Nominate Men for the Board of Education.

The fusion convention to nominate candichair. Dr. Whipple acted as secretary and Charley Fanning appeared as chief of the floor managers. There were just twenty-five delegates in attendance and the scant rooms of the Jacksonian club were ample to accommodate the convention.

S. D. Mercer, free silver republican, and Elmer E. Thomas, populist, both of the Ninth ward, were first selected for the nominees of the regular term on the Board of Education. three following free silverites were selected as candidates for the long terms in the Board of Education: Samuel Rees, Fourth ward; Hobert Williams, Pifth ward, and Ab Waggoner, Second ward. For the nominations to fill the vacancies in the Board of Education the following were chosen: M. F. Funkhouser, First ward, and Dr. J. C. Whinnery, Fifth ward. The instructions given to W. S. Shoemaker to learn whether Harry P. Deuel would consent to be a candi-date were rescinded, as the old-time democrat failed to get a majority of votes on any one of the ballots. After choosing C. H. It was later switched to the First through manipulation and the South Omaha men say they will not submit to it. The matter was finally left to them with power to act. When questioned regard-ing their probable course a South Omaha member said his committee would make efforts to adjust the matter with the democrats and in case of failure that the populists intended to act separately, implying that a separate ticket as regards assessors and constables would be in the field in South

A celebration of German day was held in Germania hall last night under the auspices of the German-American Transmississippi association, assisted by the Orpheus Singing society and the Apollo Zither club. The oc casion was in honor of the landing of the first German colony at what is now Germantown, Pa., under William Penn in 1683. The hall was decorated with the flags and banners of the various German societies in the city, and the stage was almost covered with potted plants.

Every seat in the hall was filled when the orchestra, under the direction of Franz Adelmann, played the opening strains of an overture by Leutner, and standing room was at FUSIONISTS SELECT CANDIDATES, a premium when Master of Ceremonies Francois Martin introduced President Charles Kaufmann of the Transmississippi association. Mr. Kaufmann made a very brief speech welcoming the guests to the enterdates for the Board of Education of this city tainment which had been prepared for them, was held last night. Dan Honin was in the and the regular program was entered upon without delay.

The main features of the program were the addresses made by Jacob Hauck and Fran-

The topic of Mr. Hauck's address was 'German Day." He spoke of the landing of the first German colony 214 years ago, when the sturdy Germans under the noted William Penn first set foot upon the shores of America and founded the flourishing city of Ger-mantown. From this point he traced the spread of the Germans over the states to the west, ending with their advance upon rolling prairies of Nebraska and Iowa, which Il nays. After these selections had been he said they had made to bloom and blossom made there was a grand effort to nominate as the rose, and had, by their frugality and industry, aided very materially in the prosof the great west.

Mr. Hauck also referred at length to the part played by the descendants of the early German settlers in the wars of the revolution and the rebellion, paying a high tribute to the patriotic German-Americans who had spilled their life's blood to protect their adopted country. He referred in terms of praise to some of the German-Americans commented on the fact that every avenue in the progress of the arts and sciences is bla zoned with the name of a German.

LOYAL TO THE MOTHER TONGUE. In closing his address Mr. Hauck appealed to his hearers to not forget that they were of German descent, and he dwelt especially upon the fact that they should not neglecthe mother tongue. He advised that the children be taught to speak the language of the Fatherland, and he commented se-verely upon those German-Americans who have laid aside the language learned at their mothers' knee.

Mr. Martin spoke on the topic, "The Ger man Village," having reference to the build ing it is proposed to erect on the grounds of the Transmississippi Exposition for the entertanment of visitors from abroad and from other states. He spoke of the exhibits which had been made by the Germans at secretary announces that in the future oil former expositions in this country and com-business of a quasi-public nature, such as mented upon the progress which had been made since the exhibit at Philadelphia, noting the superiority of the Chicago ex hibit. He worked up considerable enthusiasm over the projected village at the coming exposition and appealed to all present to assist in every way in their power the asso-ciation formed for the pupose of providing a place where the German-Americans of Omaha may take their friends from other states or from the Fatherland and entertain where they can feel at home and where the der people may recall the scenes of the old country while studying the architecture of the village which it is proposed to erect. The Orpheus society appeared in two numhers which were rendered in good style and the Zither club was heard in two numbers which met with prolonged applause. A farce in one act entitled "To Be Con-tinued" furnished a fine opportunity for a good laugh, and the entertainment portion of the program closed with a handsome tableau representing the twenty-four transmississippi states and territories and the German village under the protection of Columbia. The several characters were taken by young women, and the grouping and general effect of the picture was artistic and pleasing.

Following this portion of the entertain ment the floor was cleared and the ensuing hours were spent in dancing.

NEW LIFE SHOWN AT GROUNDS

Building Operations at the Exposition Take on Renewed Activity. Work on the main buildings of the exposi tion is progressing in a satisfactory manner, although there are a number of vexatious delays in some parts of the work, caused by delay in the shipment of material. On the whole, fair progress is being made. The Manufactures building is going ahead after a delay caused by failure to get material. The long posts for the sides of the building have been received and the entire front of the structure has been raised. A very fair idea of the height and other dimensions of the building may now be ob-tained, as the central dome is far enough along to denote its general appearance. The material for the floor has arrived and is being put in place.

The Mines building is delayed by the non-arrival of the long posts. Goldie & Sons.

the contractors, were notified this morning that eight cars of these posts were tied up in a wreck within ten miles of Omaha and would probably reach this city tonight. The floor of this building is finished and work has stopped completely to await the arrival of the posts. It has been found necessary to remove the planing mill and other machiner for turning out material to a separate building, which is being crected back of the Mines building. This was required by the insurance men, who refused to issue a policy on the building if the machinery, engines, etc., were installed inside the building, as intended by the contractor. A temporary workshop had been constructed in the center of the floor of the Mines building and the machinery had beeen partially installed, but when this decision was announced all this work was taken away and a workshop is being erected several feet from the build-ing. All the material except the long posts s on the ground.

About one-half of the piles for the Machinery building are driven and nearly all are dressed to the proper level and the sills put in place. Another delay has been caused by the remainder of the piles not being on The pile driver was compelled to stop work this morning.

Pive hundred piles for the Agriculture building have been received and the pile driver started to work on them this morning. The contractor anticipates that the remainder of the piles will be on the ground before those now on hand are driven. All of the material needed for the first floor of this building is now on the track in the exposition grounds and the rest of the material is Eight cars of lumber for the Liberal Arts uilding are on the exposition tracks and the piles are said to be coming down the Mis souri river. Contractor Parrish expects to art work on this building early next week. The pipe for the water mains is strung all about the grounds and several carloads ipe are standing on the tracks.

ENGINEER STERINGER ARRIVES.

Charge of Exposition Electric depth and Mr. Kirkendall called attention to the factor of the importance of the water in the lagoon has now reached a depth where some of the numerous small boys who prowl about the exposition grounds may be drowned in case they fall into the big basin. The water at the west end is now about six or seven feet in depth and Mr. Kirkendall asked for advice as to whether a pour should not be put on as to whether a boat should not be put on the lagoon to rescue people who insist on falling into the water.

Some of the other members of the committee thought the lagoon was on private ground and that if the small boys insisted on trespassing they did so at their own risk and the exposition is not responsible if they falling into the water. are drowned. The matter was finally referred to the exposition attorney for an opinion on the responsibility of the exposi-tion management in accidents of this kind. The committee adjourned until Monday toon, and another meeting will be held at o'clock Monday evening to open the bids for the Art building.

Working for a Convention. W. A. Watson, a well known blacksmith, has gone to St. Louis to attend the annual convention of Master Horseshoers of America. Mr. Watson goes prepared to offer inducements to the convention to meet in Omaha next year. He took a bundle of exposition advertising matter with him. "Twelve Temptations."

The spectacular had an inning at the Treighton last evening when Charles H. Yale's "Twelve Temptations" opened Yale's "Twelve Temptations" opened a short engagement. Barring the specialties there is not much that is new in the performance since it was seen here the last time. There is the same wealth of pink, blue and varicolored tights and the scenery is much the same. The ballet is numerous enough to fill up the stage and some very pretty movements are executed. Of the specialties there were some of particular merit. The acrobatic performance of Rosaire and Elliott was especially clever and the songs in costume, "The Coming Woman," were a most catchy feature. There were a number of other specialty features which, with the beautiful specialists, combined to make a very pleasing performance.

Baby Broke out with Scrofula Sores. "At the age of two months, my baby began to have sores break out on his right cheek. We used all the external applications that we could think or hear of, to no avail. The seres spread all over one side of his face. We consulted a physiclan and tried his medicine, and in a week the sore was gone. But to my surprise in two weeks more another scrofulous looking sore appeared on baby's arm. It grew worse and worse, and when he was three months old, I began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla. I also took Hood's Bareaparilla, and before the first bottle was finished, the sores were well and have never returned. He is now four years old, but he has never had any sign of those scrofulous sores since he was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, for which I feel very grateful. My boy owes his good health and smooth, fair skin to this great medicine." Mrs. S. S. WROTEN, Farming-
