Supreme Court Comments Rather Scverely on Laxity of Prosecutor -Plends Press of Business as Reason for Delay.

LINCOLN, Nov. 16,-(Special Telegram.)-The time for the state to and briefs in the Bartley case expired November 9, and Bartley's attorneys had a motion to bring the case up for immediate hearing. When the court called up the case this morning Deputy Attorney General Smith asked for more time, explaining that through press of business blowing. the state had no briefs printed. This produced somewhat of a sensation in court and Judge Norval remarked that it was a when the defendant was ready and asking for trial. Judge Harrison then reminded Mr. Smith that some time ago when the Bartley briefs were not printed the attorney general had made a motion to dismisa ney general had made a motion to dismiss caused by a defective sidewalk Fred Carison the appeal, and that it had then got a verdict for $500. been shown that the delay was caused by the default of the attorney general himself by not returning the papers at the proper time. Mr. Smith had no other excuse to offer except press of business on other cases, and the court ordered that a showing be made tomorrow morning why the state is not ready to go ahead with the cise. Inasmuch as the making campaign speeches, his new reason for delay is causing very much adverse comment here from all parties.

SECRETARIES WANT TESTIMONY. The secretaries of the State Board of Transportation have issued the following Statement:

Numerous complaints having reached the secretaries of the Heard of Transportation from shippers of live stock that in the change made by railroads from carload to rates by the hundred pounds the rates had been increased, the secretaries notified the railroad companies of these complaints and asked them to furnish them information as to the facts from their records. A conference was held Monday last in Omaha, where it appeared from the records kept by the railroads that under the present system as compared with the old carload rates the roads were in more instances receiving slightly less compensation for the same services, thus raising a question of fact as beelightly less compensation for the same serv-lees, thus raising a question of fact as be-tween the complaints made by shippers of cattle and the records kept by the roads A hearing has therefore been called to take testimony on this point, such hearing to be had at the Omaha Stock exchange South omaha, beginning November 22, 1837, at 18 a. m. Stock shippers and all others interested are requested to write to the secretaries at Lincoln, Neb., giving any information and making any suggestion to all hearing at a just and fair conclusion in the whole matter.

ELECTION ROMANCE AT TEKAMAH.

County Superintendent Marries His

Populist Opponent. TEKAMAH, Neb., Nov. 16 .- During th past week this county has been treated to a bit of political romance in the marriage of a republican officeholder-elect and his populist opponent and present incumbent of the office. By the resignation of C. F Beck now deputy state superintendent, th office of county superintendent in this county became vacant January 1, 1897. For the appointment to fill the vacancy numerous ap-plications were filed with the county supervisors. Among them were the names of (Laughlin and Miss Alice Thomason. The latter having been an ardent free silve advocate during the preceding campaign and baving the endorsement of the chairman o the copulist county central committee and the assistance of her brother, A. E. Thoma-son, an attorney of this city who had faithfully stumped the state for Bryan and free silver, secured the appointment, as the board was controlled by populists. Emma Calve has attained a success unrecedented in the annals of lyric art.

To repeat the story of her triumph is need-Her superb voice, her fascinating half oriental dances, her caressing gestures, her black eyes, irresistible mirth—these and the indescribable something more, make up the bowels, kidneys and the skin, regular and dazling personation by which the artist has thorough. made her name famous in every part of the Her marvelous artist temperament has made her a great actress, but this brings its own price, and as great hearts know great griefs, great temperaments must know great nervous strain, consequently there are periods of nervous prostration and unfilled en-

o forget these extenuating circumstances.

Calve's absolute reliance on Paine's celery compound at all such times of low nervous energy appears in the following letter: Boston, Mass., March, 1827 I am convinced that Paine's celery com-pound is the greatest nerve strengthener that can be obtained. I can vouch for its wonderful health-giving powers.

EMMA CALVE. Every great change for the worse in health is in most cases at once betrayed by a loss of weight and a pinched thinning of the accutingency of fire, however remote, so per-face. On the other hand, a gain in weight, up to a certain point, goes hand in hand with take precoutions against serious breaking an improvement in all other essentials of down in health by building up securely the health, and notably an improvement in the strength and vigor of the etnire system by color and amount of the blood. I means of Paine's celery compound.
