TEACHING HABITS OF THRIFT.

Hint of the Immense Influence of Public Instruction. An instructive demonstration of the habits of thrift inculcated by the public schools of New England was had at Springfield, Macs., recently. Dr. George E. Dawson, of the Bible Normal school, submitted to the pupils of the public schools the question "If you had $5 all your own what would you do with it?" Answers were received from 1.307 pupils. Of those who passed in answers 669 were boys and 638 were girls, their ages ranging from 5 to 16. The miswers were grouped under nine general heads. Forty-four per cent would deposit the money in a bank, 13.8 per cent would buy clothing, 2.2 per cent would buy something to est, 15.3 per cost would buy toys and other means of anusement. 2.1 per cent would buy jewelry and finery, 9-10ths of 1 per cent would buy finearms, 1.7 per cent would spend it for travel, 14 per cent would spend it for others and 6 oer cent would buy books, etc. It is express a disposition to save. Dr. Dawson attributes this largely to the suggestability of the children. The results in this respect resemble those obtained in other fields of While the children do not re experiment. alize the full eignificance of raving, the idea has been engrafted upon their minds and is bound to have its influence. The fact that this idea of saving has been thus forcibly impressed on the minds of to many is very significant and gives us a high of the immense influence of public instruction. In noting the per cent of those who would buy clothing, says the Springfield Republi-can, it should be remembered that many of the children were in urgent need of some thing better to wear. These who voted for something to cat were mostly under 7 years of age. In the class who would prefer amuse-ments, the gir's usually expressed a wish for dolls and doll carriages, while the boys mostly desired pigetes, rabbits or other pets. In regard to travel, the figures show that, as children grow older, the desire to go out into the world increases rapidly. reaching its height at about the beginning o frearms is an expression of the hunting instinct that awakers when they are 10 or 12. At that age boys like to get hold o books of hunting and adventure. The ten-dency to buy books increases steadily as the children grow older. This class numbers attempted to bribe an inspector, as was about twice as many girls as boys. The class who manifest a feeling of altruism also the greater generosity of women is strikingly der the decision of Judge Rogers packers may disregard the meat inspectors without manifest even at an early age.

Free Lending Libraries.

The regents of the New York State uni versity have issued a report, showing the resity have issued a report, showing the growth of free leading libraries under state supervision. Since 1892, when the last uni-versity law was enacted, these libraries have not only increased in number year by year, but in the last three years the percentage of circulation to volumes has shown a marked advance, rising from 250 per cent to 344 per cent. In the fact that only ap-proved hooks are added to these libraries is a guaranty of the good quality of the reading for which there is such a large de-mand. The report states that if there is added to the libraries incorporated by or admitted ta the university those free libra-ries which came under its supervision by registry on condition of maintaining proper standards, and also those belonging to teach ing institutions which offer their books to the public for free circulation, it is found that of 375 free lending libraries in the state 329 are now under site supervision that the public for free circulation, it is found that of 375 free lending libraries in the state 329 are now under site supervision that the public for free circulation, it is found that of 375 free lending libraries in the state 329 are now under site supervision the the public for free circulation, it is found that of 375 free lending libraries in the state growth of free lending libraries under state

MEAT INSPECTION LAW INVALID.

Federal Judge Decides the Point in a Criminal Case.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 28 .- The entire sys tem of government inspection of meat, which has been established in the packing houses of the United States, was declared to be unconstitutional, ineffective and vold in the opinion handed down in the United States district court today by Judge John P. Rogers, federal judge at Fort Smith, Ark., who is sitting for Judge Phil-lips. An indictment against Havry Boyer, foreman of the fresh must department of the Jacob Dotb Packing Company, charged fered drawn. with attempting to bribe a government meat inspector, was quashed on the ground that charged in the indictment, he did not com-mit an offense against the government. Unfear of a successful prosecution, because the law by which the inspection was created has been declared invalid.
