Amusement Feature of Exposition Gives Fromise of Great Results.

SEVERAL NEW SCHEMES TO BE LAUNCHED

Manager of the Department is Exerelsing Care in Making Contracts that Only the Best May Be Secured.

The Midway of the Transmississippi Exposition promises to equal the amusemen feature of any exposition ever held in this country. It will cover considerable ground and will be arranged in a manner which will afford concessionaires all the accommo dations which could possibly be desired. There will be no remote corners, as at the World's fair, where attractions were located so far from the entrance that the visitors to the street "dropped" their money long before they reached the end, and, as a natural result, the attractions located away from the upper and of the street were financial failures.

The amusement street has not been formally named, Manager Reed having a standing offer of $10 for the best suggestion for a name, but the locality had been generally alluded to as the "Midway," and there seems to be no disposition to change this designation. It is not altogether inappro-priate, as the "street" will form two sides of a square and visitors to the exposition cannot pass from the main court to either the bluff tract or the north section of the grounds without passing the Midway. The amusement street will have its lower end at the viaduct leading across Sherman aveto the bluff tract, and in order to reach north tract from the bluff park it will be necessary to pars through the Midway from end to end, the street extending north to the viaduct leading across Sherman avenue to the old fair grounds tract and thence west to Twentieth street, being one-half mile in length.

A pleasing feature of the Midway will be the viaduct across Sherman avenue at the north end of the street. This viaduct will be so constructed as to avoid the linpression that the visitor is passing over a viaduct. The approach to it will be gradual and it will be lined on either side with and it will be lined on either side with numerous small booths, which will com-pletely shut cut all view of the street and convey the impression that the visitor is inside the grounds all the time. These booths will be filled with dainty wares of various kinds and will form a section from the market of one of the old country rural districts. districts. SIX CONTRACTS LET.

Contracts are being made very slowly for attractions on the Midway, the policy of Manager Reed being to make contracts with only such attractions as are of the highes: class and desirable in every way. There are scores of applications on file in the con consists department, but only six contract have been made up to this time. These include the Chinese village, the Moorish village, a Street of Cairo, Shooting the Chutes, Sherman's umbrella and Cripple Creek.

The Chinese village was one of the first concessions to be let, Hong Sling, a native of the "Flowery Kingdom." being the con-cessionaire. He has secured permission from the Treasury department to import 450 of his almond-eyed countrymen to populate the Chinese village and promises to have a show that will be a correct representation of a section from one of the populous cities of his native land. Sling was concerned in the Chinese village at the World's fair and is backed by ample capital and strong influ-ence. The Chinese village will stand at the west end of the Midway, adjoining Twentieth street. It will be a walled city and within the frowning stone wall will be genuine Chlnese bazaars, a restaurant, joss house, theater and all the other things that go to make water. This concession was let to Omaha a certificate which shows the number of his parties who propose to erect a slide with all days of service, and the amount that is due the latest improvements and safety appliances. It will be located at the southeast to the county clerk whom the claim is alcorner of the old fair grounds tract just at lowed the amount due is paid. ances. It will be located at the southeas: corner of the old fair grounds tract just at the west end of the viaduct.

The plans for the Moorish village and Street of Cairo are not matured sufficiently to warrant an attempt to give a detailed description of these concessions. Both will be located on the bluff tract.

INTERESTING ENGINEERING DEVICE. Sherman's umbrella will be located on the of the most interesting engineering devices scription is unnecessary.

One of the most interesting concersions on of the most interesting concersions on the ground will be located at the west end of the Midway, near Twentieth street and of the certificates. This order simply affirms opposite the Chinese village. This will be an exact fac-simile reproduction of the most. The county commissioners consider that famous mining town of recent times. The town will be shown as it existed in its palmiest days "before the fire," when it was the center of attraction in the mining world during the years 1892 and 1893. At that time the busy, bustling town consisted of a motley collection of houses, tents, "shacks" and log cabins, strung along on either side of a single street, lying in the narrow valley between towering hills, whose sides were dotted with cabins and plerced with prospectors' shafts. The place was "wild and woolly" in the extreme and all this will be reproduced on the exposition ground in the most realistic manner. square feet of ground and this spot will be transformed into a mountainous region, with towering peaks on every side and the mining camp nestling rather restlessly in the val-ley. The houses forming the town will be exact reproductions of the grotesque build-ings which constituted the central portions of the town before the whole street was wiped out of existence by fire. These build-ings will be modeled from the buildings will be modeled from photographs of the originals taken before the fire, and in ad-dition there will be a number of log cabins which were around the outskirts of the town and thus escaped destruction. These cabins will be brought here bodily and erected on

BUSINESS HOUSES REPRODUCED. There will be between fifty and sixty buildings in the town, among them being a dance hall, in which will be held the wild dances which characterized these resorts during the palmy days of the cowboy, a hotel, variety theater, general merchandisc stores, drug stores, newspaper office, posteffice, expressionice, barber shop, meat market, carpenter shop, lodging houses, etc.

About 300 people will inhabit the town, the majority of them being actual residents of the old Cripple Creek. To add more realism to the scene genuine mountain stage coaches, "mud wagons" and freight wagons, will do business in the town all the time, the stage coaches making regular trips through town and up the mountain pass until it disappears in the distance only to until it disappears in the distance, only to return again by way of the main entrance gate with a fresh load of passengers. Trains of burros will pass through town at regular intervals, receiving and delivering freight nd doing business on a realistic plane. This concession is in the hands of Norris have already taken steps to put their con-tract into active operation. Mr. Love con-ceived, built and managed the '49 mining camp at the California Midwinter fair, which was the most popular attraction on the Mid-way of that exposition, and he gives every as wrance that the Cripple Creek show will be far ahead of the California camp. The arrangement of the ground and the erection of the buildings for this town will be pushed during the winter and everything will be in readiness when the exposition opens.

'Sowing the Wind" was presented at the Creighton yesterday by one of Frohman's companies. The piece is too well known in Omaha to require any comment. The feature of the production last night was the presence of Elizabeth Holloway in the character of Resamond. Miss Holloway is a Nebraska girl, having lived at Papillion many years. Her many friends from various por-tions of the state crowded the boxes and ributed a number of floral off rings. Colonel Cody and party were among the friends of the young woman. This is Miss Holoway's first appearance before a Nebraska audience. She received very generous ap-plause and deserved all the praise. The plause and deserved all the praise. The piece affords Miss Holloway an excellent opportunity to display her unmistakable ability as an emotional artist in the role of leading lady. She rises to the occasion in every instance. Her friends were very pleased last night. A number of other presons of ability are with the company. The costumes are elegant and the staging is accurate with the period represented.

Considerable interest has been manifested in the engagement of William H. Crone, the distinguished actor, at the Boyd theater on Wednesday and Thursday. His present tour, which is the first he has made of the far west in nearly ten years, has been immensely successful, and he has received unstinted praise for his own work and for the fact that he has succeeded himself with fact that he has surrounded number with a company of such excellence as is rarely seen outside of New York. The sale of scats for the crecentation of "A Virginia Court-ship" on Wednesday, of "His Wife's Father" on Thursday afternoon, and of "A Fool of Fortune," which will be given on Thursday night, begins this morning, and will un-deplicable by high The expectations are doubtedly be brisk. The expectations are that the house will be crowded at the dif-ferent performances, and there is no reason why the expectations should not be realized.

Robert Mantell's new play, "A Secret Warrant." will be presented at the Creighton next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. It is a French romance of 1720, the principal action taking place at the court of the regent, Due d'Orleans. Mr. Mantell is a captain of the king's guards, handsome and darlog, a typical bo Mauprat. County Commissioners May Fight His Recent Order. The county commissioners are considering the advisability of fighting a recent order esued by Judge Scott instructing the clerk f the district court to continue his practice f issuing certificates to witnesses and jurors in the district court at the cost of the county as evidence of indebtedness, which they may

The clerk of the district court receives as fees for issuing each one of these certificates 25 cents. These fees amount to $600 and $700 a year. The county commissioners have come to the conclusion that this is an unrecessary expense, since they hold that the certificate is no evidence of indebtedness against the county. ## SUBJECT—OVERCOATS

Had we a past to grind on, then we would appeal to your sympathy to buy an overcoat of us. We would tell you about how much we have done for the benefit of the dear people, at the expense of our purse, We would relate with tears in our eyes how we struggled for a score of years fighting the wolf from the door. We would brag of our benevolence to bumanity, kindness, charity and other such trash.

But unfortunately we have but a very short past. We are only beginning, therefore let us emphasize the word "future." The future in the business will cover a dezen moss-covered pasts. Never mind what some have done in the past. See what we propose to do for you in the future.

We are under a small expense. It does not take a dollar or two more profit on a garment to cover expenses of a large and beautiful building, a dollar for illumination and a dollar for all sorts of extravagance. We save that portion and cheapen the price of merchandise.

And we gladly prove it if you don't mind a block or two of a walk. Step in and see for yourself. Likely you are interested in overcoats just now, then let us show how much cheaper we can furnish them. You will find here a couple hundred Kersey Overcoats at that could not be sold even at ordinary expenses for less than $5.00, yet they are worth fully $6.00, perhaps $8.00 in some stores where goods are not marked in plain figures. A pretty dress coat at that, made of good Kersey cloth of dark brown shade, with velvet collar, fly front and with cloth that will wear as long as the surface. We have them cheaper-too-as low as $2.75 for a Chinchilla over coat, and dollar by dollar until we reach $19.00 for the finest tailored, richest finished overcoat made in this union.

FOUR TWENTY-FIVE

And like any other article we sell, we guarantee every particle of an overcoat, guarantee its wear, guarantee its durability and guarantee its value. If it aint so, we don't want your money, even if you call for it
