We are living in an age that is advancing at rapid strides. The man who stands still even for a day looses his place in the race and is heard of no more. Everything we see and behold are constantly changing their aspect. Sparsely settled districts have become populous and populous districts have lost their population. As spring follows winter and all things change with it, so does the Supreme Court Knocks Out Amend ments to Criminal Law. LINCOLN, Feb. 18 .- (Special Telegram.)-The supreme court on yesterday made an application of the rule that an act of the legislature amendatory of a section of an existing act must set out and repeal the original section to criminal legislation that is apt to cause some interest among lawyers. The case was that of Jonas Reynolds, convicted in Hall county for receiving stolen goods. Reynolds was, until the order of the court released him today, in the penitentiary The court holds that as the act of the legis lature of 1875, which attempted to amend the original section of the criminal code relating to this offense, was not in accordance with the rule above that it is void and the original section is in force.
