"The management of the Transmississippi Exposition has displayed more common sense n the arrangement of the ground at its disposal and more intelligence in the disposition of the available facilities than has been the case with any former exposition. The result is, that more has been accomplished for the money expended and a better possible with other expositions."

This is what Dr. David T. Day, one of the survey, said to Major T. S. Clarkson, acsistant to the president, in whose company he had just visited the several tracts constituting the exposition grounds. Dr. Day has been connected in an official capacity with every exposition of recent years in which the government has been interested. He had arrived in Omaha but a few hours before, and his visit to the grounds was his first errand. He was in Omaha about four months ago on business in connection with the government exhibits and his last visit was made with a picture in his mind's eye of the grounds as they appeared in the early

'I do not mean to disparage the management of any other exposition," continued Dr. Day, "but the people at the head of this exposition have simply profited by the ex-perience of their predecessors. The result is that they have produced the most magnificent result and have a setting which has never been excelled. I realized when I was here before that the possibilities were very great and I have been somewhat curious to learn just how things were being worked out, but I am delighted with the broad and liberal plan with which the whole matter has been treated and I predict that this will be one of the grandest and most complete expositions ever held in this country. The opportunities were magnificent and they have been taken advantage of to the fullest ex-

COVERNMENT WILL BE ON TIME "I have been looking at the Government building," continued Dr. Day, "and am glad to see the way it is progressing. The government has never been late at any exposition and will not be in this case. It is safe to say that every government exhibit will be in place and the doors ready to open the morning of May 31. Much of the material to be sent here is boxed now and ready for shipping and it will be sent forward just as soon as the space is ready for it.

"The exhibits to be made by the several departments will be much more extensive than the exhibit made at either Nashville or Atlanta. All of the material at Nashville was sent back to Washington, and the ma-terial to be sent to Omaha will be an entirely new exhibit. Of course, there may be some things cent here that were at Nashville, and the same cases will probably be used in a great many instances, but the exhibit will fresh and in the best of shape. There will not be as much material as was exhibited at Chicago, principally because there will not be as much space, but it developed that much of the material shown at Chicago was simply 'dead timber' and this will be eliminated, with the result that the character of the exhibit will be even better than that at the World's fair."

Dr. Day is in Omaha in response to a telegram from Manager Bruce of the Exwith him regarding the position of com-missioner of the mining exhibit. This is a sition which has never been filled and it has been tendered to Dr. Day. The doctor is an expert in mining, his work with the brings all matters in the department work connected with mining under his direction. He was in charge of the mineral exhibit at the Nashville and Atlanta expositions and has had wide experience in such matters. In event that he accepts the position offered him by Manager Bruce, he will act in an official capacity as a government officer and also as an officer of the exposition.

SOME OF HIS IDEAS. When in Omaha last fall Dr. Day offered a number of suggestions regarding the gennumber of suggestions regarding the gen-eral rules which should govern a mining ex-hibit, and if he becomes an officer of the ex-position he will probably carry out the plan then suggested. At that time he declared that the most effective way of making a mining exhibit that would be instructive, as well as pleasing, would be to show the various stages of mining operations, working out the details of each kind of mining, showing the different conditions in which each metal is found, the processes of treating the ores, and, in fact, making the exhibit a per-fect school of instruction which shall show everything there is to be known regarding this great industry.

The time which will intervene before the gates will open will be very short in which to carry out such a plan and make a complete exhibit, but in speaking of this mat-ter, Dr. Day said a great deal could be done in three months with energetic work.

ADVANCE GUARD OF THE MIDWAY

Coming of Camels and Donkeys An Six camels and eight diminutive donkeys followed by about 200 small boys, formed c motley procession which wended its way slowly along Sherman avenue Sunday afternoon toward the exposition grounds and imthat a circus was coming to town. It was simply the advence guard of one of the concessions which will occupy a prominent place on the Midway of the exposition, the con-cession which was first called Cosmopolis, but which will probably be called Streets of

The proprietor of this concession is Gaston Akoun, a Frenchman, who furnished some of the amusement at the World's fair, at Atlanta and at Nashville. He arrived in the city Sunday with his camels and donkeys and a company of about twenty people, who will take part in the entertainment to be furnished in this concession.

A further consignment of animals for this portion of the Midway will be a yak and two monster elephants. These animals will all have their uses in connection with the ceremonies which will form features in this attraction. The elephants, camels and onkeys will be used to carry people about

MINNESOTA COMMISSION AT WORK

Organizes and Proceeds to Raise Funds to Make Needed Showing. The M'unerota Expesition commission is ow organized and ready for business. The effect produced upon visitors than has been members met at the office of Governor Clough in Minnsapolis last week and discussed the situation thoroughly. The governor urged officers of the United States Geological the members to take prompt steps to have the state represented, notwithstanding the failure of the legislature to make an appropriation. It was suggested that subscribers might be reimbursed by the legislature, as was done in the case of the World's fair exhibit. The consensus of opinion was that at least $25,000 would be required for an exhibit and at least $5,000 for a building, if the commission decided to erect a state building. The latter point was left undecided, although plans were submitted by MacLeod & Lamoreaux of Minseapolis for a building to The commission was organized by the election of the following officers and committees.

Manager Kirkendall was also authorized to grant space to a number of citizens of Canton, O., who desire to erect on the grounds a fac simile of the McKinley cottage in Canton, which was the Mecca of so many citizens of the United States during the last residential campaign. The house will be filled with a large number of exhibits of campaign mementoes.

President Wattles was authorized to arrange plans for the celebration in connection with the opening of the exposition. NEBRASKA COMMISSION MEETING.

Next Session of the Body Will Be Very Interesting.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Nebraska Exposition commission will be held Tuesday night at the Millard hotel. One of the most important matters to come before the commission will be the election of an assistant secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Dearing, who has been appointed assistant physician at the Hospital for the Insane at Norfolk. Each superintendent in the employ of the board will also report to this meeting the exact amount of money which will be required to conduct his department until the close of the exposition and make a report showing just what has been done by his department and just what is proposed to be done. The committee appointed at the last meeting to make a division of the spoils was in-structed to make a report at this meeting and a report will probably be forthcoming. This committee will report on the number of employes necessary to be employed in order to carry out the arrangements for Nebraska's participation in the exposition and will recommend the positions to be assigned each nember of the commission for distribution among his constituents. The committee will also make a report on the uses to which the several rooms in the Nebraska building shall be assigned, thus disposing of the numerous applications which have been filed for space n the building by numerous societies and chorus was held at Hayden's music hall las night. The membership was still further increased by the addition of a number of well known singers and Choral Director Kelly announced that he would accept no soprano voices, as there were as many copranos enrolled as were necessary.

He said a few more members would be accepted in the other branches and the lists

The entire evening was spent in drilling the various parts on the beautiful Easter hymn from "Cavalleria Rusticana." There were about 150 voices in the chorus. Good progress was made on this rather difficult selection, and the result was encouraging to the conductor.

Cards were issued to all members of the chorus whose voices had been tested and they were instructed to pay their fee of $5 to Secretary Wakefield at Exposition head-

FAIR OF THE TURNER WOMEN.

Second Night of the Bazaar Evidence Turner hall this week is a hotbed of eauty and galety. The grim old gymnasium walls and apparatus are buried under a wealth of color and pretty decorations, All are displayed in booths in such a charming schools. manner as to act like a magnet on the masdisplay every imaginable article of use or ornamentation. Theirs, too, was the labor which transformed the hall into the bower of pleasure it is. The whole thing is a labor of love, since the proceeds are to be devoted to the improvement of the school and gymnaslum. The hall has been prettily decorated. Streamers of red, white and blue completely enwrap the balcony rails and float overhead The same combination of colors in various and striking designs form the walls of almost a dozen booths. Big potted plants are placed here and there to give a tropical air to the interior. To add still further to the effect of this conglomeration of color, big and little girls in handsome costumes flit about with flowers or wares or smile from behind the counters over which they are presiding. The following are in charge of the ooths: Cigars, Mrs. Rix; confectionery, Mrs. Phil Windhelm; fish pond for the children, Miss L. Stricker; notions, Miss Julius; fine arts, Miss Lucke; fancy work, Mrs. Conrad; dolls, Mrs. Beselin; flower stand, Mrs. Lucke; groceries, Mrs. Nagel; Chinese and Japanese tea booth, Mrs. Nagel.

Besides these booths there are a variety of other places at which amusement can be sought. There is a gypsy fortune teller's tent in which Mrs. Lindeman discloses the fut-ure. A postoffice is presided over by Miss Loneisen. There is a "steinburg" in charge of Miss Emma Andres, where damsels in oldcountry costume serve refreshments. An uction sale is going on all the while. And finally there is a musee.

The latter is a feature of the fair and is packed with curios from all over the world. Among the things on exhibition are the great and only "Padlefoot," the skin of the biggest rattlesnake ever killed, the serpent biggest rattlesnake ever killed, the serpent that deceived Eve and the apple which brought about the catastrophe, weapons of Jack the Ripper, Buffalo Bill, Vic McCarthy, the Younger boys and the Daltons, a Klondike layout, Indian outfits, a petrified bedbug, a German parrott and a hundred other curiosities. The den is presided over by Phil Windheim, Paul Mueller and Paul Wurl, who take turns in lecturing every hour. who take turns in lecturing every hour.

The fair has opened under excellent auspices. Last night was "wheelmen's" night and a considerable number of members of local wheel clubs dropped in during the evening. A program was rendered, numbers being given by the Leonard brothers, Frank Gosney and a mandolin club. Tonight is Omaha Turners' night and an athletic program will be given.

MEETING OF WOMAN'S CLUB Department of Monsehold Economics

CLUB WILL ASSIST THE EXPOSITION

Furnishes Pleasing Program.

Agreement Finally Reached by Which the Organisation and the Exposition Management Will Work Together.

The program furnished by the Department of Household Economics called out the Woman's club in such numbers yesterday that it was necessary to add to the seating capacity of the auditorium by the use of the parlors. Mrs. Mary M. Pugh, leader of the department, presided, and introduced Mrs. Cox, who read a paper on "Evolution of the Home." Mrs. Cox traced the progress of human habitations from the cave of primitive man, through the rude tent of the hunting ground, afterward multiplied into the primitive village, to the manyroomed dwelling of modern times, and finished her paper with a word of appreciation of the woman, who, without pictures and life, could make a comfortable spot for her family and breathe into it the spirit of

The second paper was presented by Mrs. Minnio Campbell, leader of the Department of Household Economics in the Woman's club of Malvern, Ia. It was concerned with club relationships and contained a strong plea for co-operation between the city and village clubs. Mrs. Campbell spoke of the difficulties in the way of study where pub-lic libraries are out of reach, and she asked that not only good papers but brilliant speakers be "passed along." A paper on "What We Owe Our Exposi-tion Guests" was read by Mrs. Owens. She anticipated the pleasures of next summer and gave some practical advice as to a proper state of mind, body and estate, under the responsibilities which will fall upon the housekeepers of Omaha during the hot sea-

Mrs. H. Jussen-Donnelly added a recitation to the program and responded to an encore in a humorous selection entitled "Cakes and Poetry." She was accompanied at the plane by Miss Frances Roeder, who also sang an effective little fullaby in connec-

The musical numbers embraced a wide variety. The High School Mandelin club appeared before the club for the first time as did also Mr. Bicknell, who performed upon the euphomium. Miss Helene Wyman sang a highly embellished waltz song by Faure most delightfully and Master Clarence Umsted was heard in Nevins' "Little Boy Blue" with special interest. The program closed on time, but it was by the sacrifice

The business of the afternoon was important, including, as it did, the reports of the committees from which the club had expected thorough investigation and careful recommendations. It was not disappointed. Mrs. Belden reported for the city improvement committee. She said that the pri-mary object of the committee was to help to make Omaha a clean, healthy, beautiful as follows: city. To that end the first work was to arouse a widespread interest and though they hoped to count on workers of all ages eventually, they felt that the matter should sorts and kinds of pretty and useful articles first be brought before the children in the As the work is in the direction of that which has previously been done by the principles of the schools they feel that they of a few days, he will devote all of his time until the month of July in carrying out such plans for the mining exhibits as may be decided on.

The executive committee dscided that the building which is to be constructed as an overflow for the Manufactures building shall be called the International building. It will be occupied by the foreign exhibitors.

The committee which was appointed two weeks ago to formulate a practical plan by which the club could co-operate with the expectition reported through its chairman Mrs. Damon. The question was one which had been debated considerably in the club having appeared in some form in no less than four consecutive meetings and the committee, which consisted of Mrs. Damon, Mrs. Dumont, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Balliet and Mrs Draper Smith, had endeavored not only to present the situation clearly, but to formulate a plan upon which women of various opinions might agree. The main point of difference related to the giving of hospitality to the congresses—the question had become one of the amount to be invested—and the committee proposed a gift of $500 with the addition of $140, the amount for which the club is obligated for rent for the summer months. Mrs. Andrews amended the repor by making the whole amount invested $500. Mrs. Creigh seconded the amendment. There were numerous questions asked which were promptly answered by the committee, after which the amendment was voted down and the report was adopted, the committee being continued to carry out the plan as pro-posed. Following is the committee's report:

which the amendment was voted down and the report was adopted, the committee being continued to carry out the plan as proposed. Following is the committee's report:
Your committee has made a thorough investigation with regard to all available halls and rooms, including those in the county court house, city hall, old postoffice, Masonic block, Unity church, Kountze Memorial church, First Methodist church and First Congregational church, and has consulted fully with the officers of the Exposition association and with the Educational bureau. It has also obtained from the club treasurer a report of the financial condition of the club. It found that the exposition management was in hearty sympathy with the proposition that the Woman's club extend its hospitality by opening its doors to the small congresses or conventions to be held in Omaha during the exposition and is willing to bear a liberal share of the expenses incident thereto. After much consultation and due deliberation your committee is of the opinion that in no other way can the Woman's club be of so much assistance or reflect so much credit upon itself as by co-operation in this way. The Exposition association. Commercial club and other organizations of the city, who invited the conventions to meet in Omaha, are under obligations by terms of the invitation extended to pay such of the expenses of the conventions as are necessary to bring them to Omaha and will provide for them, hence it will not be necessary for the club to expend any considerable sum beyond paying the rent of the building.

In view of the condition of the club finances, as shown by the treasurer's report, your committee taking into account the unusually large expenses which are liable to be necessary during the club to the report, your committee taking into account the unusually large expending the condition of the club finances, National Council of Women, believe it is not judicial except the pastor's study and the proposition is except the pastor's study and the proposition is willing t

TAKE a dollar. Take a two-dollar bill. Take five silver dollars, and then take the whole business over to The Nebraska and it will buy you a new spring suit that would cost you fifteen dollars anywhere else. That's no joke. Our line of new Spring Suits is ready for your careful criticism, and we tell you right now that you don't have to wait till the end of the season to find them marked down. They are marked down now. The suits which are marked five, six and seven dollars will probably not last longer than six or seven weeks and they will cost you more money if we have to duplicate them again this year. Why more? Because we contracted for these suits before the recent increase in price and we are not smart enough to get them made up for the same price again. The suits which are marked eight to eighteen dollars are wonderful values in the light of present wholesale prices and you will think they are more than wonderful in the light of retail prices around town. One thing we want to particularly impress on the public regarding these new suits is that the prices now will be the prices as long as these suits are in the house. We never mark our prices up. Neither do we mark 'em down. Don't wait till July or August in the hope of buying 'em during our great Mark Down Sale, because we won't have any, and besides that they'll be gone. Gone! Do you catch on?
