HENRY CLEWS ON BUSINESS CONDITIONS

He Says the Result of the Elections Indientes the Ascendency of a More Moderate and Reasounble Spirit.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 .- Henry Clews head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co.,

of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall street:

This week Wall street has been occupied mainly with the results of the elections. So far as respects the local election, the outcome as to choice of candidates has been in the preponderating opinion of the financial world, not the best that could have been desired. It affords the minimum of guarantee as to an economical management of the large interests of the new metropolis; and that is of course a misforium, as mudifor what it indirectly implies as for what it directly involves. But that is perhaps the worst that could be said. It is not to be forgotten that the charter of the greater city was framed by a commission composed of General Tracy, Seth Low and others and that by it the mayor is pretly thoroughly hemmed in. He cannot, under the circumstances, do much harm, even, if he desired to do so. I know the mayor-elect and have a good opinion of him personally. He certainly is a goodfaced man and that is an important index to his character. For one, therefore, I am willing to believe that Van Wyck will turn out oretty well as mayor of New York. The city might easily have had as its chief official a much worse man. And as much may be hoped for the compiroller-elect. The vote can hardly be regarded as a disappointment, for the betting barometer had, in an icipation of the poll, plainly evidenced that, in Wall stree, at least, this outcome had been expected. And having been expected, the effect was discounted in part in advance and was expressed in the declines of las week. There was, however, a considerable minority who had beged that the control of the city would fail into other hands, and to those the result has been an unmitigated disappointment, which has found expression in speculative realizings and a further fall in prices. writes of the situation in Wall street; speculative realizings and a further fal-

ELECTION RESULTS ASSURING.

The results of the elections in other states are so varied and have been so much influenced by purely local issues that they can hardly be regarded as warranting any general conclusions as to their national significance. In one aspect, however, they are distinctly assuring. They afford plain evidence of the decline of popular interest in the Silver question and distinctly reveal the beginning of its decadence as a leading issue in federal politics—a fact which is of inestimable value for the bope it suggests as to the prospects of the sound money policy.

Taking as a whole the symptoms brought out by the elections, they indicate considerable ferment in public opinion and a disposition to forsake old ideals; and it may be hoped that these tendencies will hereafter develop into better methods of government and into policies more in harmony with an orderly public sentiment; but, in any case, it can be said that the drifts of opinion thus exhibited afford no symptoms of dangerous tendencies and no new vitality in the wild policies advocated in the passionate party platforms of 1896. On the contrary, a disposition to abandon impossible policies accorded in the passionate party platforms of 1896. On the contrary, a disposition to abandon impossible policies advance toward measures that will more completely harmonize sectional differences.

RADICAL VIEWS DISAPPEARING. ELECTION RESULTS ASSURING.

RADICAL VIEWS DISAPPEARING. Setting aside all party prejudices on one side or the other, the elections must be construed as indicating the ascendancy of a more moderate and reasonable spirit in national politics. This election is the first since our escape from the sufferings of four years of depression created by the silver and jingo crazes, and it is therefore natural that it should show this welcome exemption from the spirit of political possimism. that it should show this welcome exemption from the spirit of political pessimism. Viewed dispassionately, I am unable to see anything in the state elections that can be regarded as casting any doubt upon the continuance of the public prosperity that has returned and developed to such a remarkable extent within the last few months. Now that business has universally revived, the people as large value the boon too highly to sacrifice it by rash policies or needless sectional disagreements. What they want is safe and conservative business legislation and a foreign policy that is pacific rather than belligerent. They want a sound but not needlessly revolutionary revision of our monetary system, such as will save us from monetary system, such as will save us from monetary system, such as will save us from the possible recurrence of evils like those that have imperiled the gold basis within the last four years In 1879 it was the re-sumption of specie payments that produced the remarkably exhilarating effects upon the business situation then experienced. Now, eighteen years later, we are witness-ing a great commercial revival, stimulated by the long test measures will be autoby the hope that measures will be enacted for making the maintenance of gold pay-ments secure and lasting.

| RELIEF FROM CONGRESS |
| Efforts have been made to produce the impression that the president and congress have become indifferent about currency legislation, but these representations may be safely regarded as mere party inventions. I venture, not without knowledge, to affirm that both the president's message and the report of the secretary of the treasury will make strong and unmistakable representations to congress in behalf of measures for effecting this reform upon a broad and practicable business-like basis. I have also reason to believe that Speaker Reed, instead of proving lukewarm on this ouestion, as has been predicted of him, will be found earnestly committed to making this the leading issue of the session.

Thus, whatever congress may or may not do, we may safely look forward to its devoting earnest attention to the question upon which business opinion has fixed its hope as affording a more thorough and lasting relief to the credit of the government and the trade of the nation than any other that could come under its consideration. Instead of, as has too often been the case, having to anticipate the opening of congress with the prospect of disturbing legislation, we may look forward to it with hopes for a great measure of public relief. In view of these facts, it is reasonable to expect that the present grouty temper of the market has about reached its limit, and that instead of deferring operations until December, as some seem disposed, there will be those found who, in view of the many "bull" conditions that have been neglected for the past month, will regard the present relatively low range of prices as affording an opportunity of laying in stocks for a general recovery of the market and after the dissipation of the factors that have induced caution, the tone of business on the Block exchange should fall to exhibit an early revival.

JINGO RESOLUTIONS RELIEF FROM CONGRESS.

JINGO RESOLUTIONS. JINGO RESOLUTIONS.

Thursday's action of the Chamber of Commerce in memorializing the government to strengthen our coast defenses was yesterday construid as favoring an attitude of hostility toward Spain by that important body of merchants, and its effect on the morning session was to produce a fall of one to two points in prices. There is good reason, however, to regard this as an overstrained construction of the action of the chamber. The resolutions were presented at a thirly attended regular meeting and were railroaded through without serious consideration. It is premature to regard this sideration. It is premature to regard this action as representing the deliberate opinion of this important body of representative men. At any rate, it certainly could have only had in view what actuates all nations—"In time of peace be prepared for war." CONDITION OF NEW YORK BANKS

More Than Half the Institutions Share NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Pinancier says The bank statement for the current week Is of a favorable character, no less than thirty-eight of the sixty-five clearing house institutions having participted in the loan expansion of $6.885,300 reported. It is true that the changes of three of the larger banks count for $4.800,000 of the total of inbanks count for $1.800,000 of the total of increase, but the smaller commercial institutions figure more prominently in the aggregate than for some time past. This of itself is an encouraging sign. The week was characterized by the revival of currency transfer to the south, New Orleans calling for a large portion of the shipmen's on account of cotton and sugar movement. St. Louis has been handling a large amount that formerly went to New Orleans. It is notemority went to New York, domestic exchange having hardened at most interior cities. The local banks are gaining in cash in consequence. The increases in deposits in view of the expansion in loans is entirely logical. The Union Pacific foreclosuare payments may be expected to figure in the statement for a few weeks to come, although the result of the settlements as now arranged ought not to disturb the money market. The settlements are more in the nature of a transfer to the treasury and again to the banks, but a short interval separating the beginning and the end of the whole affair.

intervenes there may be a slight advance at the end of the year. It is rather remarkable that the loans of the banks are still within $5,000,000 of the high point reached September 18. In the same time deposits have decreased $10,000,000 and cash no less than $15,000,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Saturday. CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—There was a turn in the tide in the wheat market today. The market showed strength for the first time in a week, the December closing %c higher Crop reports from Ohio and Missouri were sensationally bad and drove shorts to cover Other markets firm, but dull, with the exception of oats. Corn closed 14644c higher, oats 14c higher and provisions, 24,65c higher. Wheat was strong at the opening. The Liverpool market was not a sharer to the full extent in the previous day's weakness here. Paris sent bullish advices. The week's clearances from all Atlantic ports were 5,575,216 bu., and Liverpool bids for Chicago No. 2 spring wheat were 3d per quarter (4c a bushel) higher than those of the day before. The most bullish of the early news was the Ohio crop report, making the condition of wheat in that state 51 per cent and the reduction in acreage 17 per cent. This report was made up before the recent rains, but had a marked effect, nevertheless, and was the main factor in the opening advance and the gain which followed.

The news was not all bullish. The domestic receipts were not less liberal than before. Chicago had 139 cars, compared with 222 a year ago; Minneapolls and Duluth reported 1,118 cars, against 775 last year. The total receipts at the principal western markets were 1,184,218 bu, against 42,764 bu, the corresponding day of 1896. That would perhaps have had some effect in checking the desire to buy, had the shorts not been oversold as was evidently the case. Continental cablegrams quoted declines of 12½ centimes at Antwerp and from 10 to 20 centimes at Parls, besides 50 centimes decline in flour at the latter place. Minneapolls whred that 2,000 cars of wheat were looked for as the receipts there Monday, but neither did that benefit the shorts to any appreciable extent. The increase in receipts this week over last at Minneapolls and Duluth numbered 540 carloads. The Atlantic port exports amounted in wheat and flour to 601,000 bu. A New York dispatch said a cargo of wheat bad been worked for Vienna, via Hamburg, and another New York message reported twenty-five boatloads taken chiefly for France. It was also reported that fifteen boatloads of Manitoba wheat had been worked for the United Kingdom. The trading was light and only spasmodically active. December was not much heard of, but its value had many changes. It seemed impossible to make two consecutive trades in December at the same price. Corn was firm on a narrow amount of radiog. The market was influenced by the unexpected strength of cables and by vesterday's large export sales. New York reporting 800,000 bu. sold. There was some covering by parties who bought yesterday, which proved sufficient to keep prices at a slight advance. Receipts were 437 cars. Liverpool was 4d higher. December ranged between 264c and 254626c, and closed 446 to bigher at 260264c.

There was again an active trading in oats. There was again an active trading in oats. There was quite influential selling throughout the session, particularly by elevator people, but all offerings were taken and the market ruled strong from the start. There was a good cash demand. Receipts were 388 cars. December ranged from 1946194c.

The market for provisions was duller, if possible, than it was yesterday. Prices were steady within an extremely narrow range. The cash trade was good, but the almost utter lack of speculation made the market devoid of feature. Offerings were zery light; the chief factor is sightly higher stigher at $1.50. and December ribs, 2½c higher at $1.55. and December lard, 2½ 45c higher at $1.55. and December ribs, 2½c higher at $4.45.
