CATTLE SELL EARLY AT STEP to continue on time-tried lines: To serve you better. To wait on you quicker. To give you more goods-more light-more room. To give you an easier-a pleasanter-a more convenient place to trade in. To benefit you and ourselves. These are some of the reasons why we are in the new store today. We take on no new importance. We put on no airs, We are glad for your sake that we have a bigger store to serve you in. We invite you to come and inspect it. You and your friends have made it necessary. It is yours to be proud of; to enjoy,

The Past.

Time is the test of all things. A dozen years ago we came to Omaha unheralded, unknown. We knew there was only one way to succeed in business and that was by rigid honesty; faithfulness to the public; fair dealing to one and all. We pinned our faith to the discrimination of the publie and on honesty of purpose we determined to win our way. Since then we have seen many changes. We have heard the bark of envy and the growl of malice and the wail of feeble imitation even now disturbs the air. We have seen business bubbles pricked, false pretences pierced, and humbug and sham and bluster fail, as they deserved to fail. Time has proved us right. Time has shown that our efforts have not been in vain. Whatever measure of success we have achieved has been the result of hard work, proper methods, low prices and unfailing adherence to the right. It is not without regret we bid good bye to the old store. It is with a pledge of faithful service in the future we welcome you to the new.

The Future.

Without any flourish of trumpets we occupy our new store today. As you found us for the past dozen years in the old place, so you will find us today, tomorrow and every day in the new. Our single ambition is to make this greater store more worthy of your patronage--to make it the most satisfactory store you can find. We do not promise you any better goods for we have always given you the best. We do not promise you any better treat. ment for we have always treated you as well as we knew how. What we do promise you is---more variety, more novelty, more goods to select from and less disappointment in finding what you may expect to find. Honest jabries, Iswest prices, fair treatment. truth--all that yo' liked in the old store we have brought with us. Dark ness dinginess, crowding of goods crowding of person--all that was dis tasteful to you we leave behind.

WISCONSIN AT THE EXPOSITION. Present Plans of the Badger State

Commission. The organization of the Wisconsin commission for the Transmississippi Exposition has jupon, already been mentioned in The Bee, but the following account of the meeting from the Milwaukee Sentinel of October 8 gives an idea of the plans upon which the commission will work:

The Wisconsin commission for the The Wisconsin commission for the ex-position that is to be held at Omaha, Neb., from June 1 to November 1, 1988, met for the first time yesterday at the rooms of the Merchants' association, and the following named were in attendance: Ex-Mayor John C. Koch, John E. Hansen, Alfred C. C'as, Colonel J. A. Watrous, Eugene Wuesthoff and Mrs. Caroline H. Bell of M^Bwaukee; General E. E. Bryant and R. G. Thwaites, Madison; John Hicks, Oshkosh; W. T. Chas as treasurer, and Walter W. Pollock as secretary.
On motion of H. D. Fisher of Florence It was decided that the Wisconsin commission shall use every possible effort to make a creditable exhibit of the products and resources of Wisconsin at the Omaha Exposition. The commissioners present were thus afforded an opportunity to satisfy themselves as to what they should attempt to do, and the conclusion was that they should steep to be seek to interest the manufacturers and all people in the state in making as large and creditable exhibit of the products as possible, and also to erect and maintain a Wisconsin building on the exposition grounds at Omaha.
Architect A. C. Clas offered to submit to the commission phans for a building without any charge for them, and to make the building on of the drawing features at the exposition. The building, he said, would be would appear unique and attractive, and its interior could be so fitted up as to draw all the people with the apport of the features of the interior, and fountains dispensing gratis. Those who were in attendance would give but little inkling of what had been decided but it was finally announced that at 7 o'clock this morning a demand would made that union labor should be recognized in the work on the exposition grounds. It is stated that the demand will be backed up by all organized labor that has obtained em ployment on the grounds. It was given out that all the building trades unions were rep resented in the meeting and that each rep sentative vouched that his union would stay by the movement. The matter is being engineered by Walk-
