Constitutional Frovisions for Payment of Fees Disregarded.

MONEY RETAINED IN DEFIANCE OF LAW

Tesent State Officers Almost as Flagrant Offenders as Were Their Predecessors Whom They Denounced.

LINCOLN, Feb. 1 .- (Special.) - The conctitution of the state provides that officers of the executive department shall be allowed no fees and that when any service is to be performed by them the money shall be "paid in advance into the state treasury." The prominence given this section in the submission of the Eugene Moore case and the expectation that the supreme court will in its decicion make a strict ruling on this part of the constitution has aroused considerable discussion as to the meaning of the section referred to. Some contend, with Moore's law. yers, that it means that the persons requiring the service to be performed shall first pay the money into the treasury. Others hold that a strict interpretation will be that the official is required to pay the money into the treasury before he performs the service. This discussion naturally leads to the query as to how the ruling will affect the present

It is apparent that no matter which way the court holds in the Moore case the present the court holds in the Moore case the presen-state auditor will be left open to public criticism on account of his manner of hand. ling the fees that come into his office. By his last semi-annual report to the governor Auditor Cornell shows that on May 31 he had in his hands $7,938 in fees which should have been in the treasury. It also shows the following collections: June, $454.50; July, $550.50; August, $542.50; September, $254.50. On June 4, although he had almost $8,000 on On June 4, although he had almost $8,000 on hand, the auditor turned $1,000 into the treasury. On June 29, with $7,392.50 on hand, he paid in $6,100. On August 31, with over $2,300 on hand, he saw fit to pay to the treasuror $900 and on October 22, with about $2,000 on hand, he paid $1,000. At the time of making the report, according to his own figures, he had in his hands $1,001.10, which the constitution says should be paid into the treasury in advance. into the treasury in advance MUTZ IS INTERVIEWED.

In order to obtain some light on this and other questions from persons who have re-cently made constitutional provisions and "unauthorized expenditures" a study. The Bee representative brought these facts to the attention of Chairman Otto Mutz of the legislative investigating committee.

Mr. Mutz said that if the auditor's statement made any such showing it was clearly a matter for investigation. In a further conversation the chairman of the conversation let the matter out that the report of Expert Taylor, which is still unput isned, cars attention to this state of affairs, and criti-cises the auditor for holding back the money. Mr. Mutz was also asked the following: The Mr. Mutz was also asked the following: The records in the office of the state auditor show that Governor Holcomb has drawn during his three years in office about $1,260 for house rent, in violation of this section of the constitution. Do you consider it a part of your duty, as chairman of the investigation committee, to investigate and report on this violation of the constitution? Do you consider the $1,260 drawn by the governor for "house rent," as an "unauthorized expenditure," or as a "shortage?"

or as a "shortage?" Mr. Mutz said that in regard to the drawing of house rent money by the governor there had always been considerable doubt as to its legality, but inasmuch as the money had been appropriated for that purpose by the legislature, he did not believe it to be within the province of his committee to in-vestigate the acts of the legislature. He admitted that the "house rent" feature was "perquisite" prohibited by the constitution, but had no opinion to give as to whether it was an "unauthorized expenditure."

SUGAR FACTORY FOR FREMONT. Farmers Pledge a Bonus to Secure the Proposed Plant. FREMONT, Neb., Feb. 1.—(Special.)—A meeting of the sugar beet raisers of this vicinity was held at the court house this afternoon for the purpose of raising money for the proposed factory. There was a good tendance of the farmers from this vicinity and much interest was manifested. The price to be paid for beets by the new factory. it was stated, would be $4 per ton and the contracts would be as favorable to the beet raisers as those of any factory in the state Of this $4 per ton the farmers were requested to donate for the factory the sum of 50 cents to donate for the factory the sum of 50 cents per ton on the whole or a part of the acreage contracted for. About 600 acres were contracted for in a short time, which on the basis of ten tons to the acre, means an addition of $3,000 to the banus. The farmers were usuanimously in favor of a factory, the only question which in any way tended to make them best tree about supervisions was make them hesitate about subscribing, was the kind of a contract the proprietors of the new factory will sign. The prospects are good for the raising of the balance of the bonus needed to secure a factory here in a short time and it is expected the plant will be completed in season to work up the '98 crop of beets.
