

THE WRECK AT ROUBIDEAU

The Bridge was Gone and the Engineer Did Not Discover It.

A LEAP INTO GUNNISON RIVER

Degan's Plunge into a Torrent of Ice Cold Water, His Swim for Life and His Narrow Escape.

(Copyright, 1897, by C. W. Warren.)

Roubideau bridge was a long, wooden structure spanning the Gunnison a few hundred yards to the east of Roubideau tunnel. Emerging from the tunnel, eastward, the engineer found a rail curving to the left, hugging the hill that hid the bridge from view until the engine was almost upon it.

canyon. Andy Degan, a "Q" man who had come to Colorado with a good letter and an engine, small and baggage car, out of Grand Junction that night forty minutes late.

When Degan regained consciousness he was laying full length upon the flat top of the rock against which his life preserver had been wrecked. The gray dawn was upon the river, that was already settling back to its normal bed. His clothing was torn, his hands bleeding, his bones ached with the chill of the morning. One of his legs was broken, and the pain of it made him feel faint.

When Degan awoke he found himself in a predicament. He was lying on a rock, and he was alone. He tried to get up, but his leg was broken and he was unable to do so.

HOW SEED IS SCATTERED

Marvelous Means Supplied by Nature for Disseminating Plant Life.

SOME SEEDS PROVIDED WITH WINGS

Wind, Water and Animals Supply the Power of Locomotion—The Tramp Traveler and the Explosive Pod.

Plants have most intimate relationships with man, for they furnish to him his food and clothing, and enter into the construction or manufacture of everything pertaining to his necessities or luxuries. They have relations to the animals that are quite as important to the latter, since they furnish them with food and clothing.

SCATTERED BY THE WIND.

Some of the little seeds in the showcases are light that they will blow away. They are so light that they are blown away by the wind. They are so light that they are blown away by the wind.

MEANS OF LOCOMOTION.

Plants have within themselves no means of moving from place to place, and with the exception of a few which liberate their seeds with little sails, like the dandelion, an act of themselves to scatter their seeds.

THE PLANTING OF WATER.

It is no surprising advantage of the movement of water in streams and the ocean to secure the distribution of seeds, and the division of the world into continents and islands.
