

THE NEW YORK STORE. Spot cash buying late in the season has secured for patrons of the Big Store grand values in Clothing and Cloaks. The great sales are in full blast Saturday. Every Department is clearing up winter stocks at half price and less. In Saturday's special sales prices reach the bottom notch. Always the lowest in price but now more especially. Selling Cheaper because we are Selling More.

Clothing Dept.

We guarantee to save you from $5.00 to $7.50 on every suit and overcoat you buy during the sale of the Three Big New York Stocks now on sale. Never before have we done such an immense clothing business in the first three days of February. The people of Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs are alive to this and are securing the best bargains of their lives. Yesterday the greater portion of these stocks were taken from stock room and today we will be better prepared to serve your wants. We urgently request overcoat buyers to give us a call—we can save you a five dollar note on every coat—

Every garment is high grade—well tailored—and will bear the closest inspection—We sell only first-class goods.

APPROVE BOULEVARD PLANS

Meeting of Citizens Endorses Scheme of Park Commissioners.

BEAUTIFUL DRIVE THROUGH THE CITY

No Opposition Develops to the Proposition to Construct the Drive—Vote of Thanks for Gift of Land.

A meeting of people living in the western part of the city was held at Twenty-ninth and Farnam streets last night to discuss the proposed boulevard. The attendance was not so large as at the meeting held in the southern part of town last week, but in all other respects the meeting was fully as successful and a motion was unanimously adopted favoring the proposed scheme. Among those present were: Park Commissioners Tukey, Cornish and Bates, Councilmen Stuyvesant, City Engineer Andrew R. Rowator, Charles Huntington, Charles Turner, M. A. Hall, E. L. Stone, County Commissioner W. I. Kierstead, H. H. Harder, Jonathan Edwards, J. A. Beverly and John H. Butler.

tend it to Bemis park and also to the north end of the city by way of Twenty-ninth and street or to a connection with the Nineteenth street boulevard.

City Engineer Rowator was called for and he discussed the merits of the proposed boulevard, which he graded above the line of the driving street in the city. It will be necessary, he said, to confine below the grades of those streets running east and west, which have been graded above the line of the boulevard, and this will necessitate the construction of viaducts on these streets. These will cost from $7,500 to $10,000, according to the width of the street crossing the boulevard, and will require some time to construct, but the result will be a driveway which will be a most desirable acquisition. Chairman Tukey requested any person who had any criticisms to make or any question to ask concerning the plan to take the opportunity of expressing his ideas freely, and a number of questions were asked concerning the details of the plan, regarding the width of the roadway, etc., but no one had any criticism to make. County Commissioner Kierstead then made a motion to instruct the Board of Park Commissioners to order that the Board of Park Commissioners might understand the sentiments of the people living along the line of the proposed improvement. This motion was put to a vote and was adopted unanimously. J. A. Beverly then moved that the meeting extend a vote of thanks to Charles Turner for his donation to the city of a tract of land lying along the route of the proposed boulevard. This was also adopted without a dissenting vote and the meeting adjourned.

AMUSEMENTS.

The new musical burlesque, "Miss Philadelphia," will have its first presentation in Omaha tomorrow, when it will play two performances at Boyd's, afternoon and evening. The company is headed by Joe Cawthorne and Elvia Crox Seabrooke, and is said to comprise sixty people. Two large audiences are confidently expected.

A notable engagement at Boyd's is that of the Frawley company, which begins Monday evening and continues until Wednesday, closing with two performances on that day. The Frawley company ranks with the very best stock organizations now existing, and a season of unusually good dramatic entertainment is promised. A change of bill will take place at each performance, the plays presented being in order as follows: Monday night, "Shenandoah"; Tuesday night, "Sue"; Wednesday matinee, "Christy"; and evening, "The Sign of the Cross."

Tim Murray of "Toss Steer" fame will play an engagement at Boyd's, beginning Thursday of next week, presenting at each performance his successful vehicles of entertainment, "Old Innocence" and "Sir Henry Bunsby." He is supported by Dorothy Sherrod and a good company.

Buckley's Arterio Sclerotic. The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Kuhn & Co.

Wilson Makes His Escape. Frank Wilson and E. Richards, sentenced to thirty days in the chain gang, served but a very small portion of their time yesterday. While the gang was hauling gravel from the back of the city jail, Wilson watched an opportunity when Officer Harry Easton was not looking and ran from the jail. He was supported by Dorothy Sherrod and a good company. He accidentally ran into a friend about this time, who agreed to talk to the city physician about the case, and Richards in the meantime was sent back to the jail. In about an hour, City Physician Ralph called at the jail and pronounced Richards

MAKE THE WORLD BETTER

Arguments Against Taking Things as They Are, Without Any Exertion.

FALLACY OF SUCH A COURSE EXPOSED

Dr. Leo M. Franklin Shows the Insuperability of the Plein Pat Forth by a Great Many People.

A thoughtful discussion was held at Temple Israel last night upon "Taking the World as It Is." Dr. Franklin gave the opinion that the insufficient plea contained in his subject was a most unmanly way in which to face wrong conditions and said that it was the embodiment of selfishness and weakness to accept injustice and sin with the plea that we must take things as they are. He pointed out that mankind is made up of the strong and the weak, the wise and ignorant, and he held that it was a blinding duty for the strong and wise to impart those traits to others. In continuing this thought Dr. Franklin said: "Though the expression may be trite the truth of it is terse that the world consists of many kinds of people. Side by side, shoulder to shoulder, faithhearted and hero rush along in the race of life. The merry and the sad, the thoughtful and the frivolous, are not surprised to find themselves in each other's company. There is no walk of life in which a majority of humanity may say that it is his alone. The world is a Babol in which not only languages, but temperaments, characters and endowments are in confusion. Whether these inequalities are a curse, as held in bible times, may be questioned, as the world might otherwise be a prosy place and even painfully tedious. And just as it requires notes in a battery there is needed the meeting of divergent factors to reach great results. There is no happiness, however, in human contact which is not congenial and when there is no sympathy in common, and on this earth the scholar must sit beside the ignorant, innocence must meet guilt and purity, tainted sin."
