DUDLEY PUSHES IT OVER.

Princeton came to scoring during the entire game.

Twice Yale played the ball on Princeton's five-yard line, only to be thrown back. Bannard was injured and Ayres took his place. Booth came off the field, and Dickey went into center, but still with these fresh men the Tigers could not get near the Yale line.

Five minutes before time was called Yale made its last attempt at scoring. Benjamin could do nothing against Princeton's line, but Dudley, Rogers and McBride were sent through for gains. Dudley seemed to find the best holes, while Rogers duplicated his first through for the Yards until the ball for the last time was on Princeton's five-yard line, when time was called and the game was over. game was over. The line-up was as follows:

team of the State Agricultural college, averaging 170 pounds each, arrived overland, a distance of seventy miles, in search of a game of foot ball. They had been notified several days ago that Sloux Falls had no team except the High school tam, and they were booked for Thanksgiving and could not play the Brookings glants. Notwithstanding this, they came with twenty-five students. A team was formed and practice was had under electric light late last night. Most of the players were amateurs, picked up so that Brookings would not be disappointed. Final score: Sloux Falls, 24; Brookings, 0. Yale. Position. Princeton.

pent-up sound found vent and the great area resounded with the defiant cheers and yells of the opposing factions.

The high tiers of seats that framed the field were filled with a bright array of happy and enthusiastic, but expectant and anxious people. In the east stand were gathered most of the Yale "rooters," and there was hardly a dash of any color but blue visible there. Across the field, in the west, Princeton's cohorts were congregated, and the alternating stripes of yellow and the contrasting black were even more brilliant than the blue against the background of black coats and wraps.

The gridfron was in wonderfully good condition. The turf, which had been protected from the snow and rain by a covering of straw, was firm and hard and gave the players a good foods; at CONTEST BEGINS.

It was Yale's fate to kick off. Chamberlain started the game at 2.98 by kicking to Baird, who impediately returned the bail to Yale's thitty-five-yard line. MeBride kicked on the first down and it was Princeton's bill in the center of the field, Reiter played risks tackle and Bannard left end and neither could gain but Wheeler made seven yards on a mass play on the right end. Two more downs were tried and the ball went to Yale for holding. Yale them played risks tackles and Bannard left end and neither could gain but Wheeler made seven yards on a mass play on the right healt was forced to kick. Baird and McBride was forced to kick Baird and McBride was forced to kick. Baird and McBride was forced to kick and he sent the ball to Minds reight that the halfbacks made no impression Baird made a run around the went around the field, starting from the thirty-five-yard line, and of the field was forced to kick. Baird and kick was f rand all three were failures. After that the Yale line was never in danger. Baird, however, showed his wondeerful kicking ability by placing some magnificent punts down the field, two of them being for over sixty yards.

A few minutes before time was called De Saulies made his first sensational run of the day, carrying the ball back after a kick for twenty-five yards through the entire Princeton team.

PRINCETON'S CAPTAIN OUT.

When the teams lined up for the second half it was seen that Lathrop had taken Cochran's place at right end and Princeton ended the game without its captain. The punting began again with even greater fierceness. Yale was apparently playing with far greater confidence and when at last Wheeler caught one of McBride's punts on Princeton's five-yard-line and instead of making a fair catch put the ball to Baird, the latter was pushed over the line for a seeming safety and the crowd went crazy. This score was not allowed and Wheeler on the first down kicked out of danger. Then came a series of plays which in the end wonth game for Yale. Relier went out and Kelley took his place, although strangely enough he had been kept from the side lines up to this time. Then Baird was injured and soon showing himself to be unfit for play was led from the field weeping, Burke taking his place. This weakening of the Princeton team put additional life into Yale. Prom the chrity-five-yard line McBride to return the ball was now on Harvard's ball. From the thrity-five-yard line McBride to return the ball was now on Harvard's the latter was pushed for more and Dudley carried the chair, but was thrown for a loss of three yards. up. Final score: Pennsylvania, vard, 6. The teams lined up as follows: DUDLEY PUSHES IT OVER.

On the next rush Captain Rogers put the ball on the six-yard line. Princeton was too eager, and Edwards interfered with the ball, and Yale got live yards for the off-side play. This put the ball within twelve inches of the goal, from which point Dudley easily went over the line for the first and only touchdown. Cadwalader kieked a goal without trouble.

To be sure, Yale did not score another point, but the Princeton team saw some of the most marvelous rushes of the season, when De Saulles, catching the ball on long punts by Wheeler, dodged the entire Princeton team and ran forty yards, and again thirty, which proved the longest dashes in the game. But even this did not entirely discourage the Tigers, Led by Kelley, the team took a brace that had seldom been equaled. With the "ends back" and well bunched, the Tigers plunged through the Yale line for two and five yards until the ball was on Yale's plunged through the Yale line for two and five yards until the ball was on Yale's plunged through the Yale line for two and five yards until the ball and perhaps the game. This was the nearest that Princeton came to scoring during the entire game.

"It is something like four years ago that I contracted a severe bronchial disease. It became so severe that I was unable to use my voice and every symptom pointed to a rapidly developing consumption of the lungs. I coughed incessantly and experienced a deep, feverish soreness all through the lungs and chest. Wasting of strength and flesh gradually set in and I was rapidly failing. In fact, I was compelled to resign my pastorate of the First Christian church of South Omaha. While in this state I called upon Dr. Shepard, who gave me some encouragement after a careful examination, but would not promise me a cure. I began taking his treatment. This consisted of constitutional remedies to build up my blood and strength and of inhalants, which I breathed deep into my lungs. This deep in-breathed deep into my lungs. I tried a great many kinds of salve, but some would irritate the sore so that I could hardly stand the pain. I could not go near the fire without suffering intensely.
