GUNS TO GUARD TREASURIES

General Miles Urges the Fortification of Such Structures.

Observation in Europe Leads the General to Think the Large Sams Held in Subtreasuries Are Unsafe.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.-General Nelson 'A. Miles was asked last night to give his reasons for recommending the fortification of the new federal building in Chicago with Gatling guns. He said:

"There are nine places in this country where the treasury chests of Uncle Sam are located, and for the past twenty years I have urged the necessity of protecting these depositories with the most approved pattern of firearms. When the subject of a new public building at Chicago was broached one of my first thoughts was for protective measures in case there should be an attempt directed against the subtreasury holdings, which will be put in the building. While I was in Constantinople, the details of the Etlack on the Turkish bank in that city were related to me, and brought back to me the necessity for some means of defense of the public institutions of the United States. Gatling gurs could be paced where they would be available at a moment's notice, and too much publicity could not be given concerning their presence in the most commarding spots.

General Miles did not believe there is say try beginning with January 1, 1898, and a necessity for fertifying postoffice buildings or other federal structures except those in which large sums of government money are cattle, sheep and hog interests and perhaps kept. He thinks that in cities where there steps will be taken to unite to protect the are subtressures a detail of regular troops should be maintained. According to his plan this would involve no additional expense to These details have been explained in nearly all of the schools of this city by members of the executive committee of the Woman's board who have been visiting the schools for that purpose during the list two weeks, and the result has been that the parents of the children have been approached in all manner of ways to induce the family purse to open wide enough to give out $1 for a stock ce tificate. DOUGLAS COUNTY AT EXPOSITION.

Proceeds of the Bonds.
The county commissioners have entire charge of the expenditure of the proceeds of the $100,000 of exposition bonds which carried at the recent election and will soon hold a neeting for the purpose of arranging plans for the outlay of the money. The date for this meeting, which will be in committee of the whole, will be fixed at the regular weekly meeting of the board next Saturday morning Members of the board have already informally considered the expenditure of the money, but no definite plan of any character has yet been laid. The general sentiment, howover, appears to be opposed to the idea of spending any of the money in the erection of a county building. On the other hand it seems to be considered that the best result can be secured by using as much as possible to be expended under its direction. It is believed that a most magnificent agricultural display can be thus secured, one that will eclipse anything else of the kind to be seen at the exposition. Commissioner Kierstead is the member who is particularly pushing this plan, and he will advocate it in the committee of the whole meeting, which will arrange the plan of expenditure. He is emphatically opposed to the erection of a county puilding. In speaking about the matter today he said:

'I believe that the best thing to be done is to rent a space in the Horticulture and Agriculture building and to spend most of the money in making a display. It would cost too much to build a separate building and the greatest amount that could be set aside for that purpose would be sufficient only for a structure that would be insignifi-cant beside the other buildings on the ground If on the other hand the whole amount were to be used in getting up an agricultural and horticultural display, the county would have an exhibition in that line that would sur-pass any other display? pass any other display."

A portion of the money that will be obtained from the sale of the bonds will be devoted to making displays in other lines, but this matter will remain for the meeting of the commissioners to plan. That meeting amount of the money will be spent in the payment of employes. The republican members of the board are determined that ther This Will be "Rally Day" in All the shall be no waste in the expenditure, but that the people of the county shall receive the fullest benefit from the bonds.

I asked him to go out on the grounds yesterday and look after the test of the water mains because the contractor proposed to make the test in a different manner from that we had decided upon some time ago. I knew Geraldine knew more about the matter than any one clae because he had made the arrangements and that was why I had him look after it. He consented to do it and I think I am really under obligation to him for doing this kind of thing without any y. He has been at the office on the ounds getting his papers in shape so I can tell about the detail of the work and he has been at my private office downtown a num-ber of times talking over the different motsimply taking advantage of the fact that he is in town and am getting in close touch with the work of the department.

"I have not formed any definite plans re garding the manner in which I shall conduc my department in the future," continued Mr Kirkendall, "and for the present I shall con tinue Mr. Ralls in charge of the engineering work and other general work on the grounds and Mr. Tamm will look after the construction of the buildings. I may change this plan at any time, but have not decided definitely as to just what will be done. In any event," he relterated in conclusion Geraldine will not be appointed to any position."

Come Direct from Nashville A carlead of exhibitors and concessionaire arrived in Omoha last evening from Nush. ville They traveled in a special car an there were about 180 in the party. The managers of many of the leading attractions which added interest to the Nashville Midway are among the arrivals. Others were ex-hibitors at the Centennial exposition and will seek to bring their exhibits here. Still other were employes down there and will visit Omaha at this time to try to secure similar positions with the exposition here.

Notes of the Exposition. Manager Babcock started for Chicago yesterday. He will return Sunday, when

olied to the woman's board for the exclusiv privilege of selling orange sugar and cherry phosphete in the Woman's building. Mrs. George M. Darrow of Murfreesboro, Tenn., a member of the Woman's board of the Tennessee exposition; has signified her acceptance of the appointment as member of the Advisory board of the Woman's Board of Managers of the Transmississippi Exposi ion. Mrs. Darrow has been identified with the work of the Tennessee exposition and has expressed considerable enthusiasm regarding the magnitude and scope of the Transmississippi Exposition. The executive committee of the Woman's Board of Managers has recommended to the executive committee of the exposition tha Miss Lucinda Gamble be appointed as honor of the money in making agricultural and ary commissioner to visit these states where other exhibits, renting the required space in separate schools for colored children are the buildings to be erected by the exposition and work up an interest in the tion association. If this plan should be exposition and secure exhibits to be placed adopted, the greater portion of the money in the educational section. Mass Gamble is will be used in making an agricultural and a teacher in the Dodge school, is a graduate horticultural display. A share will be given of the Omaha High school and of the trainto the Douglas County Agricultural society ing school. Her appointment was asked by to be expended under its direction. It is being school. Her appointment was asked by the North Omaha Woman's club, an organiza-tion composed of colored women, the request being presented by a committee which waited on the executive committee of the woman's board.

According to the Nashville papers the en tire crowd of concessionaires on the Vanity Fair of the Tennessee exposition will make a descent in a body on Omaha tomorrow It is stated that 104 of these people are du to start from Nashville this morning for Omaha with a view of corralling everything sight in this city in connection with the exposition. This delegation includes the proprietors of the various lunch stands, the people who furnished hungry humanity with hot waffles. Hamburger steaks, and other more or less toothsome daintles, the man who sold toy novelties all over the grounds the manager of the old plantation concession the manager of the chutes, all kinds of "opecialty people," and a host of others too numerous to mention. They are said to be coming in a special car, and the Departmen of Concessions is preparing to receive them with due ceremony.

Mrs. Hodges Passes Away. Mrs. Robert Hodges, the mother of Chief Clerk Hodges of the B. & M's, executive offices, died at her late residence on South in getting up the different exhibits. The agricultural exhibit, however, will be the largest and will use up the greater portion of the money. It is settled that but a small dence this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock,

NO TELEPHONE FOR YEISER

President Yest Secures a Suspension of Mandatory Writ.

SUPREME COURT TAKES THE MATTER UP

Filing of a Supersedens Bond Sets Judge Scott's Order at Naught for a Time, at Least.

It may be some time before John O. Yelner will be able to sit in his office and talk through a telephone over the lines of the Nebraska Telephone company at the rate of $3 a month. This is now a decided probability. even though Judge Scott recently ordered the telephone company to give Yeiser a telephone at this cut price.

President Yest of the telephone company vesterday scored one on Yelser by securing an order from the supreme court setting aside the peremptory writ of mandamus issued by Judge Scott. As a consequence of this proceeding Yeiser will have to pay the regular price of $5 per month if he has a telephone put into his office.

Incidentally Judge Scott has been overruled again by the supreme tribunal of the state. When he overruled the demurrer of the telephone company alleging that the case was not in his jurisdiction, e said that the company would have to bring its books into court in order that it might be learned whether or not $5 was an unreasonable telephone. phone toll. The company did not care to do this and in consequence Juige Scott issued the peremptory writ of magdamus, holding that in presenting the demurrer, the com-pany admitted that Yeiser's allegation that the rate of $3 was sufficient was true. The telephone company wanted to file a super-sedess bond in order to take the case to the supreme court. To this Judge Scott said "nay," but the supreme court decided otherwas and yesterday allowed the super-sedeas bond to be filed.

This sets Judge Scott's writ of mandamus at naught just now at least and therefore, a sensational possibility that the telephone company's officers might be called up for contempt of court for not obeying the writ was exploded. Yelser threatened to do this, but he will be debarred by the action of the upreme court.

The officers of the telephone company have persistently refused to put in a telephone ince Judge Scott's writ of mandamus was ssued. All day Wednesday Yeiser attempted to induce them to obey, but they put him off with various pretexts. After another demand yesterday Yelser finally informed the company that if a telephone was not put in his office by noon he would have the officers before Judge Scott for contempt. Before the hour arrived, however, the supreme court stepped in. In the afternoon Judge-Scott asked the clerk of the district court if a supersedeas bond had been filed and upon being informed that the decument was not on file, the court issued an order, citing the officers of the telephone company to appear and show cause why they should not be dealt with on the charge of contempt.

A deputy sheriff was unable to find the officers of the company in time to have them in court before adjournment, and conse-quently the matter went over.

SALOON KEEPER IS HELD LIABLE.

Must Pay Damages Caused by a Drunken Husband. For the first time in this county a saloon eeper has been held responsible by a jury for the actions and c induct of a man under the influence of liquor sold to him. This is the meaning of the verdict returned against Saloon Keeper Oscar W. Johnson yesterda in the district court.

Suit was brought by Hilda J. Carlson, wife of Alfred Carlson. The woman alleged that her husband spent all his time and money in Johnson's saloon from January 1, 1896, to November 18 of the same year. She said that because of this he not only failed to support his family, but that he came home intoxicated and frequencly abused her and he children. As specific instances of such rm and on another blackened her eyes. She held the saloon keeper respet libe for this condition of affairs and therefore sued him for $5,000 damages. Yesterday the jury r the case awarded the wife $1,000 damages, or this amount $250 is for less of support and he remaining $750 as recompense for the

FRANK BURWELL PLACED ON TRIAL Prisoner is Accused of the Murder of Kasson Boyce.

Frank Burwell, the allege! slayer of Kassor loyce, was placed on trial yesterday in the criminal court on the charge of manslaughter. He is the first to secure trial of the six men charged on the criminal docket of this term of court with the killing of men. The affray which resulted in the death of Boyce occurred in Burwell's home near Cut Off lake, August 22 last. On that date Burwell was accusing his wife of being intimate with Hoyce and in his anger he assaulted ner. Boyce interfered and Burwell, turning pon him, shot him. Boyce was mortally counded and after lingering for some days lied. The two men were fighermen. Boyce oarded at Burwell's house. Judges Go to Outside Countles. Next Monday Judge Baker will go to Sarpy ounty to preside over the district cour there in place of Judge Powell. The criminal docket in this county is light, while Judge Powell's is crowded. Judge Baker will be in Sarpy county for two weeks or more, and will then go to Weshington county for a couple of days to clear up the docket there, and complete the session he began several weeks ago. Judge Slabaugh was assigned to Washington county, but his docket in this county is so full that he will be kept busy here until the end of the term. Judge Faw-cett has returned from Burt county, where he has been holding court since the opening of the term. He presided yesterday in court room No. 2, calling the docket.

Sets Aside the Transfer. In order to allow W. H. Mallory to secure satisfaction of a judgment for $3,300, Judge Scott has set aside a transfer by which R. C. Patterson, purported, in 1889, to turn over all his real estate to his wife. The case has been on for several days and it was disclosed during the trial that before Mailory secured his judgment Patterson transferred all his property to his wife in con-sideration of $1. Mallory therefore begin the proceeding to have the transfer set aside, alleging that it had been made for the purose of preventing him from receiving eatis-

Money to Buy Chicory Crop, The American Chicory company has borrowed $50,000 from parties in England to invest in the chicary crop of the year and to make improvements in its establishments in make improvements in its establishments in the state. The loan is made on debenture bonds running ten years, on which the Miller Trust company guarantees payment as trustee. To secure it the trust company has been given a mortgage upon the chicory company's property in this state. It was found advisable to make the loan, since the company has money tied up in stock which it does not care to dispose of at a sacrifice.
