UNION PACIFIC BUILDS ITS DEPOT QUICK

Permit Granted Monday and Roof Goes on Saturday—Permanent Depot Plans Not Yet Fully Decided Upon.

Depot affairs continue to form the one absorbing topic of discussion... The new building of that system on or about April 15.

General Manager Dickinson of the Union Pacific sold to the Bee that the matter of a permanent depot, as well as what roads should occupy it with the Union Pacific, is still an open question and might not be decided for some little time.

Work on the Union Pacific's temporary depot is progressing at a remarkably rapid rate. It was just one week ago that the city council gave the Union Pacific railroad permission to erect a temporary depot.

The structure that is nearing completion is to be used as a baggage depot for the Union Pacific and other roads dependent upon it for terminal facilities.

At the trial, Mills was convicted and moved for a new trial, which was denied.

NEEDS OF FIRE DEPARTMENT

Equipment of the Omaha Brigade to Be Improved.

SOME NEW APPARATUS NECESSARY

Chief Redell Gives an Account of What is Actually Wanted to Make His Corps Efficient for Protection.

While the plan to purchase the new truck and hose wagon that have been secured by the exposition association, as soon as the equipment is over promised to satisfy a part of the demand for new apparatus for the fire department, there will not altogether meet the requirements of the existing truck which will meet the demand for a truck at Twenty-fourth and Leavenworth streets and thus furnish a long needed protection to that part of the city.

Chief Redell has frequently called attention to the fact that the truck at Twenty-fourth and Leavenworth streets is now required to answer alarms as far southwest as Hanscom Park and by the time it has made this long trip, it is too late to be of service.
