

ACTIVE INVESTMENT BONDS

Business Distinctly Firmer and Prices Steadily Rise. STOCKS SHOW SYMPATHETIC IMPROVEMENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Henry Clews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall Street:

During the last few days of the week the market has followed the direction fore-shadowed in my advisory of January 9.

The investment market has been active and railroad bonds have made further advances in the dividend-paying stocks

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Saturday.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Wheat today closed at an advance and the market continues to be almost altogether of a scalping character.

Wheat was surprisingly strong when contending with the corn market.

Business in corn was extremely dull and mostly of a speculative character.

Provisions were dull and easier. Hog market is firm, but slightly affected by opening prices.

London Money Market. LONDON, Jan. 10.—Money and discount rates were very limp at the beginning of the week.

Manchester Textile Fabrics. MANCHESTER, Jan. 10.—The market last week was firm and active.
