

IN THE DOMAIN OF WOMAN.

Fashion's Decrees for Spring.

Shift Wrists, Tea Gowns, Waisteonis and Valby devets.

New York, Jan. 27.—It is already time to taik of what the new shirt waists will be like, because the manufacturers and backles the shoulders of her other time, and have just completed their stock for the spring trude. All the amartest of the spring trude. The spring trude is no monotony in the tucking, however. Che pretty pale blue waits will ave fitted in flora a pointed yoke, thus throwing considerable for the waits will ave fulled upon on the reading of the charm, and there is searcely an exception to the rule in favor of tucked bosons. There is no monotony in the tucking, however, the pretty pale blue waits will always fitted in flora a pointed yoke, thus throwing considerable for the evening is the shadow gown, that is in the rule in favor of tucked bosons. There is no monotony in the tucking, however, the probable waits will always fitted in flora a pointed yoke, thus throwing considerable white silk, with a full petticeat of black in front a pointed yoke, thus throwing considerable white silk, with a full petticeat of black in flora and probable and proposed to a possible with a fluing distribution. The company was a species of cape. It really is a pointed yoke, thus throwing considerable white silk, with a full petticeat of black in flora or of tucked bosons is tucked in done and a monotony is tucked in done and a monotony is tucked in done and a monotony in the tucking, however.

The pretty pale blue waits will have fitted for the waits will always anyth and the proposal part of the company was anyther passed in the company which the tholer made in the board, of the chind, which is nearly form the company which the spring of the perpendicular plaits, wide or narrow, and tance of lent it is becoming a usual thing pation for women is rather new, that is, Curtain and portiere hanging also comes then we have a change in the arrangement of buttons. Studs will be little used, for down the front clusters of three or five tiny pearl buttons are, at intervals, sewed on very close together. These properly do not hold the fronts of the shirt together at all; a serviceable underhand does that, while the pearl knobs are for decoration

In case anybody is desirous of asking the question, it may as well be affirmed here that shirt fronts will pouch just a wee bit; that on many a sensible shirt the back is quite as elaborately tucked as the front, and ruffs and sleeves are in no salient points different from those we wore lost year.

Next after gingham the typical woman's shiring of this senson, in cotton goods, will be white and colored, widely corded pique. They have in the majority been made with three deep horizontal tucks across the full bosom, and are caught in front with three or four very broad white pearl buttons.

By the way, it is whispered about that the summer novelty in jewelry will be studs and buttons and plus of carved plak and mother-of-nearl, set in silver, or with *keleton silver patierrs cut out over the pearli Meantime, while the women are snubbing their pretty noses against show windows to see the very early novelties that share the public's interest with the January bargains In white goods, there are still some very fetching evolutions being made in the silk shirt waist. The newest comer in that line is a shirt of taffets that opens only down the buck. It is usually evolved from tempting bits of silky color found on some remnant, counter, and it, buttoning up behind, has a draw string about the worst which the inj front, and gives a full pouched besom.

A stiff, high white linen collar is worn, with such a shirt, but the necktie is apt to be a lengthy sear; of some pale tinted, silk muslin or chiffon, with tucked and hemstitched ends, wound twice about the throat the popular thing to make these little waists of strined silk or French flannet, letting the strined silk or French flannet, letting the strined silk or French flannet, letting the strined silk or present of the body and arranging the sleeves on the same model. arranging the sleeves on the same model.
