mains as a future contribution to the busi-ness of the roads. There is every proba-bility that, when the spring trade sets in, there will be an unprecedented amount of merchandise freight going to the interior, which is the most profitable kind of traffic. Thus it seems reasonable to assume that the great increase of earnings during the last six months will be continued through 1885. In business circles generally the feeling is much more confident than it has been at any time since the recovery of last year set is much more confident than it has been at any time since the recovery of last year set in. We have had several months' experience of this recuperation and are therefore in a fair position to judge of its quality and fur-ther development; and the opinion seems to be uniform that it rests upon a sound and permanent basis and may be expected to ex-fond into an era of great national prosper-ify. In mercantile circles the feeling is con-servative but full of confidence. Credit is in a wholesome condition, as is evident from the remarkable fact that the test af-forded by the settlements made at the close of the year has not developed one failure at this center of importance enough to attract attention, a circumstance which is almost without precedent.

without precedent. These and other important factors which might be cited are plainly in favor of the investment markets. On the other hand, it might be clied are plainly in favor of the investment markets. On the other hand, it is scarcely possible to specify any notewor-thy facts or influences of an opposite ten-dency. The "benr" operators have about exhausted their stock of pretenses for sell-ing and are likely to co-operate in estab-lishing a higher scale of prices upon which they may play their game with greater safety. The arrival in London of a prom-tinent New York financier wnose potency in the securities market is very great is a warn-ing to them to keep their "saort" commit-ments on a strictly conservative scale, as any day announcements may arrive which would give a new stimulus to the market. Striking a balance between the two sides of the market, I cannot but regard the pre-ponderance as largely in favor of the "buil" interest. That may not mean any immo-diate extraordinary activity or great early advance in prices, but, in my view, it may be safely regarded as foreshadowing a steady upward tendency of prices from this time forward for the next few months, which is as far ahead as it is needful to look.

CONDITION OF NEW YORK BANKS.

Statements Point More Certainly to an Easter Money Market. NEW YORK, Jan 9.-The Financier says

The conditions outlined in the analysis of the New York bank statement for December 31, indicating an easier money market, are reflected in a still more noteworthy degree in the exhibit of clearing house institutions for the week ending January 8. The banks have gained heavily in cash and deposits and the surplus reserve is $6,475,825 larger than seven days ago. The statement in-cludes the dividend period covering the first of the year. What this means is shown in the fact that the clearings for the week in New York exceed $1,000,000,000, The expan-sion of $0,525,300 in deposits and the gain of $0,525,300 in deposits and the gain of $0,107,500-in reserves represent the pay-ments of interest which have been made. Part of the interior movement which is reflected in a still more noteworthy degree ments of interest which have been made. Fart of the interior movement which is in tributed to the interior movement which is in tributed to the interior movement which is this money was first attracted by the tem-porary high rates prevailing, but its return from this time will be a purely normal operation. The reserves of the New York is hanks for years plast have been swelled from January well into the spring season is high operation. The reserves of the New York is no reason for believing that the move-ment will be less than in former years and the only inference is that money will be easier. As the trade balance in favor of the United States seems to be growing, it would not be strange if the investments in storling exchange, now approximating $20. 0000, were increased. This however, is de-endent solely on the course of money rates abroad. The Bank of England's reserve is hower than for years, but as a heavy in-forease is usually made after the beginning of the year, it looks as though money in the United States, the take the surplus had this country will have to seek do-neasier than for years, but as a heavy in the functed States money is getting on a broad. The Bank of England's reserve is hower than for years, but as a heavy in the United States, in that case the surplus in the this country will have to seek do-ment is following the same course as the pressituation of the reasury is getting on a broad of this country will have to seek do-ment favorable business cuitook to absorb the full total of the money now available. London Money Market. LONDON, Jan, 9.—The ease of the money market was accentuated during the hast week. Money and discount rates have fallen and it is expected that terms for deposits will be lower shortly. One cause for the re-lapse has been the disapparance of the continental gold demand, which has re-sulted in a fall in the price for bars. On the Stock exchange basiness increased sul-stantially. Consols were dull and lower be-cause of the bellef that England will pro-vide for the direct loan to Chlina by the sale of consols.
