DRUGGIST SHRADER'S CASE

Objections to His Permit Based on His Violation of Law.

Testimony Before the License Board Very Direct on This Point and Directly Denied by the Applicant.

The license board spent the entire forenoon yesterday in hearing evidence on the protest of E. Rosewater against the issuance of a druggist's license to W. J. Shrader at 1602 North Twenty-fourth street. The protest alleged that the applicant had sold the Belt Line reliroad tax matter. The disalso done business without a license during Bee yesterday. The company agrees to pay days.

In support of the protest two witnesses were called who testified that they had purchased a bottle of whisky at Shraders' store about 9 o'clock on the evening of December 26. This was the Sunday following Christmas. Both witnesses swore positively that Shrader had sold the liquor in person. He asked the witness who asked for the liquor if he had a bottle and on his negative reply he put the liquor in a hunyadi bottle and wrapped it up. He did not ask the purchaser for his name nor for what purpose the liquor was wanted.

In his own defense Mr. Shrader declared that he was in the store at the time men-tioned, but that he did not remember that he had seen the witnesses. He repeated this statement several times and finally declared that they were not in the store at that time. In submitting the case Mr. Simeral, for th remonstrant, called attention to the fact that it was notorious that some of the drug store in the suburban districts were doing a saloo business under a druggist's license. He de-clared that the saloon men were compelled to pay $1,000 a year for their licenses and if the drug clores were to be permitted to run a sa con business and sell whisky, especially on Sunday, when the saloons were required to close, it would be better to do away with the saloons entirely and let the drug stores handle the liquor business, as was the case In Kansus and other probabilion states.

In reviewing the evidence he alluded to th monner in which the applicant had denied the testimony of the previous witnesses and suggested that in passing on the merits of the two statements the board should consider the motives behind them. Mr. Shrader was the defendant in the case and manifestly has etrong motive for declaring that he had no sold the liquor. But his statement was op posed by the direct and positive evidence of two witnesses who had no motive for mis-representing the facts. He contended that i was time that a balt was called on the practice of turning drug stores into saloons and that the present case furnished the board with an excellent opportunity to put a stor

The argument of the attorney for the applicant was almost entirely devoted to the most rabid abuse of the witnesses who had testified against Shrader. He viciously at-tacked their integrity and asked the board to believe that everyone was committing per-jury except his client. The board then took the case under advisement until the proof of publication was filed.

Sal on licenses were granted without con test to Max Flotow, 1264 South Sixteenth street; Henry Meis, 691 North Sixteenth; Julius Bruste, 5201-25 North Thirtieth, and John J. Parrott 924 Douglas. The applica-tion of J. W. Clark, 1501 South Twenty-ninth for a druggist's license was also Board Disposes of a Number of Rou tine Matters.

The county commissioners met in adjourned session yesterday and disposed of the county and city taxes on a basis of a valuation of $6,000 per mile. It is also agreed that the back taxes, siggregating $2,407.97, shall be paid forthwith. The county is to stipulate that all suits heretofore brought to oliect these back taxes shall be dismissed. The bond of the National Bank of Commerce for the care and custody of county money was presented and referred. The bond was signed by J. H. Evans and George E. Barker, both officers of the bank. The bank would pay 3 per cent on balances. County Treasurer Heimrod asked that he be given the use of the two rooms in the court house now occupied by County Attor-ney Baldrige. These rooms were formerly occupied by the county treasurer, but some years ago, when the reassignment of rooms was made, they were turned over to the county attorney for offices. The request of County Treasurer Helmrod was referred for I. R. Andrews protested against the pay ment of a tax, alleging that he had no knowledge of its having been assessed against his property. The commissioners held that the protest was not good, as it is the duty of every citizen to ascertain for himself whether or not his property is assessed. Notice was received that Dawes county had brought suit against Douglas county for $151 for the care of Ezra Erway, an insane erson, said to be a Douglas county resident By the adoption of a resolution offered by ommissioner Harte, Herman Cromwell was appointed janitor at the court house, to suc-ceed N. Register of Deeds Crocker asked that the clerk of the district court report to him all mortgages discharged by reason of decrees in foreclosure having been entered by the judges of the district court.

The next meeting of the board will be held next Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

THE ADVERTISING FAKIR

He Has His Eye Fixed on Omaha in Quest of Victims.

Expositions and fake schemes are supposed o flourish at the same time and place. A rentleman who recently returned from the ost states that all of the program fiends the directory men and all kinds of fake schemers are heading for Omaha. It has been the experience of all cities where expositions have been held to be over-run by transient solicitors, with all sorts of advertising devices, who, by their im-portunities for business, have made the ives of the morehants elmost intolerable

For fully two years before the World's fair pened at Chicago, it is stated on good authority, each advertiser of that city was visited on an average by a solicitor e each thirty minutes during each busi-t day. Had each solicitor presented a sedlum by the aid of which the public could nave been reached and influenced, would have been some compensation for the ces of time and detraction from business, but when we consider that fully nine-tenths of the schemes presented were simply con-cocted for the purpose of fleecing the unwary usiness man, it becomes a ser ous matter. xperience, indeed, the vanguard of this arm of lakirs is already on the ground. Las class successfully worked a number of our merchants. Their scheme was to secure advertisements to be printed on blotting paper f the usual size for desks in business house They represented, when sollciting, that 10 500 blotters would be printed and that 400 of them would be delivered to each of the first class hotels of the city, and the balance so distributed as to give the widest publicity to the advertising placed upon them, and this is the way they carried out their con-

It has been learned from reliable source that the advert'sements were printed, but hat only 100 of these blotters were dis-ributed, instead of 10,000. They charged an the way from $4 to $8 for spaces upon the blotter, varying in price, according to the size of the space. They were very careful collect the money just as soon as they cured a proof to show publication. In one or two instances they were asked to show proof of the number printed, and, as if they anticipated such an action on the part of the advertisers, they immediately projuced a letter from the printer, which stated that blotters had been printed at his establishment, but the letter failed to state how many. The advertiser, in one kostance at least, refused to accept such evidence as conclusive, and refused to pay his bill. The party took the trouble to send an employe of his establishment to each of the hotels, but question, or any expectation of the delivery of blotters, such as was promised the adverticers, among the hotel people. He then went to the printer and was equally un-successful in learning anything definite about the missing blotters. The advertise: refused to pay the original promoters of the scheme, on the ground that they had no carried out their part of the contract. In a few days, however, the printer's collector called and very urgently demanded the pay-ment of the bill, claiming his employer, the printer, had purchased the bill, and being an innocent party, could not vouch for consider promises made by the other party. The advertiser in question is determined withhold payment until the contract is fulfilled, which he is perfectly justified in doing. This example fully illustrates all of the so-called fake schemes. They are so much alike and so simple in their modus operandi that one is reminded of the old mer and the confidence man. No one for a moment believes that such a scheme for publicity would influence a single buyer and I will not do any reputable merchant the injustice to believe that they expect returns from such advertising. The order is given without consideration, more to get rid of a present annoyance than through the hope of being benefited. If it could be known how many dollars are squandered in this direction in every city each year it would astound the average merchant. f there was any need for this expenditure he merchant could bear it with better grace. The remedy lies with the merchants them selves. If they will refuse to patronize these schemes they cannot succeed, and very so n any city could be purged from this octopus which draws in everything and gives out nothing. When any scheme which is not clearly understood or which seems of questionable character is presented to a business man, scrutinize it carefully and, as a further precaution, call up some reputable newspaper, a reliable advertising man or a fellow merchant of known business ability and ask his opinion. If this were done I will venture to say that nine-tenths of these highway robbers would be turned out of doors empty handed. This would not require more time than to listen to the stereotyped story of the fakir and, if persisted in, would effectually rid our city of this class of solicitors.

HOLDERS OF WARRANTS ARE MOVING

Action Brought in District Court for the Purpose of Protecting Eastera Purchasers of the City's Orders.

The National Exchange bank of Providence R. I., has brought suit against the city of Omaha in an action to recover on $2,900 of ewer warronts issued in 1893 and which are due and unpaid. This suit is the first of a number of suits of the same kind, all of liquors as a beverage during 1897 and had position was along the lines indicated in The which will be brought during the next few

> In 1893 considerable public work was done for which the city issued warrants, the total amount aggregating something like $190,000. Some time ago some of the holders of the warrants asked the members to introduce a resolution in the city council waiving the statutes of limitations, but this they refused o do. Attorneys who represent the holders of the warrants notified the holders that the there was a possibility that the collection of the warrants would be barred if suit was not brought within five years from the date of their issue. It is for this protection that the > resent suit is brought. Holders of the warrants in controversy say that they have no disposition to bring sult if the city will do the square thing, but as the officers of the city refuse to refund the ndebtedness and also refuse to waive th statutes of limitations, there is nothing left or them to do but to sue and secure a udgment. The warrants draw 7 per cent nterest and the judgment, when obtained vill draw the same.

> ASK REDUCTION OF VALUATION

orporations Say They Are Listed Too High by Tax Commissioner. The city council met in the council champer yesterday afternoon from 2 to 4 p, m. o sit as a board of equalization and took up the matter of protests of the Omaha Gas ompany, Omaha Street Railway company and the Omaha Thomson-Houston Electric Light company, they holding that the valustion set by the tax commissioner was too nigh. They asked that their valuation be reduced as follows: Gas company, from $450,000 to $190,000; Street Railway company, from $495,900 to $300,000; Electric Light company, from $134,900 to $100,000. Councilman Stuht moved that the assessment stand as fixed. This brought up a general discussion upon the matter, its which Stuht fought the corporations hard. He held that inasmuch as the other large corporations, including the water company telephone company, smelting works, Wil ow Springs distillery, Bee Building com-pany, New York Life and other large ownby the council, that he could not see why the three concerns that derived more reve ue from the city than any others should e granted a reduction. The council has practically promised that this year's levy will not be over 20 mills and Stuht held that if this reduction, which would amount to nearly $400,000, is allowed, is would make it necessary for the council to increase the levy several mills. Council man Karr wanted more light upon the subect and it was finally agreed that the coun cil would meet Tuesday at 9 a. m. to pass upon the matter. The city clerk was in-structed to notify the corporations interested to be present and have their sworn state ments of the value of their franchises and properties ready to present to the council. They will also be asked to show the state-ments made to the directors of their re-ers of property that had been assessed upon the same scale as the corporations that were asking for the reduction had made no ob jection to the valuation placed upon their property on account of the low levy promise:

spective companies on January 1 of this year IND ON STREET CAR TRACKS

Municipal Housekeeping Problem is Under Consideration. The difficulty with which some of the lown-town streets have been cleaned has led some of the city officials to make some avestigations in regard to the amount of sand and gravel that is dumped on the streets by the street railway company. 1: is stated that on days when the tracks are wet and slippery two wagon loads of sand a day are used on the cross-town line alone. This is in addition to what is sprinkled from buckets on the steepest grades. During a ontinued pediod of wet weather the accumu ation of sand becomes quite an item in the efuse in the gutters, and its faculty of co nesion with the ice makes the conglomera-ion very difficult to clear away. No officia action has been taken, but it is suggested that some scheme should be applied that would do away with the necessity of using such an amount of sand. If this could be successfully accomplished, it would not only save a good deal of work for the stree leaning force, but would prevent the wear ng away of rails and rolling stock by the
