was confirmed yesterday when the passenger department of the Union Pacific railway completed its count of tickets taken up on State fair trains from Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs to the fair grounds.
Here are the figures that show that more people went to the grounds than there were total admissions, according to the State fair board's report, including both paid and free admissions, as reported by the Board of Managers of the State fair was 58,949.

THERE WERE OTHERS.
The 60,332 passengers hauled by the railroads to the State fair grounds exceed the number of total admissions reported by the State fair management by 1,383, and do not include the people who went to the grounds via other routes. It has been estimated by persons who were on the grounds throughout the week that at least 5,000 people went to the fair during the five days its gates were open by other means than steam or electric cars. It is considered a very conservative estimate to say that 8,000 or an average of 1,600 a day, went to the State fair in carriages, wagons, on bicycles, on horseback, including also those who walked from nearby places. It is thought that more were about the gates during the entire fair than the number who drove in from the surrounding country was larger this year than ever before.

Both the Burlington and the Elkhorn railroads brought people from their various lines into the State fair grounds direct. The number who went directly to the State fair grounds without entering Omaha was smaller this year than in previous years, but 2,500 drove, rode as well as to the grounds and by railroads who looked after this travel. The Elkhorn's State fair coupons number something more than 3,200. An official of that road said yesterday that he thought 50 per cent of this number went directly to the State fair grounds. This would be 1,600. The Burlington switched cars from incoming trains at Desford for the State fair grounds on three days of the fair, and 900 is considered a fair estimate for the people who went to the fair on the Burlington line.

The addition of 47,180 hauled by the Omaha street railway, $360 by the Union Pacific, 4,247 by the Missouri Pacific, 5,000 who drove, rode as well as to the grounds and 2,000 who were taken directly to the grounds by the Burlington and the Elkhorn railroads

South Omaha News.

The South Omaha hospital is badly in need of financial assistance, and unless donations are freely made within a short time it will be necessary to close the doors. Within the last few months nearly all of the women interested in the institution, with the exception of Mrs. William Berry and Mrs. John Carroll, have resigned.
At the present time the hospital owes little or nothing, but money must be had to carry on the work and pay running expenses. It is estimated by Mrs. Berry that the hospital can be kept going on $100 a month. Of this amount the city now pays $25 every month. This donation just paying the rent of the building occupied. In order to revive interest in the hospital it has been suggested by Mrs. Berry and others that a public meeting be held at some time in the near future at which the needs of the institution will be made known. It is thought that in the evening and the ladies who figure so prominently in the work will be able to keep the doors open during the winter. A committee will most likely be appointed to solicit the managers of the packing houses and the stock yards to induce the latter to make corporations to pledge a certain sum each month. As it will be necessary to raise only a few dollars a month it is thought that enough money can be raised in this way to meet all expenses.
The physicians here have and are doing all they can. Their services are given free and in addition to this there is a free dispensary every day, which takes considerable time to look after. During the last three months the hospital has cared for twenty-seven patients, only two of this number paying anything for the treatment received.
In a few days the present nurse leaves to continue her studies at a medical college and it will be necessary to employ another. There is no money of hand to pay a nurse and another nurse will not be engaged. Nearly every day some one is injured at one of the packing houses and as the majority of packing house employees are single men there are taken to the hospital. Every packing house here insures its employees in an accident insurance company and for this reason it is thought by some that the hospital is taken care of well. The captain will surmount the erection of a dyke at this point and will turn the water into the lake which will be about 100 acres in extent. Ice houses with a capacity of 50,000 tons are to be built this fall in order that the coming winter's ice crop may be stored.

AMUSEMENTS.

A fair sized audience greeted Clay Clement yesterday afternoon at the presentation of that delightful play, "The New Dominion." The supporting company gives an even more perfect presentation of the piece than the one which accompanied him on his previous visits and Mr. Clement has through repeated loss none of the charm which so captivated those who heard him on other occasions. While the audience was not so numerous as the merits of the performance deserved, neither Mr. Clement nor the company can complain that it was not thoroughly responsive to their efforts to please, and while soft words and applause "brought no parents" to one who is imbued with his art it brings its gratification, and with each recurring visit it is apparent that his friends and admirers are on the increase.

DERTHICK CLUB IS ORGANIZED.

A business meeting of the Dertnick club was held last evening at the residence of the president, Mrs. Edward P. Peck. The members in the two committees were filled, and they stood as follows:
Program Committee—Mrs. Clara S. Cotton, Martin Cahn and Homer Moore.
Executive Committee—Mrs. Clara S. Cotton, Mrs. J. P. Potter and Mrs. J. W. Thomas.
Rules were adopted imposing a fine of 10 cents for absence from a meeting and 25 cents for failure to perform on a program. Paxton and Burgess offered the use of Creighton hall and the offer was accepted and the secretary was instructed to convey a vote of thanks from the club. The first regular meeting was set for October 19 at Creighton hall, call at 8 p. m. A program of music by Chopin will be analyzed and performed under the direction of Martin Cahn. The club is now fairly under way. Its meetings will occur every two weeks and each program will be under the direction of a different member, who has the right to invite any member to assist, and each program will be prepared with the aid of the analysis to be read at its performance.

Operates Omaha's Oil Mill

National Lined Oil Company Concentrates Western Business Here.
PLANT TO BE ENLARGED IMMEDIATELY
Ex-State Senator Hirst of Kansas Takes Charge and Begins an Active Campaign Without Any Delay.
Since the location of the Armour packing plant at South Omaha the most important event in a business way is the decision of the company controlling the lined oil factories of the west to centralize its western business at Omaha. For some time the company has had such a move under consideration, the only question being as to the point to be selected for carrying out the enterprise. Recently ex-State Senator Hirst of Leavenworth was sent to Omaha to look into the situation, and as a result of his investigations this city was the point decided upon. Mr. Hirst is now here, in charge of the Woodman Lined Oil mills, as president and treasurer, with Miles M. Anderson as secretary, and the mills at St. Joseph, Topeka, Atchison and Leavenworth will be closed. This will necessitate a large increase in the capacity of the Omaha plant, and it is proposed to move the machinery of the Leavenworth mill here for that purpose.
Arrangements are already being made with the railroads which will permit of the shipment of the machinery to Omaha, to be shipped to the south, which was not possible in the past. Another feature of great importance connected with the change will be the revival of tax growing in the state, as Mr. Hirst says a plan will be adopted to supply farmers in all sections of the state with seed at very low price and contract to take their crop, so that the growers will know just what they are doing in advance. The growing of flax for the seed was at one time a large and important industry in this state, but the difficulty of marketing the crop and other causes resulted in its gradual abandonment by the farmers, until it has fallen to a very low point.
Mr. Hirst has evidently heard of the Nebraska slogan, "Patronize Home Industries," for almost the first thing he said was to the effect that he had located his mill here to help the people of Omaha and vicinity would not forget to patronize an enterprise that with their help he hopes to transform into one of the most important in the west, and in return he never promise them that they need never have reason to be ashamed of the product of their oil mill. Mr. Hirst is a practical lined oil man, having been manager of the Leavenworth mill for nine years, and in addition to his duties in that direction he found time to take a prominent part in the politics of his state. He expresses himself as very much pleased with Omaha, and is coming to Omaha overland.

Nashville Guards Want a Job at the Exposition.

The men now employed by the Nashville exposition in the capacity of guards and watchmen have written to Secretary Wakefield of the Transmississippi Exposition at one time or another during the past six months and have made application for employment as guards.
The latest communication from this source was received Wednesday and indicates that a portion of the Nashville exposition guard is about to make a descent upon Omaha for the purpose of carrying all the nice, soft berths as watchmen.
The communication referred to was signed Samuel Carr, president of the Oregon, Short Line and T. Jefferson Coudsley, T. H. Director of that road, will arrive in Omaha this morning and spend a portion of the day here before returning their journey westward.

Pat Hughes Injured.

Pat Hughes was thrown from a moving wagon yesterday and received a slight flesh wound under the left arm. The accident happened at Twenty-sixth and Armour streets. A telephone message was sent to the city jail, stating that a man named Hughes had been killed in a runaway accident, but there was no truth in the report. Hughes was taken to his home in the Third ward and his wounds dressed by a physician.

Suspected of Murder.

Charles Bennett and John Kavanaugh are the names given by two suspicious characters now being held at the city jail awaiting an investigation. From papers found in their possession the police are inclined to think that the prisoners know something about a murder which was committed at Nebraska City some time ago. Chief Brennan is preparing a description of the men to send to the police of Nebraska City.

Threatening Fire.

Fire was discovered in a barn at Twenty-eighth and I streets yesterday afternoon and for a moment it looked as if there might be quite a conflagration owing to the proximity of the planing mill. The fire department arrived promptly and the water pressure was good, so that while the barn, which belonged to the Chas. Smith, was almost entirely destroyed, the loss will not exceed $50.

Magie City Gospel.

P. W. Godfrey of New York City is here visiting his nephew, W. D. Godfrey. A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Barrett, Twenty-sixth and R streets. A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. George Snell, Forty-sixth and R streets. Friday evening, October 15, the Rebekahs will give an oyster supper at Masonic hall. Dan Hanson has returned from Greta, where he went to look after a grading contract. The business of the South Omaha postoffice for the six months ending October 1 amounted to $21,412.32. Next Tuesday the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will give a chicken pie dinner at the Pioneer block. Rev. George Van Winkle, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be almost entirely absent from the city during his vacation. The board held a meeting and summarily dismissed the obstinate teacher. Further than this, another teacher was employed to take charge of the Avery school, Mrs. Smith and she refused to change from the Avery school where she had been teaching. The board was almost entirely absent from the meeting and summarily dismissed the obstinate teacher. Further than this, another teacher was employed to take charge of the Avery school, Mrs. Smith and she refused to change from the Avery school where she had been teaching. The board was almost entirely absent from the meeting and summarily dismissed the obstinate teacher.

Building Permits Increase.

September was the banner month for building permits. The fees derived from permits issued amounted to $55, which is more than double the average. Under the existing arrangements all of the money received for building permits and home moving permits goes into the pockets of the city treasurer. The city engineer will be authorized to issue permits and also supervise the erection of the buildings. In order that he may get about the city the engineer is allowed $10 each month for livery hire. An increased number of permits result from this expedient, as formerly many persons living in the suburbs were backward about taking out the necessary permits.

Municipal Electric Light.

The talk of municipal ownership of water works and electric light plants has been revived by the troubles now existing between the Omaha Gas company and one Julius C. Sharp. Last Friday the gas company complained of lay main on N street, but by the time four blocks had been laid the work was stopped by an injunction. Some citizens who are not particularly favorable to the gas company admit that the city is now large enough for both kind of lights and assert that there is room for both companies here.

Work at the Armour Plant.

Several carloads of heavy timbers for use in the buildings at the Armour plant have arrived and are being unloaded. One pile driver has been taken from the cars and is being placed in position on the first building to be erected. Scrapers are still at work excavating for the cellar of the lock house, but it is expected that this work will be completed in a day or two and pile driving will commence by the latter part of the week. The piles are all on the ground and are now scattered over the site. Superintendent Simpson is pushing work as much as possible while the good weather holds and expects to get to the brick work before a great while. Contractors are now figuring on the walls for the beef house and the beef cooler. There has been some delay lately in the grading on account of the machinery in the steam engine room being out of order and all four shovels are now employed.

Work at the Armour Plant.

C. L. Saylor, the present paymaster, has returned from Chicago and stated yesterday that he has a permanent home here. He has taken a house on Georgia avenue, which is now in course of construction, and will move his family here as soon as the building is ready for occupancy. Captain de Moranville leaves today for a point near Ashland, where Armour has purchased a tract of land for a lake and ice house. The captain will superintend the erection of a dyke at this point and will turn the water into the lake which will be about 100 acres in extent. Ice houses with a capacity of 50,000 tons are to be built this fall in order that the coming winter's ice crop may be stored.

Avery School District Troubles.

It appears that the troubles in the Avery school district were not entirely settled when one of the judges of the district court placed the recently-elected board in control. Mrs. Anna Smith was expelled by the old board and was given recognition by the new board when it assumed control of affairs. In making the assignment of teachers the board assigned Mrs. Smith to the Chandler school. This was distasteful to Mrs. Smith and she refused to change from the Avery school where she had been teaching. The board was almost entirely absent from the meeting and summarily dismissed the obstinate teacher. Further than this, another teacher was employed to take charge of the Avery school, Mrs. Smith and she refused to change from the Avery school where she had been teaching. The board was almost entirely absent from the meeting and summarily dismissed the obstinate teacher.

Swindler Locked Up.

John Miller met Henry Tenbensen, an innocent Iowa, on Douglas street last evening and asked the favor of allowing him to compare a supposedly counterfeit bill for five dollars with one which Tenbensen might have in his pocket. Tenbensen agreed for the comparison. As soon as Miller was possessed of it he started rapidly in the direction of the street and was seen leaving Tenbensen full of wonder. T. J. White, a passerman, was more prompt and landed Miller after a brisk run and he was locked up on the charge of petty larceny.
