

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE.

Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (without Sunday), One Year, $4.00...

AS TO STATE BANK NOTES.

So far as we are aware there has been no suggestion made to the monetary commission in favor of allowing state banks to issue notes...

It is to be remarked in the first place in reference to this, that there is no such general demand in the west for more currency as is implied...

But there are more or less influential advocates of state bank currency elsewhere than in the west and south. One of the ablest financial papers in the country, the New York Journal of Commerce...

When you want to run for office without putting up for campaign expenses, just apply to the chief of police for a detail of patrolmen to report to you and take orders for your political work.

With a gold reserve of more than $150,000,000 the officers in charge of the United States treasury are not laying awake nights wondering how much it will cost the government the next time a load of gold is purchased.

It is too bad that Attorney General Smith cannot shift the blame for his latest delay in the Bartley embankment case upon the shoulders of the republican county attorney, the printer, the proofreader or at furthest the printer's devil.

judgment in the administration of the Agricultural department than has Secretary Wilson.

HAVE THEY BEEN SWALLOWED? One of the principal candidates before the recent fusion state conventions for the nomination for supreme judge on the west for currency, Mr. Coolidge says...

Referring to the same question in its broader scope of national politics, Tom Patterson, editor of the Denver News and one of the leading populists of Colorado, recently expressed himself in a public interview as follows:

Candidly speaking, there is no hope that the populists will win a national victory by nominating a separate and distinct ticket. That fact is patent. At the same time the Chicago platform of the democratic party is in exact accordance with the views of the populists on the money question...

By passing a bill of impeachment against Chief Ishpach of the Creek nation the house of warriors furnishes convincing proof of the substantial progress made by the Indians of the civilized tribes. A first-class impeachment trial without whitewashing features would be an object lesson in government of value to the whites as well as to Creeks.

The battle-ship Iowa, having had its several trial trips and inspections, and having received its silver punch bowl and accessories from the state of Iowa at a cost of $70,000, is now ready to receive its big guns and the men to handle them.

Senator Caffery of Louisiana is said to take a gloomy view of the immediate future in connection with the Cuban question. He is apprehensive that the spirit of jingoism will force the country into war. He has no sympathy with that spirit, but on the contrary is earnestly on the other side...

That was rather an ambiguous compliment which Bryan took in hand. When he says Bryan the other day in sending him a cabbage stalk with sixteen heads on it. The "sixteen to one" point is plain enough. There are six other stalks in the bunch, but only one? That question must have made Mr. Bryan scratch his head.

The official organ of the state house machine prints a lengthy editorial defense of the $6,000-a-year do-nothing state railway commissioners under the caption "Diligent, but Not Effective."

Heve," adds the Call, "that the slot machine is not only a lottery, but, like all other lotteries, is a swindle and a fraud. The public do not see the inside of the game. It is an invidious temptation to gambling. It leads the way to worse and more dangerous forms of risking money on the chance of getting something for nothing. There are many novelties of civilization which humanity could well spare and count the loss a good riddance, but among all these there is none we will surrender more readily than the nickel-in-the-slot machine."

The telegraph poles should come down before the exposition visitors arrive. Freed from these unsightly obstructions, Omaha's wide thoroughfares will make an impression on strangers that will go far to dispose them favorably to the city. The network of poles and wires on the other hand disfigure both buildings and streets and detract from the metropolitan appearance of the city.

Colorado should be well represented at the Omaha exposition. But in order that this may be accomplished it will be necessary for the county commissioners of the different counties to appropriate the money. The state has no funds available for this purpose.

It lies with the people of the several counties to determine whether the state shall be represented or not. In what way it is hoped that a spirit of enterprise will actuate the different communities most deeply concerned, and that the county commissioners will liberally appropriate for an adequate representation of Colorado's great resources.

The New Jersey commissioners who are preparing for the part which this state is to take in the Transmississippi and International Exposition, which is to be held at Omaha, Neb., from June until November, 1898, are making encouraging progress, and are especially anxious for the exhibition of Transmississippi products.

Eating wax candles has killed a Worcester (England) young woman. She ate them in order to improve her complexion. Agents of the Italian government are reported to be buying large quantities of tobacco in Kentucky and Tennessee.

That was rather an ambiguous compliment which Bryan took in hand. When he says Bryan the other day in sending him a cabbage stalk with sixteen heads on it. The "sixteen to one" point is plain enough. There are six other stalks in the bunch, but only one? That question must have made Mr. Bryan scratch his head.

The editor of the Courier-Journal returns his thanks along with this most respectful message to those of his esteemed constituents who have elected him to the office of mayor in connection with the result of the recent election. Whether their commendation is of complimentary or congratulatory nature is alike besides to them.

INTEREST IN THE EXPOSITION.

The state of Illinois has through its legislature made a generous appropriation for an exhibit at the Omaha exposition. The appropriation amounts to nearly $100,000. Plans have been accepted for the Illinois building at the World's fair, with the exception of those of Illinois and California.

La Crosse Republican and Leader. A picture and album of the proposed Wisconsin building at Omaha for next year's exposition will be found in this issue of the Republican and Leader. It is a pretty structure, well fitted for its purpose. If it is to be erected, something like $20,000 must be raised by contributions from citizens.

Colorado should be well represented at the Omaha exposition. But in order that this may be accomplished it will be necessary for the county commissioners of the different counties to appropriate the money.

It lies with the people of the several counties to determine whether the state shall be represented or not. In what way it is hoped that a spirit of enterprise will actuate the different communities most deeply concerned, and that the county commissioners will liberally appropriate for an adequate representation of Colorado's great resources.

The New Jersey commissioners who are preparing for the part which this state is to take in the Transmississippi and International Exposition, which is to be held at Omaha, Neb., from June until November, 1898, are making encouraging progress, and are especially anxious for the exhibition of Transmississippi products.

Eating wax candles has killed a Worcester (England) young woman. She ate them in order to improve her complexion. Agents of the Italian government are reported to be buying large quantities of tobacco in Kentucky and Tennessee.

That was rather an ambiguous compliment which Bryan took in hand. When he says Bryan the other day in sending him a cabbage stalk with sixteen heads on it. The "sixteen to one" point is plain enough. There are six other stalks in the bunch, but only one? That question must have made Mr. Bryan scratch his head.

The editor of the Courier-Journal returns his thanks along with this most respectful message to those of his esteemed constituents who have elected him to the office of mayor in connection with the result of the recent election. Whether their commendation is of complimentary or congratulatory nature is alike besides to them.

NEBRASKA'S GREAT HARVEST.

The Bee's Crop Reports Have Become the Standard Features. The Corn Belt. Latest estimates tend to establish the substantial accuracy of the Corn Belt's conservative crop reports made early in the season.

NEBRASKA'S CROP FOR 1897. Wheat, bushels, 33,444,827. Corn, bushels, 22,997,837. Barley, bushels, 1,200,000. Rye, bushels, 1,200,000. Flaxseed, bushels, 200,000. Soybeans, bushels, 1,000,000. Potatoes, bushels, 1,000,000. Apples, bushels, 1,000,000. Hops, bushels, 1,000,000. Cattle, head, 1,000,000. Horses, head, 1,000,000. Sheep, head, 1,000,000. Swine, head, 1,000,000.

Free Trade Predictions Rejected by the Results of Protection. At the time the Dingley bill was passing through congress, the opponents of that measure and of the protective system in general were vocal with solemn warnings as to what the effect on other countries would be.

It is not too much to say, indeed, that the United States has only to show a willingness to extend her trade by means of reciprocity on advantageous terms in nearly any direction.

CPUD IN POLITICAL DEALS. A piece of news that comes all the way from Nebraska is well calculated to furnish argumentative ammunition to those unprogressive persons to whom the political equality of woman is a proposition fraught with all kinds of mischievous results.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE. Eating wax candles has killed a Worcester (England) young woman. She ate them in order to improve her complexion. Agents of the Italian government are reported to be buying large quantities of tobacco in Kentucky and Tennessee.

That was rather an ambiguous compliment which Bryan took in hand. When he says Bryan the other day in sending him a cabbage stalk with sixteen heads on it. The "sixteen to one" point is plain enough. There are six other stalks in the bunch, but only one? That question must have made Mr. Bryan scratch his head.

The editor of the Courier-Journal returns his thanks along with this most respectful message to those of his esteemed constituents who have elected him to the office of mayor in connection with the result of the recent election. Whether their commendation is of complimentary or congratulatory nature is alike besides to them.

CANADA AND RECIPROcity.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Sir Wilfrid Laurier wants reciprocity between Canada and the United States. But the reciprocity that he advocates fails to reciprocate. It is all "heads I win, tails you lose."

Indians' Journal: It does not favor ultimatum of wise diplomacy to lay down on ultimatum all the bearings of a conference, which of most account will be settled upon as a sine qua non to succeed to have done with the visiting statesmen from Canada. It is true the conduct of the Canadians on the scaling question has been stubborn to the operating degree, but to demand a complete change of policy on their part as a condition precedent to the meeting is, in our opinion, matters seem like a very stupid proceeding.

Chicago Record: The relations between the United States and Canada should be friendly in the wish of all the people with the exception only of the few whose private interests are served by the policy of exclusion. The extreme isolation policy which is natural and unwise to erect special and offensive barriers against friendly intercourse with our immediate neighbor. The people of Canada want more freedom of intercourse with us, and to that end placed in power a ministry especially committed to a liberal policy. The Canadian premier is at the present time in Washington seeking to establish more satisfactory relations with our government. Apparently his mission is to be a failure, the responsibility for which must rest upon the more narrow-minded policy of the United States.

BRIGHT AND CRISP. Detroit Free Press: Pessimist Son (that from college) and the pessimist father. "Farmer Father—'Wal I swan! An' arter all th' fertilizer that's been' throwed int' it, it's no better'n a piece of wood." "Puck, Jasper—There's a funny thing about the world, it's getting to be a little brighter and crisper."

Washington Star: "Parents take a heap o' pleasure," said Uncle Eben, "in payin' their children to go to school. It's a credit for smartness. But it don't alius happen dat de chillun grows up an' returns an compliment."

Philadelphia North American: A German acquaintance of ours thus discoursed learnedly upon the subject of the "Kaiser's" "If business is no better next week than it was yesterday two weeks ago, den I'm a son of a gun, dat's wa' I hope."

HE WONDER WHY. Cleveland Plain Dealer. I love to read of murder trials—I never miss a word. I'd like to see you for twenty miles. To hear what can be heard. And you'll often wonder why—That I should never sleep in gore, Yet cannot kill a fly.

HARD LINES. Tobacco, coffee, tea, whiskey, etc., and follow them as we please. We can do nothing with them but we happen to have an iron constitution, but if we find coffee, an "don't agree" we really have a lot better time in letting it out and using Postum's Food Coffee that will help build up instead of tearing down, after all. "The greatest fun in all the world is the fun of being perfectly well."