MISS ALICE WILSON, aged 18, employed as a hat trimmer.

HER SISTER, MAUD WILSON, aged 5.

MRS. CORA PETERS AND DAUGHTERS, ETHEL AND ALMA, aged respectively 7 and 7. It is reported that her son Charles, aged 12, also perished, but there are reports that he was saved and taken into the country by relatives.

Mrs. Davies was living at her daughter's, Mrs. J. P. Pronger, and they were on the fifth floor and were cut off from the stairs and fire escape.

The firemen failed in their efforts to lift ladders to the fifth floor owing to a tangle of electric light and telephone wires.

Mr. Pronger, who was also formerly from Nebraska, caught two large wires running up the outer wall of the building. He crawled down these ladders to the fourth floor, where he caught the top of the swaying ladder.

He descended to the ground and was followed back up the ladder by a woman carrying a child in her arms.

She was unable to get up the ladder and she fell to the ground. She was not injured.

RAILROADING IN YEARS PAST

Marvelous Changes Wrought in an Average Lifetime.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE EARLY DAYS

Leaves from the Records of a Conductor Who Has Hosed Trains for Half a Century—Systems Compared.

George F. Hanford, traveling passenger agent for the New York Central road, with headquarters in New York, is one of the old members and an ex-president of the Railroad Conductors' Life Insurance association.

He is a gray haired gentleman, somewhat below middle height, has a full face, bushy white hair, and is dressed in a suit of the Chambray Depey style, dresses neatly and wears a silk tie.

He entered the service of the New York Central in 1854 as a train conductor, and he has been connected with that road continuously ever since.

He is thoroughly acquainted with the railroad business since I first entered the service as a conductor, over forty-three years ago, has been a train conductor for nearly half a century.

TO MOTHERS OF LARGE FAMILIES.

In this workaday world few women are so placed that physical exertion is not constantly demanded of them in their daily life.

Mrs. Pinkham makes a special appeal to mothers of large families whose work is never done, and many of whom suffer and suffer for lack of intelligent aid.

To women, young or old, rich or poor, Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., extends her invitation to try her free advice.

Oh, women! do not let your health suffer. It will be a relief when a word from Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., extends her invitation to try her free advice.
