WELCOME TO THE NEW YEAR

Omaha People Glad to See the Day Come Once More.

THE NEW YEAR WAS ushered into Omaha in the same good old fashion as thousands of new years have been welcomed all over the world for thousands of years—with dance and music, with mirth and merriment, with feasting and drinking and also a few jags, but the latter were few and far between.

There were entertainments of all kinds in the halls about the city during the evening. It was particularly the night for the secret society folks, and despite the fact that there was a great number of the affairs there was a good attendance at them all.

Chief Redell's Report Makes a Most Excellent Showing. John Redell, chief of the Omaha fire department, has prepared his annual report for the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

Don't be frightened at the noise of the clearance sales—ours has been going on for nearly four weeks—and we're pretty well cleaned out of those clearance sale pianos—only a few left—but these that are left are the best—it won't make much difference now if we do have to move them into our own store—they won't take up much room—yet if you want to get one of them at the cut prices we've been making—you can—if you come early enough—they are all high class make—Some second hand ones yet at $23 up to $38—One square piano in fairly good condition only $20—Our easy terms make it so easy to buy.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.—We know of lots and lots of people that are happy today—for never in years have we sold as much in all that's good in jewelry—and somebody must be the happier in receiving these gifts—that makes us happy—and we want to thank the Omaha people for their share in making us so—We're happy, too, to be able to say that our stock is now the most complete in the city—and we are going to make the prices so that all can avail themselves of the stock—100 engraved visiting cards with copper engraved plate for $1.50—Mail orders receive prompt attention.

C. S. Raymond Co., Jewelers, 15th and Douglas Streets.

Don't be troubled with your eyes this new year—bring them here with you and we will fit them to a pair of our scientifically made eye glasses. We have never yet seen the eyes that we could not correct if glasses are what they need—We have every appliance to aid us in making the examination thorough—We make no charge for the examination—then we have a manufacturing plant—not simply a grind stone—but complete in every sense of the word—with competent workmen in charge—We can tell you if we can help you—if we can we will guarantee satisfactory results.

MATTERS IN FEDERAL COURT

Uncle Sam's Justice Mill Winds Up Its 1897 Grind.

When Judge Munger of the federal court left the bench yesterday at noon he adjourned court until next Monday morning. The afternoon session was declared off on account of the funeral of Mrs. J. M. Woolworth, and Saturday was passed over because it is a holiday.

On Monday morning the petit jury will report again for service and the remaining two weeks of the term will be given to criminal business with the exception of the two days which are expected to be taken up with the trial of the case of the Modern Woodmen of America against the Union National bank.

CRIMINAL BUSINESS BEGINS MONDAY

Judge Munger Will Take Up the Docket on Which Names of Offenders Against Uncle Sam Are Entered.

Courts Monday, Ak-Sar-Ben and Omaha Independent Order of Foresters, fittingly installed their officers for the coming year last night. The installation was a joint one, but was not public. The ceremony was performed in the hall in the Continental block.

The services at the Salvation Army headquarters last night were conducted by Major Henry H. Smith, chief of the Southern division. The exercises were continuous during the evening and closed with the ushering of the prospect of new recruits.

Two cases of destitution have been brought to the attention of the local corps which are recommended to the public. One is that of a woman with three children at Third and Maple streets, where there is no food in the house and furniture is being burned for fuel.
